6 DIE AS POLICE FIGHT RIOTERS IN AMSTERDAM

Nazi Military Rules Dutch Province.

General Friedrich Christiansen.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands [via Berlin], Feb. 26 (AP).—Six civilians were killed and a number wounded today in clashes between the police and "disturbers of the peace," it was officially announced tonight.

A German announcement said the deaths occurred in police actions in which "the ringleaders of nightly attacks against the police patrol and a secret Jewish organization were uncovered."

Many Arrested.

"During the act of restoring order," it added, "six disturbers of the peace were killed and a number more or less severely injured.

"A great number of persons responsible for the disturbances or having participated therein were arrested."

A German military administration was earlier imposed upon all the province of North Holland as a result of strikes and riots.

Strikers were ordered back to work by tomorrow, and all parades, demonstrations, and assemblies on the streets were forbidden.

Ban Political Activities.

Activity by political parties, including the wearing of uniforms and insignia, was banned in the province.

The order, issued at The Hague by the German military commander, Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, applied to Amsterdam, chief city of the Netherlands, but left out Rotterdam and The Hague, outside North Holland province.

"I have taken over executive power for the province of North Holland in view of the present political situation," Gen. Christiansen said.

He ordered activity in all public and private enterprises to be resumed to "the fullest extent" by tomorrow, warned that provoking strikes or discontinuance of work "will be punishable by imprisonment of 15 years," and said that if violations occurred in connection with army enterprises, "to which all vital industries belong," capital punishment might follow.

City Labor First to Strike.

The strikes started among municipal workers and then spread to private concerns. The demonstrations were among a series that broke out after recent clashes in Amsterdam in which various factions, including Dutch Nazis, were involved. The German authorities blamed Jews for the disorders.

[Gentiles were withdrawn from the Waterloo square district of Amsterdam on Feb. 10, leaving the area, inhabited by about 50,000 Jews, practically a Ghetto. Authorities later said a uniformed Nazi had been killed when attacked by about 30 Jews. A fine of $50,000 was levied on the coal mining community of Heerlen, near the Belgian frontier, where there were anti-German demonstration.]

Dutch newspaper men expressed the opinion that the strikers would return to work.

SHIP SUNK WITH SURVIVOR OF 70 DAY SEA ODYSSEY

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The 8,456 ton British freighter Siamese Prince, on which Roy Widdicombe, central figure of one of the weirdest sea stories of the war, sailed for England, has been "lost by enemy action," its agents said today. Maritime circles have heard the ship was torpedoed in the Atlantic on Feb. 22.

Widdicombe was one of seven men who escaped in a small lifeboat from the British freighter Anglo-Saxon, sunk by the German raider Weser last Aug. 21 off the Azores. One man died of machine gun wounds. Four went mad from lack of food and water and committed suicide.

Widdicombe and Robert Tapscott, seamen, drifted on and on—3,000 miles in 70 days. Deeply sunburned, their tongues swollen, they finally were cast on Eleuthera Island, 40 miles south of Nassau, the Bahamas. Tapscott is in a Nassau hospital. Widdicombe came here and sailed with the Siamese Prince.

15 Others Are Aboard; Liner Hours Overdue

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27, Thursday [Special].—An Eastern Airlines sleeper plane carrying 13 passengers and a crew of three was missing somewhere in the vicinity of Atlanta this morning. The plane last was heard at 11:44 p. m. [Chicago time] 11 minutes before it was due to land.

Among passengers aboard the plane was Edward V. Rickenbacker, famed world war flying ace, who is president and general manager of the airline.

When the plane had become three hours overdue Eastern Airlines officials at the Atlanta airport, 15 miles southeast of the city, sent searching crews into the vicinity of Jonesboro, 10 miles south, where Chief of Police O. L. Roberts said a low flying plane had been sighted about 1 a. m.

Army Plane to Aid Search.

Even before airline employés started the search men on horseback left Jonesboro to search the wooded and sparsely settled countryside. A United States army plane was prepared to take up the search at dawn.

At the time the plane last reported a light rain was falling and visibility was low. However, the radio report from Capt. James E. Perry, the pilot, and Co-Pilot L. E. Thomas said the plane was flying on the beam.

The sleeper plane left New York with 10 passengers and stopped at Washington, D. C., where three more were taken aboard. One of these was Congressman William D. Byron, of Williamsport, Md., who also served in the air corps during the world war. He was a lieutenant and a flying instructor.

The plane was en route to Brownsville, Tex., where it was due at 8:10 a. m. The scheduled route was by way of Birmingham, Montgomery, Ala., New Orleans, Houston, and San Antonio, Tex.

Radio May Have Failed.

The plane, according to airline officials, carried enough fuel to remain in the air until 4:30 a. m. One theory advanced was that the radio had failed and because of low visibility Capt. Perry had decided to land elsewhere. All nearby fields were checked without avail.

Others aboard the plane were:

J. S. Rosenfelt, New Orleans.
R. B. Shaw, Atlanta.
C. M. Tappen, New York
P. L. Brady, Hollis, N. Y.
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Littledale, Short Hills, N. J.
R. Vanderhoop, Scarsdale, N. Y.
N. Hansell, New York.
George Fineburg, New York.
Juan Maria, San Salvador, Central America.
A. L. Leibowitz, Atlanta.
Clarence Moore, steward.

TRAIN MAKES A MERCY STOP TO SAVE A LIFE

The North Western railroad's crack "400" made a mercy stop of 22 minutes yesterday at Davis street in Evanston while firemen directed by Chief A. N. Hofstetter worked to revive Mrs. Dora Cohen, a passenger, who had suffered a severe heart attack shortly after the streamliner left Chicago.

Schmidt left the train at Racine and at Milwaukee oxygen tanks were placed aboard as a precaution. Mrs. Cohen and a son by a former marriage, Dr. N. F. Schwartz, who was with her, continued on to Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., her destination.

She is the wife of a baker, Harry Cohen, of 1816 Humboldt boulevard. She is 57 years old. Authorities said the swift coöperation of firemen and the train crew probably saved her life.

Confer on Aid Plans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—President Roosevelt today occupied himself with plans to lend and lease existing army and navy equipment and armament yet to be produced to Great Britain, Greece, China, and any other nations or groups that may enter the war against Germany, Italy, and Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt held conferences with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations. The President also conferred on British aircraft needs with Sir Hugh Dowding, former chief of staff of the royal air force.

Just what army and navy equipment is to be transferred to Britain has not been definitely determined. It is likely that a considerable number of mosquito boats, carrying torpedoes and depth charges, will be lent or leased. Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the sterns of these craft redesigned to make them more seaworthy.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Wheeler.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Antiwar senators finally jarred proponents of President Roosevelt's dictator bill out of their complacency today by blasting away at the President's press conference statement about winning the war before considering peace proposals.

Administration leaders felt called upon to answer charges that Mr. Roosevelt's statement committed the United States to actual participation in the war with an expeditionary force if necessary to defeat Hitler. It was the first real rough-and tumble senate debate since consideration of the war dictatorship bill began 10 days ago.

Proponents of the bill, confident of sufficient votes to pass it by a 2 to 1 majority, heretofore have sat back serenely, waiting for the opposition to talk itself out.

Barkley Seeks to Explain.

Today, however, Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky worked himself into a frenzy, with red face and flailing arms, as he denied Mr. Roosevelt wants to take the country into war and sought to explain warlike administration statements and policies.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] led the running attack on Mr. Roosevelt's press conference declaration yesterday that proposals for peace must await a British victory, that the first thing to do is to win the war. Senator Wheeler and others drew attention to the President's opposition, expressed at the same press conference, to any modification of the dictator bill that would hamper the government in extending all aid to Britain. They read newspaper accounts of the press conference stating that Mr. Roosevelt specifically opposed the Ellender amendment, which declares against the sending of armed forces outside the western hemisphere except to American possessions.

Recalls Preëlection Pledges.

"What do they mean by 'all aid to Britain?'" asked Senator Wheeler. "Well, 'all aid to Britain' means that in the event Britain needs it, you are going to send American boys there."

Recalling the preëlection pledges of both President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie and contrasting them with their present advocacy of the war dictatorship bill, Senator Wheeler exclaimed:

"I am sick and tired of seeing this attempt to flimflam the American people by false promises, by Republican or Democratic leaders, or candidates for the Presidency, or anything else.

"If that is not good American doctrine, if that is not the honest thing to do, if that is not true Americanism

Pining Pandas Must Wait Till Love's Insured

A sad scene of what the Brookfield zoo officials hope is frustrated love occurs daily at the giant panda arena in the zoo. Two pandas, separated by a bit of wire mesh, sit and gaze at each other. Sometimes they whinny.

If nothing other than the mesh separated the pair, Robert Bean, assistant director, would remove it immediately. But $15,000 in insurance policies, now menaced by an ocean and a war, keep love at bay.

Of the zoo's 2,000 animals, only three are insured. One, a walrus, is insured for $500. The other two are the pandas, insured for $7,500 each at an annual premium of $1,250 each. The policies are held by Lloyd's of London and cover all risks except breeding.

Puts Premium on Celibacy.

The policies expired Feb. 18, and the zoo in applying for renewal asked that they be made to cover all risks. This was granted, and a notice to that effect was issued by Lloyd's Chicago agents, but the policies proper come directly from London and have not arrived. Until their arrival the pandas must live celibate lives.

For a year and a half the pandas have lived in adjacent cages and during that time the sex of one has been in doubt. All authorities conceded that Mei-Mei [Chinese for little sister] was a female, but no one seemed to know anything about Mei-Lan [little flower] except that he/she was exceedingly smart-alecky. The zoo now believes Mei-Lan, his sweet name to the contrary, to be a male.

Mei-Mei Outweighs Swain.

Not only is Mei-Mei a year older than her inamorato but she is two heads taller. She is 4½ years old and weighs 313 pounds. Mei-Lan is about 3½ years old and weighs 210.

"There's no doubt about sex now," Mr. Bean said firmly, "and they seem very fond of each other. They talk all the time, in pony whinnies, and sit mutely side by side with only the mesh door between them.

"We hope the policies come by April, as that is the breeding season. I don't know why we ever started insuring them. They're not our most valuable animals, but once we started it we decided to keep it up."

Police Bullets Kill Youth on Way to Church

Pursuing three sprinting young men whom he suspected were purse snatchers, Policeman Edward Lowing of the Albany Park station fired his pistol four times last night at Central Park avenue and Roscoe street. One of the bullets struck and killed Alexander Kendzior, 20 years old, 3053 North Christiana avenue.

Kendzior's companions halted. They indignantly denied any connections with purse snatchings, which have kept the northwest side in turmoil for weeks. They explained that they were running so they would not be late for an Ash Wednesday service in St. Wenceslaus' church at 3400 Monticello avenue.

Other Youths Support Story.

Their story was corroborated by nearly a dozen youths who had been playing games with the trio in the fieldhouse of Avondale park, 3516 School street, just before the shooting. They said Kendzior was a former football and basketball star at Lane Tech High school, and that he had been working recently as a welder.

The police had Mrs. L. J. Kollath, 4931 Newport avenue, whose purse was snatched on Feb. 12, look at the body of Kendzior. She said he resembled the robber in features and clothing.

Shouts Warning to Stop.

Lowing said that he and Policeman Henry Sprengel drove south in Central Park avenue after receiving a radio report of two purse snatchings in School street. His story of the shooting was:

"We were just south of Roscoe street when the three men ran past, bound north. Up the street I heard a woman screaming. Sprengel stopped and got out. I shouted to the men to stop and that I was a policeman. They kept going and turned west into Rosoce. I fired three times in the air. Then, as I stepped off the curb, the fourth bullet was fired lower and hit Kendzior. I didn't intend to shoot at the fugitives."

Coroner A. L. Brodie sent two investigators, Francis Donohue and Ollie Karwoski, to question Hillard Kunkel, 3410 Melrose street, and Chester Pawelko, 3440 Belmont avenue, who were running with the youth who was killed.

14,000 Called Out in C. I. O. Steel Strike

BULLETIN.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 27, Thursday (AP).—Violence early today flared along the two mile picket line at the Bethlehem Steel company plant in suburban Lackawanna when the strikers sought to keep workers from entering gates leading to the plant property. At the strip mill gate, in a 30 minute period, five automobiles were battered with sticks and windows smashed. Ten cars were chased away.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26 [Special].—C. I. O. workers went on strike tonight at the Bethlehem Steel corporation's big Lackawanna plant here, a leading unit in the company's efforts to fill 1½ billion dollars' worth of armament orders.

The union ordered the walkout when its deadline of 9 p. m. was reached without a settlement of its demands. Last minute attempts to avert the strike failed at the conclusion of a three hour conference participated in by federal conciliators and representatives of the defense commission.

Approximately 14,000 workers of the Lackawanna plant were affected immediately, but the C. I. O. has threatened to tie up with sympathy walkouts the company's plants in Bethlehem, Johnstown, and Pottstown, Pa., where 60,000 more men are employed.

Demand 1,000 Be Rehired.

Altho the strikers demanded a 25 per cent wage increase and an election to determine a collective bargaining agent, the main issue was over the company's suspension of workers accused of a work stoppage that damaged coke ovens. The union demanded the reinstatement of about 1,000 men, claiming they were locked out.

The strikers quickly established picket lines at the seven gates of the plant, which covers a two mile area.

Thomas Burns, a federal representative, said he believed the strike could have been averted if both sides had been reasonable.

Refuses to Back Down.

However, John Riffe, a union leader, reiterated shortly before the strike went into effect that "nothing can avert it unless company officials meet our demands."

C. L. Baker, a company representative, had said after an evening conference that discharged employés could return to work if they would "cease unlawful practices that caused their suspension."

PROTESTS SNUBS TO MOTHERS WHO CALL AT CAPITOL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] complained in the house today that altho communists could visit the White House it was impossible for American mothers opposed to the British aid bill to express their views to their congressmen. He did not elaborate on his reference to the White House.

Taking the floor for a one-minute speech, Hoffman said that 100 women had just appeared at the capitol with American flags and red lettered signs reading: "Kill Bill 1776, Not Our Boys." He exhibited both to the house.

Hoffman charged that these women were "rustled off" and were told to "fold up" their flags.

5 BOOKIES TELL OF PAY-OFFS TO 'BOSS' SKIDMORE

Five bookmakers testified yesterday to a jury in the federal court of Judge Philip L. Sullivan that William R. Skidmore was the man who collected graft from them the first of every month in return for the assurance that their gambling enterprises would be protected from police interference.

The witnesses named precinct captains and ward committeemen as the intermediaries between them and Skidmore in arranging the "go ahead" signal to open a handbook in Chicago.

Demand Extra Cut.

They related, in addition, that officials of the county highway police declared themselves in for an extra piece of bribe money paid directly to them in connection with the operation of books elsewhere in the county.

The government presented this testimony, not to demonstrate that Skidmore was the front man and fixer for gambling, but to prove he had a steady income on which he did not pay taxes of $505,767 in the years 1933 thru 1938. Skidmore is on trial charged with evading these taxes.

In bringing out the asserted alliance between crime and politics testimony was given that:

1. One bookie paid graft of $25 a month to Lieut. Fred Mulhausen at his desk in the Willow Springs county highway police station.

2. Mulhausen's successor, Lieut. George LaGrue, received $25 a month from the same witness, but finally raised his price to $25 a week.

3. A precinct captain took another witness to Harry Kohl, then 36th ward Democratic committeeman, and Kohl sent him to Skidmore with a written "O. K." to permit him to open a handbook.

4. Skidmore, collecting from $50 to $250 a month per handbook for police protection, admitted he was merely a middleman. He was quoted as saying he required an additional $25 a month from one bookie because he "had to take care of another party."

5. Protected bookies were "raided" from time to time by the district police, but always received advance warning, so that underlings could take the "pinch."

6. Boss Skidmore was on such good terms with Capt. Herbert Burns, then chief of the county highway police, that he arranged for a bookie to keep an engagement with him in Chief Burns' office in the county building.

7. Before one witness went into the handbook business he used to place bets in Charlie Weber's (State Representative Charles H. Weber, D., 6th) "place" on Southport avenue.

The first five bookies to testify told of placing $5,675 in Skidmore's hands for protection. All these payments, they said, were made to Skidmore either in his office or in the scale shed of his junk yard at 2840 South Kedzie avenue. Skidmore, they testified, invari-

NAZIS NIP IN BUD ANY POSSIBLE SEEDS OF REVOLT

Writer Tells of Constant Watch on People.

[This is the fifth of a series of articles by Mr. Noderer, who has just returned from Germany, where he served on The Tribune's Berlin staff.]

BY E. R. NODERER.

The head waiter of a restaurant where I frequently ate in Germany looked around the dining room before speaking to me. Then he leaned over and said:

"Listen, if they ask you what we talk to each other about you tell them it's the menu. They're watching me."

Whether "they"—the Gestapo or secret police—were watching him or not, his attitude was typical of the way most Germans feel. They think somebody is watching them all the time—and they are right. With the possible exception of the Russians, the Germans are the most closely policed people in the world.

This strict control is part of the answer to the question an amazingly large number of Americans have asked me since I returned from Germany a few days ago:

"When are the Germans going to overthrow Hitler?"

Watch Foreigners, Too.

The Nazi machine watches not only its own people; it watches foreigners as well. Many times I have snatched open the door of The Chicago Tribune office in Berlin, only to have a listener nearly fall in the room on his face.

This, of course, is nothing to the way the Germans are watched, particularly those who were known to be Social Democrats, or were anything other than National Socialists [Nazis] before the Nazis came to power. In every apartment house, a minor party leader keeps an eye on the occupants. When he makes the periodic door to door winter relief collections he quizzes every householder about his next door neighbor.

Germans who are known to be lukewarm to the régime are likely to have their houses searched periodically.

In every workshop, in every office, there is a political spy who listens as his comrades talk during lunch hour or at their machines.

Opposition Is Inarticulate.

These precautions are taken not so much because trouble exists at present. They are taken to nip any possible anti-Nazi movement in the bud. The result of all this is that what opposition there is to Hitler in Germany is inarticulate—no one wants to be the first to raise his voice.

The other part of the answer as to when Hitler is going to be overthrown is that, for the present at least, most Germans do not want him overthrown.

War has solidified the nation, just as war always does. Many who do not like the Nazis feel that they must pull their weight—that a German defeat would be worse than to continue under the iron rule of Hitlerism. Still others, observing that the German armies have roamed unchecked over Europe, are beginning to believe they were wrong after all, and that maybe they had better climb on the bandwagon.

And, of course, millions of below-middle age Germans are fanatical supporters of Hitler. They regard him as a mysterious being destined to lead Germany to greater glories.

That is the situation now. If the German armies meet defeat, if the rigid control of the secret police falters, the picture might change fast.

MOSCOW SIGNS A TRADE PACT WITH RUMANIA

MOSCOW, Feb 26 (AP).—Russia and Rumania today signed a two year commerce and navigation treaty—the first definite sign of reconciliation between the two nations since Rumania ceded Bessarabia and northern Bukovina to the U. S. S. R. last June. Under the treaty, Rumania is expected to ship to Russia high test gasoline, mineral oils, and industrial products, and to receive cotton, manganese, and other raw materials.

Germany and Italy Sign Pact.

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—Italy and Germany today signed an agreement suspending the system of commercial exchange for the duration of the war so far as military supplies are concerned. The agreement provided that during hostilities "all commerce of a military character between the two countries shall be conducted without consideration for trade balances or the condition of compensated accounts."

HEAR U. S. ENVOY FACES A CHARGE OVER SOFIA FIGHT

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—D. N. B., German official news agency, reported today in a Sofia dispatch that assault charges had been made in the Bulgarian capital against the United States minister, George H. Earle, as a result of a bottle throwing incident in a Sofia café on Saturday night.

[Earle said a German objected when the café orchestra played "Tipperary" at Earle's request. The minister was hit on the forearm with a bottle, and he said he "smashed the other man in the face."]

D. N. B. said Earle was accused of "inflicting light bodily wounds."

BULGAR CABINET MEETS; CHIEF OF ARMY IN PARLEY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 26 (AP).—The chief of staff of the Bulgarian army, Gen. Nicola Petkov, conferred late today with Premier Bogdan Philov and Foreign Minister Ivan Popov, and tonight the cabinet met in emergency session.

As the cabinet members assembled, the government issued still another in its series of denials that German troops poised at the Rumanian frontier had entered Bulgaria. Watchers along the Danube reported: "All quiet."

German Minister Richtofen was understood to have talked during the late afternoon with Popov.

British citizens who had no imperative reason to remain were advised by their government to leave Bulgaria tonight.

Bulgarian troops set up more anti-aircraft batteries on the heights overlooking the capital, to reënforce those already mounted on a few buildings in the city.

Eden Talks with Turks.

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 26 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of Britain's imperial general staff, met diplomats and Turkish leaders here today in conferences which are expected to determine the course of British-Turkish action in the Balkan crisis. The Britons were welcomed tumultuously upon their arrival.

American Ambassador J. V. A. MacMurray and the Greek minister to Ankara were among Eden's first callers. Gen. Dill immediately began talks with Turkish military leaders.

Eden, who came here from Cairo, will confer later with high Turkish officials and possibly with Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, who was reported to be flying to Turkey.

NAZIS MAKE NEW CLAIMS OF HEAVY DAMAGE TO SHIPS

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP). — Germans emphasized the heightened tempo of their sea warfare today with accounts of new blows against British shipping. The following achievments were claimed:

Sinking of a British destroyer by a Nazi torpedo speedboat off southeast England and destruction of an 8,000 ton armored merchant ship and a British patrol boat by submarines.

Three British cargo ships totaling 21,000 tons bombed and set afire by German flyers northwest of Ireland early today.

A 10,000 ton Britain bound steamer sunk and a 6,000 tonner severely damaged by a long range bomber and a 2,000 ton ship sunk at the entrance to Bristol channel by a scouting plane.

Newly unleashed submarines commanded by virtual novices alone sank 192,300 tons of convoyed shipping from Sunday noon until Monday night, according to information reaching Berlin.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—British rights in the international zone of Tangier, Morocco, will be safeguarded thru a provisional agreement reached with Spain, Richard A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today. The agreement, which was arrived at pending a final settlement, recognizes special Spanish interests in Tangier and contains a promise the zone will not be fortified.

MYSTERY BLAST SINKS VESSEL IN JUGO-SLAV PORT

SPLIT, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 26 (AP).—The freighter Xenia of 1,400 tons was sunk by a mysterious explosion last night just after she arrived at the small Jugo-Slav port of Stobbrece.

One version of the blast said the ship was scheduled to take its cargo of bauxite, the raw material for aluminum, to Pola, an Italian port near Trieste, and then sail to Albania, and that the crew was unwilling to make the Albanian voyage. This version said the crew planted a time bomb in the hold.

Bomb Italian Positions.

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 26 (AP).—British and Greek planes heavily bombed Italian positions behind the lines in the Tepeleni area of Albania yesterday, the British said today. "Direct hits were registered on military buildings, motor transports, and troops concentrations," the communique said.

WARNS AXIS WILL STRIKE BACK IF U. S. INTERVENES

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—The signatories of the axis tripartite pact—Germany, Italy, and Japan—are ready to strike back at any American armed intervention in their "living spaces," the Boersenzeitung, paper of the German armed forces, warned tonight.

Writing under the heading, "Japan, Master in the Western Pacific," Julius Krauss in the paper's leading editorial said: "For Italy, Japan, and Germany this war is a question of life and death which American politicians think they can negate by shipments of money and munitions."

"The highly praised American democracy now is supposed to become a personal Roosevelt rulership, so perhaps tomorrow the beaten English partner can be supported by American armed forces," the editorial said. "The armed forces of the three powers are prepared for this arbitrary attack and will throw it back."

U. S. to Cancel Passports in Blow at Thieves' Fraud

CHILD REFUGEES TO RECEIVE MORE BRITISH CLOTHES

Concessions on Exports Ordered by England.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Britain's treasury today announced concessions to facilitate the export of clothing to child refugees in the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland.

Its order followed a demand from retailers that restrictions be relaxed because the children have been good "trade ambassadors" in exhibiting British styles. Goods normally may be sent to the three countries only if paid for with Canadian or United States dollars, but this requirement will now be waived.

Yearly Limit of $40.

Parents and guardians will be permitted to send a child up to $40 worth of goods a year, including books and toys.

Tightening and extension of Britain's rationing system has been suggested in a new plan submitted by the Labor party's national committee, the food ministry announced.

More Communal Feeding.

The program includes rationing cheese and eggs, preferential rations of cheese, tea, and meat for heavy workers without canteens; more elasticity in distribution of all food, control of eggs, control of vegetable prices, more communal meal centers, compulsory provision of school meals and milk by educational authorities, and an inquiry into tricks used by families and individuals to obtain extra supplies.

The food ministry announced it had obtained only 2,021 convictions in 12,671 food law prosecutions since the start of the war.

GERMANS SHOW PLANES ON WAY TO AFRICAN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The weekly German newsreel shown this afternoon to members of the foreign press pictured German battleplane formations on their way to North Africa and their arrival at an air base somewhere near Tripoli, in Libya. The German crews were shown enjoying sightseeing in Tripoli before taking off for a second time.

A German war reporter writing in the Berlin Zeitung said that the German planes in Africa were cared for by German ground personnel and that fuel and bombs were taken on "in the very midst of the desert."

COL. M'CORMICK RECALLS EPIC OF AMERICAN VALOR

Continues Story of Early Texas History.

That epic of American valor, the siege of the Alamo, was recalled last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, in a speech on the Chicagoland Concert hour over W-G-N. It was the second in a series of talks by Col. McCormick on the history of Texas.

He told of the Texans' difficulties in organizing a colonial government, of the battles by unorganized bands of heroes, Houston's victory over Santa Anna, and the nine more years of troubles before Texas found safety in the American Union in 1845.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's speech:

"If the 13 colonies had no central government at the outbreak of the revolutionary war, they did have 13 experienced colonial governments, hundreds of experienced politicians, and officers accustomed to command troops. Texas had no colonial government and no army. Until a state government could be formed, action could only be taken by communities, a slow and ineffective procedure made more difficult by efforts of the Mexican authorities to capture American constitutional leaders.

"Into this chaos Austin returned from prison. He gathered around him a committee of leading men and advised the municipalities of Texas to send delegates to a consultation—a new word in government, apparently meaning less than a convention.

Calls for Volunteers.

"But before the delegates could be chosen Gen. Cos landed at Campano and marched on San Antonio. The committee thereupon called for volunteers and sent to all the local jurisdictions to raise men.

"Delegates to the consultation met at San Felipe in November, elected a provisional governor and state council, and declared Texas to be a constitutional state in the federal republic of Mexico.

"It would be futile to describe in detail the actions of the unorganized bands of heroes who, badly misdirected by the temporary government, fought for Texas against the armed convicts composing the Mexican army.

"At first the Texans were successful in several skirmishes. They captured San Antonio and drove the Mexicans from the state. The Mexicans returned in greater force and literally annihilated the Texas volunteers.

"All Texas soldiers who were captured were massacred by decree of the Mexican government.

Epic of American Valor.

"At this time occurred a great epic of American valor. One hundred and eighty-two Texans held the Alamo for 13 days against 2,400 Mexicans, refused to surrender when the walls were breached, and died fighting to the last man. Here the names of Travis, Crockett, and Bowie became immortal. Here originated the famous saying: 'Thermopylæ had its messenger of defeat. The Alamo had none.'

"In March of 1836 a constitutional convention issued a declaration of independence, adopted a constitution, and appointed an experienced soldier, Sam Houston, to command the army.

"He assumed command of his totally untrained force at Gonzales and, rather than risk a battle, retreated steadily, defying the anger of the settlers, who had to flee from their homes before the Mexican invaders.

"After he had been drilling the army for a month, he learned that he was near Santa Anna, who had indiscreetly divided his army into several widely separated detachments. Houston immediately marched against him, while Santa Anna, who also had learned of Houston's general whereabouts, called Gen. Cos to join him, and prepared to destroy the last Texan army.

Mexicans Surprised in Camp.

"Come face to face at San Jacinto, there was a tiny artillery duel—two guns against one. The next day Houston at first decided not to attack, at the request of his officers, and then to attack, at the wish of his men. He surprised the Mexicans in camp without pickets or outposts and killed or captured most of them, among the latter, Santa Anna, with a Texan loss of only 2 killed and 23 wounded.

"The United States had been trying to buy Texas for nine years—four under the northeastern Whig, Adams, and five under the southwestern Democrat, Jackson. Now Texas, having freed herself at all cost of blood and treasure, offered annexation. President Jackson refused it!

"No doubt he was angry that the Texans had accomplished what he had been unable to do, but he also had the 13 year old political reason. He was running Martin Van Buren for President on the Democratic ticket and did not want to irritate the northerners by creating another southern state, or infuriate the abolitionists by extending the boundary of slavery. The most he would do for his brothers in blood was to sign a resolution of congress, recognizing the independence of Texas, and this he did grudgingly.

Efforts Toward Annexation.

"Santa Anna was now freed by the Texans on the condition that he go to Washington and, in behalf of Mexico, negotiate a treaty for the annexation of Texas to the United States. He kept his word, perhaps to make sure than no other general would succeed where he had failed. Jackson refused to accept Texas alone, but offered to take Texas plus northern California. Ambition to obtain a great annexation would seem to explain this inconsistency.

"Jackson served out his term. Van Buren came and went, with no move to annex Texas. It was not even an issue in the election of 1840.

"For nine more years Texas had to carry on; constantly harassed by Indians, threatened and invaded by Mexico, and had to indulge in diplomatic flirtations with France and England before she could find safety in the American Union in 1845.

"Since then the history of Texas has been that of a state in the Union, but the stamp of individual nationhood has not been erased. To this day Texas and Texans are distinguished by their independent frontier-like characters."

MUSICAL PROGRAM

The works of five composers were presented in the musical portion of the concert hour. Marion Claire sang "Der Nussbaum" by Robert Schumann and "The Angel's Serenade" by Gaetano Braga, accompanied by the W-G-N symphony orchestra and chorus. The orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, played Friedrich Smetana's overture to "The Bartered Bride," Moritz Moskowski's "Seville," and the Aragonaise from "Carmen" by Bizet. The program was produced by William A. Bacher.

REP. DIRKSEN WARNS OF TROUBLEMAKERS IN MERCHANT MARINE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Representative Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.] told the house merchant marine committee today he had "no doubt that the personnel of the American merchant marine is 99 per cent loyal, but it is that 1 per cent troublemakers with whom we must deal."

Dirksen was first to testify on his bill to outlaw union hiring halls and substitute government operated halls, and give ship masters unrestricted authority on hiring or rejecting seamen.

His bill also would write into law authority for masters to prohibit seamen from distributing any subsersive printed propaganda at sea, tighten up citizenship requirements for officers and crews of United States vessels, and impose loyalty tests on ship radio licensees.

German Naval Commander of Occupied France Killed

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—DNB, the official German news agency, said today the German naval commander of occupied France, Vice Admiral Lothar von Arnauld de la Periere, 54 years old, was killed in an accident on Monday. It described him as the most successful U-boat commander of the world war in which his vessels were credited with sinking a total of 200 ships aggregating 500,000 tons.

[It was believed in London De la Periere was killed during a British air raid on Brest, big German submarine base.]

BRITISH OCCUPY ITALIAN ISLAND OFF TURK COAST

Gain Seaplane Base in Dodecanese Group.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The British tonight announced the seizure last Tuesday of the small Italian island of Castelrosso, 10 miles off the southwest coast of the Turkish mainland and easternmost of Italy's Dodecanese group in the Mediterranean.

Altho the operation was played down officially, naval quarters did not deny that Castelrosso, with its seaplane base, could be used as a British jumping-off place for attacks on other strategic Dodecanese islands guarding the entrance to the Aegean sea.

Somaliland Knocked Out—Britain.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 26 (AP).—The British announced today the capture of Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, and unofficially claimed effective control of all its 270,000 square miles, picturing it as the first entire colony to be knocked out of the fascist empire.

Mogadiscio, a city of 55,000, fell to British imperial troops who had thrust forward 400 miles from British Kenya. Other columns were declared to have struck on 60 miles up the Juba river to entrap the main Italian forces between the captured towns of Gelib and Brava and cut their last road of retreat.

British sources said the country north of Mogadiscio was of such little importance that the possession of the capital itself meant possession of Somaliland and the sealing of the Indian ocean side of Premier Mussolini's empire.

In Eritrea, said the British middle eastern command, British imperial troops striking at Keren, which dominates the approaches of the colonial capital of Asmara, have made "satisfactory progress."

Nazis Fight British in Libya.

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—Germany's armored troops and flyers are taking over efforts to blunt the British spearhead driven deep into Italian Libya, the Fascist high command indicated today in a report of the first battle between Nazi and British mechanized detachments in that North African colony.

"Enemy trucks and tanks were destroyed," the Italian war bulletin said, "and prisoners were taken without German losses" in this initial contact.

The battleground was described as an area southeast of Agedabia, 100 miles south of Bengazi and near the spot of the farthest British advance from Egypt toward Tripoli.

Germans Bomb Tobruk.

The Italian command also told of German bombing planes attacking a naval base in Libya. Two 8,000 ton ships were set blazing, the communique said.

[The Germans identified the base as Tobruk and said they had damaged a 10,000 ton munitions ship and another merchant vessel of equal size.]

Nazis Attack Malta.

VALETTA, Malta, Feb. 26 (AP).—Plunging into a blazing barrage, German bombers today made a midday raid on this fortified British island in the Mediterranean. British fighters were declared to have downed certainly two, and probably six, of the Nazis. British antiaircraft guns shot down five additional German planes.

ALLOW LORD HALIFAX $52,000 ANNUALLY AS BRITISH ENVOY TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26—Great Britain's ambassadors in Washington, D. C.; Moscow, and Madrid, serve the government "without pay." This was disclosed today in a list of peers and members of parliament who are in the armed forces or performing civilian war work.

Lord Halifax in America, Sir Stafford Cripps in Russia, and Sir Samuel Hoare in Spain are entitled to 2,500 pounds [about $10,000] a year as their ambassadorial salary. They do not draw their pay but all receive "expenses of representation." Halifax thus is allowed 13,000 pounds [about $52,000] yearly and use of the official residence. Cripps and Hoare draw smaller sums.

One hundred and sixty-six members of the house of lords and 116 from commons were listed as serving in the armed forces.

GERMANS LOOSE HEAVY AIR RAID ON WELSH TOWN

LONDON, Feb. 27, Thursday (AP).—German bombers concentrated on a south Wales coastal town in a long, destructive attack last night, and then turned on London early today to inflict new damage and casualties. The raiders scattered incendiary bombs and flares, by the light of which they hurled explosives. A number of other districts of Britain were raided.

The British aerial offensive, too, gathered fury yesterday. Squadrons of planes swept back and forth across the English channel hour after hour, and bombs were declared to have exploded on the docks at Calais, and across the face of German occupied northern France.

Report Airdrome Set Aflame.

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—An airdrome at Lympne, England, was set aflame tonight by German bombs, along with a large store of gasoline, the official news agency, DNB, reported.

Navy to Name Air Field for Heroic Flyer, Ellyson

SENATORS LASH ROOSEVELT 'WIN WAR FIRST' CRY

Charge Him with Duping American People.

—to give them the facts—if that is being un-American, then make the most of it!"

Galleries Applaud Loudly.

The loudest applause that has been heard since the senate debate began broke out in the galleries at this point.

Thruout the day's debate, Willkie, the 1940 Republican Presidential nominee, was accused jointly with President Roosevelt of perpetrating a fraud upon the American people.

Senator Wheeler branded Willkie the "trojan horse of the Republican party." Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] said Willkie had solemnly confessed, before the senate foreign relations committee, that his preëlection pledges were "campaign bunk." And Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] said Willkie's campaign was a "betrayal of the people of the United States."

Reads Roosevelt Words.

Senator Wheeler interrupted the delivery of a prepared speech by Senator Nye to read what he called Mr. Roosevelt's "shocking" press conference statement.

"Who are we in the United States and who is the President that he should tell the British that the war must go on?" Wheeler exclaimed. "He is saying to the British, 'You must keep on fighting until you win.'

"Then it is said that we are not going into the war. How can the British win a victory unless we come in? Is it any wonder then that Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, says that we are already in the war?

Charges War Incitement.

"Yet men stand on the floor of the senate and say that the bill before us is a peace measure, when the President himself is inciting the British and inciting others to carry on the war.

"I submit that we are not in the war unless the President has already committed us to be in the war, and if we are in it, I submit it is in violation of the constitution, which provides that only congress can declare war."

Senator Clark interjected that "if any one says we can be in the war without sending troops, he is merely playing on words, and playing for time, until the events develop which make us send troops."

Offers to Plug Loophole.

During the debate Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], President Roosevelt's principal senate spokesman, offered to close a vast loophole in the bill.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] pointed out that while a house amendment limits to 1 billion 300 million dollars, the value of army and navy equipment obtained with funds heretofore appropriated, which the President could give to foreign nations, there was nothing in the bill to prevent him from giving away everything obtained under future appropriations. Byrnes thereupon offered to accept an amendment forbidding the President to use any of the future appropriations for aid to Britain without consent of congress.

Chandler Joins in Defense.

When Senator Wheeler resumed his attack on the President's press conference remarks Senator A. B. [Happy] Chandler [D., Ky.], said it was no service to the country to tell the people that President Roosevelt is deliberately trying to take them into war.

"I do not think the senator is going to serve his country by attempting to make the people lose faith in the President," Chandler added, "because we may get into war, altho I hope we do not. I think if the senator from Montana had spent as much time trying to build up confidence in my government and his government as he has spent trying to tear it down, we would be much further away from war than we are."

"I am not saying the President wants to get us into the war, but I am saying what he himself said," Senator Wheeler replied. "I am not using my language, but his.

Asks What Is Meaning.

"When the President says and expresses the belief that proposals for peace must await a British victory, what does he mean? What must the British people think about it? When the President says that, how can he refuse to come to their rescue if they happen to be going down? He says, 'The first thing is to win the war.'

"I am trying to be honest with the American people and not fool them, not make campaign speeches, as Mr. Willkie said. This is a democracy. We talk about it and pray about it; but the way to preserve democracy in the United States of America is to tell the people the truth and give them the facts and, if you intend to go to war, stand up and vote for it.

"If this is our war, we ought to go to war. If it is necessary to lick Mr. Hitler in order to defend this country, if our first line of defense is in Great Britain, in the English channel, or in France, then I am going to be honest and say that I am willing to vote for war. We ought to be honest about it.

Not Our War, He Insists.

"However, I submit that this is not our war. As much as I hate Hitler and what he stands for and everything he stands for, and as much as I disagree with everything Mussolini stands for, and as much as I disagree with everything that is being done by the Japanese, I am not willing to shed American blood upon European soil, and I am just as unwilling to shed American blood upon Japanese or Chinese soil or upon India's soil in order to preserve the domination of the British empire, in order to let the British enslave the people in their possessions in Bombay and other places.

"I am not creating lack of confidence in the President of the United States, but I say to you that when in campaign pledges he says, 'I am going to keep American boys out of war' and then in other statements that he issues—every statement he issues—and every step he takes—leads down the path to war, I say then the American people are losing faith."

Barkley Gives His Reply.

Senator Barkley, replying to Wheeler, said the President made his press conference remark in response to a question which he had a right to refuse to answer but chose to answer.

"It was not a statement he made voluntarily on his own initiative," Barkley said. "In reply to a question he said it was not time to make peace proposals. And I am in thoro accord with that statement myself, and I believe the American people are in accord with it.

"A remark made by Mr. Jesse Jones before the house committee on appropriations has been used here as evidence of the fact that not only is this bill going to take us into war, but that we are already in war. I suppose Mr. Jones made that statement. The newspapers said he made it. I was not there. I do not know. It was probably a metaphorical statement, like many which are made.

"The truth of the business is that, regardless of our desire or regardless of the desires of mankind, the entire world is in the war. We are affected by it. Our daily thought and our nightly dreams are colored by the war. We all must take into account that the world is at war, and we can not escape its consequences."

RAGEN RESIGNS DUAL PRISON WARDENSHIP, EFFECTIVE MONDAY

Joseph E. Ragen.

Joseph E. Ragen, warden of the state penitentiaries at Joliet and Stateville, tendered his resignation yesterday to Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, at Springfield. Ragen said he would leave the prisons Monday, but did not disclose his future plans.

Ragen was appointed warden of Menard penitentiary in 1933 by Gov. Henry Horner and a year later was named state superintendent of prisons. In October, 1935, he became acting warden of Joliet and Stateville prisons in addition to his duties as superintendent. Last November he was succeeded as superintendent by L. Fred O'Brien, an appointee of Gov. John Stelle, but remained as warden.

Ragen was born in Clinton county and was sheriff and county treasurer there before his state appointments.

Fire Extinguishers Filled with Gasoline by Saboteurs

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 26 (AP).—J. Gordon Ross of Quebec city, provincial officer of the Civilian Protective committee, today disclosed that attempts at sabotage had been discovered in Montreal factories. He said in one plant 79 fire extinguishers had been filled with gasoline. The ruse was discovered when the manager found one of the extinguishers turned the wrong way on the wall.

In Washington and thruout the world Chicago Tribune correspondents are alert to keep readers informed of every significant happening. Experienced in sifting fact from propaganda, they cover the news first hand and report it steadfastly from the American viewpoint.

THE BORDEN COW

The Borden folks take lots of pains
To keep me sleek and glossy;
Oh, I'm not spoiled, but must admit
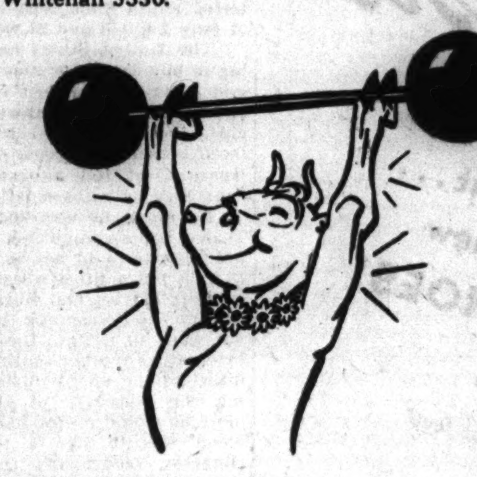
I'm just a l-i-t-t-l-e bossy!

PARDON ME while I pin a rose on myself. It's from one of the bouquets that people are throwing at my Borden's Chocolate Ice Cream. It's the richest, gloatingest chocolate ice cream you ever were sorry to finish. Why, lots of folks dreamily wonder why it's never been set to music! Even the Borden Ice Cream dealers sort of hate to part with it—but try 'em, anyway. They'll charge you—fortunately—only by the quart, not by the enjoyment!

WHE-E-EI! OVER A THOUSAND GIFTS like these to choose from! And they're yours—FREE—if you just save the labels on Borden's Evaporated Milk (Silver Cow Brand).

There's profit for you inside and outside that Borden can, girls! The creamy, rich condensed milk is irradiated with Vitamin D—and the labels bring you lovely, useful gifts. Remember, Silver Cow Brand is Chicago's only evaporated milk whose labels are worth real money to you—so start collecting 'em today! For a free premium catalogue, write Borden's, 315 No. Clark St., or phone Whitehall 5330.



FOLKS HAVE STARTED calling me "Super-Cow" after tasting the new homogenized milk that Borden-Wieland is—and should be!—bragging about. It's super-milk, goodness knows, but I must admit it's because Science has "put in its two million dollars' worth"!

Homogenization (heavens, those scientific words!) gets the cream all broken up and spread evenly through every blessed drop of the milk. That not only makes it taste twice as good—but lots easier to digest. AND—it's irradiated with Vitamin D! That's the "sunshine vitamin" that gives you nearly everything actual sunshine does—except a coat of tan.

I don't know how they can sell this prize product for only a cent more than ordinary milk—but YOU should worry! Just tell your Borden man when to start leaving it—or phone BITtersweet 8600.

MOTHER GOOSE ON THE LOOSE

Little Tom Tucker sang for his supper—
What meals his voice would buy!
But he'd sing a duet, a quartet, or sextet
For a None Such Mince Meat pie!

It's chock-full of apples, so tender and nice,
Seasoned and blended with sugar and spice,
With raisins and currants and citron galore—
Try it just once and you'll come back for more!

SMARTY, SMARTY, going to have a party? Then make it an e-vent, with seven star-spangled features! They're the seven famous Borden Cocktail Spreads, and reading from right to left—if there is any left—they're Vera-Sharp, Pimento, Relish, Roquefort, Pineapple, Limburger, and Olive-Pimento.

But after the party—aha! Instead of having a lot of dishes to do, you have a lot of new glasses to use! For these very yum-yum cheese-foods come packed in perfectly heavenly Swedish-style, re-usable glasses. When the grand-tasting sandwiches and delectable canapes are just pleasant memories, you'll have some smart glassware you'll be proud to set out, no fooling!

MILK-BOTTLE MAIL
A Borden routeman had a tough one handed him in this milk-bottle note:
"Please leave tomorrow's milk today."

PSSST . . . GOT A HUSBAND? Be a darling and whip him up a batch of easy-to-make, tender, crumbly cookies, that'll melt like snowflakes on his tongue. And for real, honest-to-Borden goodness, be sure to make them with Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

SIX WAY COOKIES
1⅓ cups (15-oz. can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
½ cup of peanut butter
and any ONE of these six ingredients: 2 cups raisins; or 2 cups cornflakes; or 3 cups of shredded coconut; or 2 cups bran flakes; or 1 cup chopped nut meats; or 2 cups of chopped dates.

Mix Eagle Brand milk, peanut butter, and any ONE of the six ingredients above. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) for 15 minutes or until brown. Remove from pan at once. Makes about 30 cookies. There are scads of other fascinating treats in the "Magic Recipe" folder that comes with every can of Eagle Brand, in either the 15-oz. size, or the half-size, half-price can that's so convenient.

That's all for right now! But I'll be seeing you shortly—with loads of pleasant news!

Yours,
Elsie

DEBATE BUILDING NAVY ROOSEVELT CAN GIVE AWAY

House Hears Admission Britain May Get It.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Debating a 1½ billion dollar war spending bill, the house heard today that approximately 683 million dollars' worth of navy planes, mine sweepers, submarine chasers and other craft provided for in the bill could be sent to Great Britain if President Roosevelt so chooses.

Rep. John M. Vorys.

Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] was explaining the measure on the floor when Representative John M. Vorys [R., O.] inquired if the President would not be empowered under the dictator bill pending in the senate to send most of the military items in the measure to England if the dictator bill was approved by congress.

Admits Ships Can Be Given.

Woodrum noted that the bill provided $680,118,000 for the army and $682,972,057 for the navy plus contract authorizations of $154,055,000. Most of the navy items, he conceded, could be given to the British by the President under the authority of bill 1776. The bulk of the army fund was earmarked for construction of army cantonments, he remarked, and probably would be of no use to Britain.

This admission was given significance by the release of the testimony of Admiral Harold R. Stark before a secret session of the appropriations committee in which he declared that the transfer of more destroyers to Britain on the scale suggested by Wendell L. Willkie [5 or 10 a month] would not be advisable "at the moment." He hastily added that the government's hands should not be tied in the matter.

Transfer Opposed.

Admiral Stark, chief of naval operations, has previously, in line with the stand taken by the secretary of the navy and high ranking navy officers, opposed the transfer of any American warships to a foreign nation. He was apparently acting under White House instructions when he told the committee:

"It is impossible to foresee what we may want to do tomorrow or next day under present world conditions. Certain emergency conditions might arise under which we might want to make certain transfers of material."

The naval operations chief was asked if the President has set any definite time when the navy should be "ready for business."

"No," was the answer, "but we have been working on the basis of getting ready at the earliest possible moment."

Passage Is Expected.

The fact that it might be voting hundreds of millions of dollars for navy equipment which may be sent to England did not give the house majority pause. It is expected to pass the bill, carrying a total of $1,533,439,702, tomorrow.

The navy's share of the bill included funds to start construction of 400 submarine chasers and other small craft and to make possible the delivery by the end of 1943 of 55 more destroyers than had been planned originally. Funds for 40 motor mine sweepers and four oilers were also provided and the installation of equipment on some 1,600 merchant vessels to protect them from magnetic mines.

A total of $96,382,300 in cash was recommended for naval aviation to apply on the cost of 7,129 planes ordered last year and to permit the purchase of 189 of the most expensive types of planes, acquisition of which was postponed because last year's appropriation was inadequate.

Less Invasion Danger Now.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, was revealed as having told the committee that an invasion of the United States was "less imminent" than a year ago when the nation would have been "in a somewhat helpless plight" if the American and British navies had been wiped out and control of the Atlantic passed to an enemy.

Gen. Marshall said the high command had been surprised by the public support given to the multibillion dollar armament program.

"Frankly," he told the committee, "we had not anticipated that the American people would ever be sufficiently aroused to authorize in time of peace such a tremendous program for the national defense nor had we anticipated the complete collapse of the French government in early June, along with the deadly hazard to the British of a transfer of French naval power to Germany and Italy."

Estate Brings Brothers Together

Family Separated

Frank Bartley, 55 years old, 6318 Justine street, yesterday received half of the $21,000 estate left by his sister, Mrs. Florence Kagel, after being reunited with his brother, Thomas Dunlavey, 50, of 2904 South Wells street, after 47 years' separation. During 20 of the 47 years they lived within a few blocks of each other.

The story of how the two brothers were reunited was told to Judge Cornelius J. Harrington Tuesday by Dunlavey's attorney, Benjamin H. Black. Frank, born a Dunlavey, was separated from the family when 8 years old and later assumed the name of Bartley. After Mrs. Kagel died, Thomas was adjudged sole heir and the estate was closed.

Frank, however, heard of the case and filed suit to be declared an heir. When the brothers met Tuesday in Attorney Black's office, Thomas was convinced that Frank's claim was correct. Together they went to court and asked Judge Harrington to declare Frank an heir. The request was granted, and the order to share the estate was carried out yesterday.

2 MORE GROUPS BACK PLAN TO FEED 5 NATIONS

Resolutions of two more local organizations favoring the work of the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies were announced yesterday by Chauncey McCormick, chairman of the midwest division of the committee.

The organizations are the Ridge civic council, representing 25 groups in the Beverly Hills district, and the Evangelical Community church of Blue Island.

The committee proposes to send supplies to persons facing starvation in Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and Poland—countries invaded by Germany. The committee wishes to do this thru agreement with England and Germany, the food to be distributed by a neutral organization.

WPA Worker to Be Given $2,000 Bracelet He Found

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Under the police department rule of "finders keepers" following a six months' period, a diamond bracelet valued at about $2,000 will be turned over next Wednesday to William Duncan, 16 years old, a Negro WPA worker of Brooklyn. Duncan found the jewelry July 23, 1940, lying in the street near the entrance to a lower broadway subway station. Col. Maurice Simmons, police department property clerk, said no legitimate claims were presented during the six months period since Duncan gave the bracelet to police.

MOTHERS' GROUP ASKS FILIBUSTER TO KILL WAR BILL

Mrs. Mary Leach, secretary of the Mothers' Crusade to Defeat Bill 1776 [the war dictatorhsip bill], said yesterday the organization is mailing 4,000 postcards to opponents of the bill urging them to demand a filibuster against it in the senate.

This action was taken following receipt of a telegram from Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, head of the organization, who is now in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Dilling wired:

"I beg as our only chance that you immediately wire Senators Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], Robert A. Taft [R., O.], and Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] to filibuster. Opponents of the bill are begging us to increase and continue our protests."

POWER TO BEGIN SEAWAY SEEN IN DICTATOR SETUP

Bill Provides Authority, Clark Charges.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Opponents of the billion dollar St. Lawrence seaway and water power project were exercised today over reports that the Roosevelt administration plans to start the undertaking under the vast powers to be conferred upon the President by the pending war dictatorship bill.

Bennett C. Clark.

As the dictator he will be under the terms of the bill, Mr. Roosevelt, according to Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], would possess the power to proceed with the St. Lawrence plan without seeking the authority of congress.

All he would need would be an item in a war department appropriation bill and not even that if the President should obtain blank check appropriations as he has done before and wants again.

Negotiations Still Pending.

Administration officials professed ignorance of any plan to put across the St. Lawrence project, but negotiations with Canada will not be concluded until after the bill becomes law.

The dictatorship bill, drafted by Braintruster Ben Cohen, is designed to legalize the transfer of existing army and navy equipment to other nations and to make the President independent of congress in the prosecution of the war.

Joker in Phraseology.

The cunning phraseology devised by Cohen would make it possible for the President to do almost anything he pleases in the name of national defense.

The possibility of proceeding on the St. Lawrence project without express approval of congress arises from Cohen's subtle provision authorizing the President to "procure any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the President may deem vital to the defense of the United States." The bill includes in the definition of "defense article" any "facility" and "any other commodity or article for defense." By calling power a facility the President could build the dams and then give the power to Canada.

AGREES TO LIST PAYMENTS FROM TRACTION FUND

Robert B. Upham, city controler, agreed yesterday to prepare a breakdown of millions of dollars spent in salaries and fees from the city traction fund during 1938, 1939 and 1940.

The city council had requested the figures Feb. 5. On Tuesday Upham submitted only a list of special voucher payments from the fund to 42 individuals and firms during the last three years. This brought an indignant response from Ald. John S. Boyle [16th] and Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], who demanded that Upham be summoned before the council to explain his failure to supply the figures he council ordered.

Upham told the council yesterday it would take a month to prepare the report. Boyle replied that in view of the fact that Upham had had three weeks since the council demanded the figures, they should be ready in another week. Upham was noncommittal.

ANTI-WAR VOTE BY LUCAS TO BE URGED IN DRIVE

America First committee speakers will urge voters in downstate cities this week-end to demand that Senator Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, join his Republican colleague, Wayland Brooks, in the senate battle against President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill.

Altho indicating that he will vote for the bill, Senator Lucas has stated that he favors an amendment prohibiting the transport of American soldiers to foreign battle fields.

The America First speakers are Wilbur Helm, educator and investment counselor; Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago physiologist; John Weaver, insurance executive, and Walter F. Boyne, attorney and author. They will speak at Galesburg, Moline, Rock Island, Havana, Quincy, East St. Louis, West Frankort, Peoria, Springfield, Champaign, Danville, and Decatur.

Meanwhile petitions sent out by the veterans' division of the Chicago chapter of the committee urging defeat of the dictator bill are being returned to city headquarters and mailed to Senator Lucas. More than 2,000 petitions, each with the names of 30 persons, have been received, officials said.

DAWES ASSAILS POLICY MAKERS, SAYS: AVOID WAR

Scolds Administration in Surprise Speech.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes last night gave his advice on how to meet the economic problems of the country. He suggested that the Roosevelt administration apply itself intensively to the problem of keeping the nation out of war in Europe.

Dawes' advice was given in an informal talk made at a dinner meeting in the Palmer House. He spoke immediately after M. S. Szymczak, a member of the federal reserve board, had delivered an address in which he listed the 15 "most important" economic problems with which the country is faced under the present armament spending program.

Dawes' Talk Unscheduled.

Dawes was not scheduled to address the meeting, but when he was introduced at the conclusion of Szymczak's address he rose and faced the reserve board member.

"I feel strongly," he said, pointing at Szymczak, "that it would be better if you people in Washington would give more attention to the one most important problem of all—that of keeping this country out of war.

"I am amazed at the indifference with which many people in Washington seem to regard this problem. If they will meet this problem many of the others will take care of themselves."

Gist of Szymczak Address.

Szymczak had devoted most of his address to economic problems growing out of the rearmament program. He referred to government spending, the method of financing the deficits, and the labor situation as questions which should receive the close attention of the bankers to whom he was talking.

George J. Schaller, retiring president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, was the guest of honor at the dinner. Guests included 140 prominent Chicago bankers and officials of reserve banks in other parts of the country.

WHITEY PAINTS TOWN RED; GETS A BLACK BALL

Whitey, a 60 pound pig, has had his day even if he does become a string of sausages.

Monday night he wriggled out of the garage behind the home of George McCoy at 1725 Madison street, Maywood. He raced up and down the main street, leered at women, squealed defiance at men.

This kept up all Tuesday morning. Finally Police Chief Richard H. Bailey and John Madsen, 3 North 5th avenue, Maywood, a veteran stockman, went on his trail. Yesterday, at 5th avenue and Pine street, Madsen got near enough to wrap an overcoat around Whitey and trap him.

McCoy doesn't care if he never sees the pig again. And Whitey's real triumph is that he was not greased. He was to have been given that veneer and turned loose at the St. Eulalia church bazaar Monday night. Whitey hasn't been seen since Madsen took him away.

How to Keep From Getting Tired

by DALE CARNEGIE

If you want to keep from getting tired, there is one golden rule: rest as frequently as possible.

Rest does not necessarily require "time out" from work. Often, during the pursuit of our day's work, the opportunity may come for relaxing tension without relaxing attention.

Arthur Brisbane, the guiding genius for so many years of the Hearst newspapers, once declared that "25 per cent of the work of the world could be done lying down."

Now few of us can carry a folding bed around and take a nap every time we feel tired. But how many times do we deliberately pass up the chance to relax under ordinary conditions?

For example, watch a group of salesmen waiting for appointments in a reception room. You will see many of them wearing themselves out with muscular tension. Faces tense, bodies rigid, hands moving aimlessly. If these men would learn to relax while waiting, they would help prevent fatigue, conserve energy and be able to present their case with more clarity and enthusiasm.

Conserve your energy by using every possible opportunity to relax. Relax while waiting for the waitress to bring your ham and eggs. Relax while waiting for a train or an elevator. Relax* while waiting for a traffic light to change.

Make this a practice for the next few weeks, and see if your work doesn't become easier, happier and more productive.

Dale Carnegie

*To many people, the fragrant, curling smoke of a cigarette is a pleasant inducement to relax and rest. If that has been your experience, add to the enjoyment of these moments with a new Old Gold.

Because, remember—something new has been added to round out this famous blend. It's a rare imported tobacco from the eastern Mediterranean—a tobacco whose small, aromatic leaves add a new measure of goodness to the flavor.

So the next time you relax enjoy an Old Gold—a cigarette that's more pleasant than ever now that something new has been added. Your dealer has new Old Golds now—in the same familiar golden pack

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

Thought it was time someone built a truly big car—big in ability, in room, in beauty—that was still compact enough, bumper to bumper, to fit your garage without dispossessing the garden tools.

They are typical Buicks on every count—trigger-quick, steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

They dress every mile you travel in trim Buick style—cradle every yard of distance on soft all-coil springing. They top off every trip with an even greater measure of gasoline economy, thread traffic with a new nimbleness, and when it comes to parking find the proverbial dime roomy as a dance floor.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the overall length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

Buick Prices begin at $915 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, white sidewall tires, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

NEW DEAL MOVE FOR CENSORSHIP SEEN IN HOUSE

Bill Would Double Budget of Reports Office.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Fears that the Roosevelt administration is preparing to clamp down with censorship on the nation's press and set up government controled propaganda machinery were expressed in congress today.

Representative George H. Bender.

At a meeting of the house committee on executive expenditures, Representative George H. Bender [R., O.] charged that a bill to authorize a $1,500,000 appropriation for the office of government reports would lead to the suppression of news and the establishment of censorship in this country.

"Otherwise," he asked, "why is this branch of the government choosing this time to ask for more than twice what it has received in the past?"

Called Propaganda Bureau.

Representative Charles L. Gifford [R., Mass.] described the function of the office of reports, which heretofore has had no legal status, as one of propaganda.

"I dread this bill as setting up the machinery for distributing propaganda by the government," he asserted.

After lengthy discussion the committee by a vote of 12 to 5 adopted a motion to report the bill to the house. Republican members, led by Bender, served notice that they will fight the measure on the floor. They indicated they will prepare a minority report setting forth the dangers in its adoption.

Denies Drive on Press.

The censorship and propaganda accusations brought from Lowell Mellett, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt and head of the office of government reports, denials of any administration plans to crack down on the press or radio.

The office of government reports frequently has been mentioned in rumors that the administration intends to have a regular wartime censorship bureau. It is left over from the old national emergency council which was created in 1933 by executive order. It divides its time between clipping newspapers for the information of government officials and distributing matter which boosts New Deal agencies and activities.

Woman Plunges to Death After Party in N. Y. Hotel

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—A woman identified as Carol June Martin, 24 years old of St. Louis, Mo., plunged to death today from a 22d floor room of the Hotel Warwick. The woman was clad only in a slip. Police said she was not registered at the hotel, but had attended a party last night on the ninth floor. She complained of feeling ill, and another guest suggested that she go to his room on the 22d floor and rest. He went to his room some time later with a bellboy to inquire how she felt, and while they were waiting outside to permit her to dress she vanished thru the open window. Her effects found in the room included a coat with a Chicago department store label, and a pocketbook containing one cent.

Fire Destroys Vandalia Theater, Hall; $80,000 Loss

Vandalia, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Vandalia experienced its worst fire in ten years last night when the Liberty theater and the Odd Fellows lodge rooms were destroyed at an estimated loss of $80,000. Origin of the fire has not been determined, but Herman Tanner, manager of the theater, said it could have started in the theater's furnace room. Lodge officials estimated their loss at $45,000. Tanner said all his equipment, including a $20,000 air conditioning system, was a total loss.

Divorces Soldier

MRS. LOUISE MARTIN.

Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday granted Mrs. Louise Martin, 22 years old, of 455 Belden avenue, a divorce from her husband, Troxwell, a private in the 68th coast artillery [antiaircraft] at Camp Edwards, Falmouth, Mass. Mrs. Martin charged desertion.

At a hearing last October Judge Sabath refused to grant the uncontested divorce, stating that he would enter no order against any person in military service until assured that the order was entered with that person's knowledge and consent. He appointed Attorney Charles C. Cooley to represent Martin and inform him of the divorce action.

Cooley reported to the court yesterday that Martin had consented to the divorce. He said army authorities had expressed gratification at the court's attitude in protecting soldiers in civil cases. The Martins were married March 6, 1937, and they separated June 8 of that year.

Lynch, a native of Blairstown, Ia., won the distinguished service medal for his world war services. Lynch will be succeeded as chief of infantry by Maj. Gen. Courtney Hodges.

ADVOCATES U. S. FIGHT IF NEEDED TO SAVE BRITAIN

Pro-War Chief Urges All Help to Beat Hitler.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—If material aid is not enough to save Great Britain, this nation should become an active belligerent in the war against Nazi Germany, Clark Eichelberger, national director of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, declared today.

Clark Eichelberger.

At the same time he issued a statement in behalf of the committee rebuking the "small minority of die hard isolationists" who, he charged, are delaying action in congress on President Roosevelt's dictator bill. Opponents of the measure, he said, have no hope of defeating it but merely hope to kill it with nullifying amendments.

Counts on Hitler Hesitancy.

In his explanation of how far he thinks aid to Britain ought to go, Eichelberger asserted with gestures that anything necessary to prevent German victory should be done by this country. He amazed reporters by envisaging a war in which the United States navy could participate "without firing a shot."

This would be possible, Eichelberger explained, because of Hitler's aversion to an open break with this country. He said he believes the German navy would not even dare attack American convoy vessels should any be sent across the Atlantic with the supplies for the British isles.

Says It's Only Way.

He said his committee still believes that the giving of all possible material help to Britain will "do the job" without the United States becoming actively involved.

He contended this is the only way for this country to avoid going to war. But if the material help should prove not enough, then, he said, he would recommend all other help necessary to save Britain.

U. S. PURCHASES ANOTHER LINER FOR A TRANSPORT

Recall Several Similar Acquisitions.

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Announcement here today that the war department had purchased another passenger liner for conversion as a troop transport ship stirred new interest in the reasons for numerous recent army ship purchases and conjecture as to use to which they are to be put.

The army's latest transport acquisition is the old Cuban mail liner Orizaba, a 6,900 ton vessel built in 1918, fitted to carry 230 passengers but capable of carrying at least 500 soldiers after reconditioning. Idle since last summer when she was withdrawn from the New York-Cuba-Mexico passenger and cargo service, the Orizaba was delivered to the government today at the army base in Brooklyn.

Several Others Acquired.

The war department recently has acquired several other passenger and cargo ships for use as transport and supply vessels. These include the liner President Roosevelt, bought from the United States Lines; the liner President Grant, purchased from the American Mail Line; the old America, purchased from the maritime commission, and the freighters Liberty, Edenton, West Segovia, West Corum, and Waukegan.

Some time ago the army also bought from the maritime commission the former Munson liners American Legion, Pan America, and Western World, and converted them into transports. The Western World was renamed Leonard Wood, and the Pan America was renamed Hunter Liggett, in honor of two late United States army generals.

World War Service.

The navy department has acquired a big fleet of passenger liners and cargo ships from private interests for use as transport and supply vessels.

The Orizaba, figuring in today's delivery, was employed with her sister ship the Siboney as a transport during the world war. It was reported tonight that the war department was negotiating with the Cuba mail line for acquisition of the Siboney, which now is under charter to the American Export Lines.

The Siboney, formerly operated in the service to Havana and Vera Cruz, is one of the four vessels being used in the Lisbon-New York run, sole remaining American flag service to Europe. The Siboney is scheduled to dock in Jersey City tomorrow morning.

Frightened Burglar Flees with Doctor's Pants and $40

KILLER IN ILLINOIS PRISON BREAK IS SEIZED IN MEXICO

James E. Burke, state's attorney of Will county, received word yesterday from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that Mexican authorities are holding Bernardo Roa, under sentence to be hanged for the murder in 1926 of Peter Klein, assistant warden at the Stateville prison. Klein was slain when Roa and six other convicts escaped. Roa was caught later and sentenced to hang, only to escape in 1927 from the Will county jail. Burke said he had advised Gov. Green to inform Hull that the convicted killer still is wanted. If he is returned Roa will be hanged, according to his sentence of death, altho state law now specifies electrocution.

ENGINEER STICKS TO '33 ADVICE ON SUPERHIGHWAYS

Chicago's Needs Growing, McClintock Says.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dr. Miller McClintock.

New York, Feb. 26.—Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Yale university bureau for street traffic research, this afternoon reviewed his 1933 recommendations to the Chicago city council for construction of an elevated highway system in the Illinois metropolis. His 1933 survey and his comments on it again are news because the currently promoted 40 million dollar Congress street parkway violates several basic principles as developed by his study.

"My recommendations today are as they were eight years ago," said Dr. McClintock. "I have visited Chicago many times since I was employed by the council as a research consultant. The development in conditions in the last few years has merely emphasized the need for modern, safe, and expeditious roadways free of cross-traffic, pedestrians, parking, and other conflicts that cause delays and accidents.

Points to West Side.

"The west side still is the section of the city most needful of such an improvement. The superhighway should approach the center of the downtown district. I suggested an approach in Randolph street. The continued shift of the business district northward would have justified a more northerly location."

The eastern terminal of the Congress street plan as a superhighway is at Canal street, a mile and a quarter from the center of Chicago's central business district.

"I note with interest," he continued, "the government's engineering report that the use of the postoffice arcade for Congress street traffic would seriously delay the city's mail service by blocking mail trucks.

Rural Highway Connections.

"In addition to an adequate downtown terminal, the west side superhighway should be planned for connections with rural highways. Such connections can be made more readily at a more northerly location than Congress street."

Hugh Young, chief engineer of the Chicago Plan commission, in a 1927 survey of west side superhighway locations, reported that a continuation of Congress street westward would be blocked by cemeteries near the Des Plaines river. The cemeteries are still there.

"Costs have an important bearing on the type of design to be selected," said Dr. McClintock. "The lower the cost per mile, the more miles that can be built with available funds, and Chicago needs many miles."

Elevated Estimates Less.

The Congress street estimates run approximately 3 million dollars a mile. This is for eight traffic lanes. For an elevated roadway of four lanes, McClintock's cost estimates were about $431,000. Doubled for a comparable pavement width, the elevated design would be little more than a third of the cost for depressed pavements as proposed for Congress street.

"My reasoning has not changed since 1933," the engineer concluded. "The facts supporting this reasoning have become even stronger. Traffic limited to conventional street designs is continuing to take a high toll in lives and limbs in Chicago. The city is continuing to suffer economically from slow, inefficient motor transportation. These arguments have been so cumulative that the metropolitan area should no longer delay construction on a sound superhighway plan."

HELD IN FATAL BEATING.

Samuel Mantucca, 29 years old, and his wife, Mary, 32, of 1927 Congress street, were being held last night in connection with the fatal beating of Anthony Cefali, 37, of the same address, during a quarrel.

A variety of musical presentations and a radio adaptation of the play, "The Valiant," will feature the broadcast In Chicago Tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual Boadcasting system from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Miss Audrey Christie, star of the new comedy, "My Sister Eileen," at the Harris theater, and Bret Morrison of the W-G-N players will play the leading rôles.

Music will be provided by June Robbins, songstress with Eddy Duchin's orchestra at the Palmer House; the Lind Brothers, and five swing experts, together with the W-G-N Dance orchestra under the direction of Harold Stokes. William A. Bacher will produce the show.

The Linds—Murray, Dale, and Phil—specialize in "symphonic" singing. Swing music will be provided by Teddy Wilson, pianist; LeRoy [Stuff] Smith, jazz violinist; Lionel Hampton, vibraphonist, drummer and band leader, and by two of Hampton's bandsmen, Carl George, trumpeter, and Vernon Allen, bass player. Wilson plays in the Pump room; Smith at the Capitol lounge and Hampton and his band at the New Grand terrace.

AUTO DEALER'S WIFE DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

Mrs. Marjorie Ferris, 31 years old, wife of Henry Ferris, an auto dealer in Harvard, McHenry county, died yesterday in Rensselaer, Ind., of injuries received Sunday when a car driven by her husband collided with a truck. The Ferrises and their two children were en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., her former home. Ferris and the children, Thomas, 5, and Millicent, 18 months, escaped with slight injuries.

Miss Minnie Johnson, 45 years old, 143 West 43d street, colored, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Tuesday when she was hit by two autos as she crossed Wentworth avenue at 43d street. The first car was driven by Rufus Kidd, 5208 South State street. She was then thrown in front of a car driven by Samuel Gross of 750 Independence boulevard.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 132 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these, 106 died in Chicago, where 3,302 were injured during the same period.

REVISION SOUGHT IN CONGRESS ST. WIDENING PLANS

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] asked the city council yesterday to have plans for widening Congress street, a 16 million dollar project, revised to reduce the width from 209 feet, as now proposed, to 120 feet.

"The proposal is to widen the street from State street to Ashland avenue," he said, "It is beginning nowhere and ending nowhere and instead of aiding traffic will only benefit owners of dead property, contractors and speculators."

Lindell's demand was referred to the traffic committee.

Lindell and Ald. William Cowhey [41st] were the only two aldermen to vote against a proposal to convert Van Buren street into an arterial highway and use $160,000 in state gas tax money to construct a temporary swing bridge at Van Buren street while the proposed Congress street bridge is being constructed.

FRIEND AND FOE JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO GOV. HORNER

Assembly Halts Business for Eulogy.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26.—The Illinois general assembly halted all its business this afternoon to pay tribute to the late Henry Horner.

Both chambers terminated their proceedings, their committee meetings, and other activities at noon to meet in joint session later in the hall of the house of representatives and listen to memorial services for the Democratic governor who died in office last October.

State officials and former officials of both parties took part in the formal program. Among them were Gov. Dwight H. Green and Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, Republicans; former Gov. John Stelle, the Democrat who, as lieutenant governor, succeeded Gov. Horner, against whom he had waged a bitter political war; Senator Richard J. Barr, Republican, dean of the senate, and Thomas F. Donovan, Democrat, and lieutenant governor during Gov. Horner's first term.

Some State Business.

Before operations were shut down both houses held morning sessions during which was created a special joint committee to study and investigate the administration of relief, a proposal indorsed by Gov. Green. The house members named by Speaker Schnackenberg are: Homer Caton [R., Stanford], S. O. Dale [R., Fairfield], Robert M. Woodward [R., Chicago], Harold D. Kelsey [R., Barrington], George A. Fitzgerald [D., Chicago], H. S. Burgess [D., Fairfield], and J. L. Wellinghoff [D., Belleville].

The senate list appointed by Lieut. Gov. Cross was headed by Senator T. Mac Downing [R., Macomb], sponsor of the resolution for the investigation, who was made chairman. The other senate members are: James Leonardo [R., Chicago], R. G. Crisinberry [R., Murphysboro], Nicholas Hubbard D., Mount Pulaski], and Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago].

The committee plans to hold six meetings, three in Chicago and three in different downstate sections, on dates which probably will be fixed at a second meeting next Tuesday. Chairman Downing announced, and his associates approved, a policy against muckraking and mud slinging. The general purpose will be to improve relief administration by conferences with administrative officials.

Council of Preparedness.

Senator Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, majority floor leader, introduced in the senate Gov. Green's bill for the creation of a state council "to assist in the coördination of the state and local activities related to national and state defense." It will consist of nine members with the governor as ex officio chairman and will replace the informally established commission appointed early in the winter by Gov. John Stelle. The bill was referred to the committee on military affairs.

Gov. Green today named Ferre C. Watkins of Chicago, a close friend and adviser, as attorney for the liquidation bureau of the insurance department. The post pays an annual salary of $12,000, the same as the governor's, twice that of any department head, and $3,000 more than that of Attorney General George F. Barrett. The announcement said that Attorney Watkins will not be required to devote his full time to his new duties.

Coffee for Fireman

Two extra alarm fires kept more than one-third of the city's firemen busy yesterday and last night and caused property damage estimated at $175,000. The first fire was in a five story building occupied by the Geiser Office Furniture company at 166 West Lake street, the second in the old Gambrinus brewery at Albany avenue and Fillmore street.

The brewery, reputedly owned by Terry Druggan, dry era hoodlum, but now said by him to be owned by his mother, has not been in operation for two years. Fire from unknown causes started on the fourth floor. Firemen brought it under control after three hours. Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan estimated the loss at $25,000.

The downtown fire, in the early morning, delayed 250,000 persons on their way to work in the loop. Elevated traffic was tied up. The flames partly damaged a building at 164 West Lake street and for a time menaced the Builders' building, 228 North La Salle street. Ten fire companies worked eight hours on the fire, described by Commissioner Corrigan as the worst downtown area conflagration in nearly 20 years. He estimated the loss at $150,000.

456 Arrested in 24 Hours in 1941 Auto License Drive

Summonses were issued to 456 motorists driving without 1941 licenses during the 24 hours ended at 8 a. m. yesterday, Capt. David Flynn, chief of the traffic division, announced. Since the license drive began Feb. 13 summonses have been issued to 5,191 motorists.

KILL WISCONSIN BILL TO PERMIT DAYLIGHT SAVING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—A bill to permit the use of daylight saving time in Wisconsin was killed by the state senate today, 16 to 13, after adoption of an amendment which would have limited the proposal to Milwaukee county. Both the bill and the amendment were introduced by Senator Milton T. Murray [R., Milwaukee].

Murray later indicated he may present a joint resolution calling for a state-wide referendum on daylight saving. The defeated measure would not have made the time change mandatory, merely revising a law forbidding the use of any other except central standard time in Wisconsin.

Murray's proposal was vigorously opposed in a hearing before the senate committee on state and local government several weeks ago by farm and labor organizations, but was indorsed by the state medical society.

ALDERMAN ASKS DAYLIGHT TIME THRU OCTOBER

Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] told the city council yesterday that he believes daylight saving time should be extended to include October. Daylight saving time is now in effect from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

"October is the most beautiful month of the year," said Duffy, who is a florist and claims to know about such things. "What is more, home owners would have a chance to put their gardens and buildings in proper shape for winter if they had an extra hour of daylight in the evening."

Duffy's resolution asking the extension was referred to the judiciary committee.

DRAB CAMP GRANT IS STREAMLINED FOR DRAFT ARMY

$8,000,000 Military City Rapidly Growing.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Camp Grant, Ill., Feb. 26.—On the site of the shabby, unpainted Camp Grant of world war days, the government today is completing an 8 million dollar military city of 365 buildings which is destined to become one of the army's most important training centers within the next few weeks.

The modern Camp Grant is divided into three units. The first is a draftee reception center which is the largest in the nation, with a capacity of 22,000 men a month or 264,000 a year. The second unit is a giant medical replacement center, one of two in the country, which will train 28,000 men annually for service with the medical corps. The third unit is a 500 bed army hospital.

First Recruits Move In.

Work on the draftee reception center and the hospital is virtually finished, and the first draftees were moved into barracks last week. The medical center, scheduled to be opened March 15, is 75 per cent completed.

If the draftee arrives late at night, as many do, his introduction to army life begins the next morning. He is assigned to a company, given an intelligence test and immunized against typhoid and smallpox. Then, after an interview in which he states the branch of service which he prefers, he is classified for training, in infantry, artillery or any other branch of the army.

Clothed in Half Hour.

Now comes the trip to the supply depot. First the draftee's measurements are taken by trained workers, then he is outfitted with the clothing he will wear. The supply teams are quick; the new soldier enters one end of the building wearing civilian clothes and emerges from the other in uniform within 30 minutes.

During his short stay in the reception center the draftee is taught the rudiments of military courtesy and drill. Five days after arrival the new soldier is ready to leave Camp Grant for a training center. He knows how to salute, he can execute an exacting aboutface without tripping over his own feet, and he has lost the initial awkwardness which khaki clothing seems to convey to its wearer.

Will Handle 400 a Day.

"When the reception center is operating at capacity we should be able to process a draftee and teach him rudimentary military discipline within five days," said Col. J. J. Otjen, commander of the center. "Then we'll send him out to training centers, fit and ready to begin service."

Col. Otjen said that the center will process 400 men a day when it begins operating at top capacity, probably late in the summer. At present about 500 draftees, most of them from Illinois, are in the camp.

In the medical replacement center men will be given 13 weeks of training preparing them for service with medical field units in all branches of the service. The first seven weeks of the course will be basic military training and hardening, such as is received by all new troops.

Six Weeks' Medics Course.

During the last six weeks the men will study such subjects as sanitation, first aid, anatomy, care of gas victims, and litter work. Upon graduation they will be sent to medical units in army hospitals and to combat groups.

Two hundred sixty-three draftees left Camp Grant this morning on a special train for Fort Benning, Ga. It was the first group to be sent from this reception center. On Friday 226 men will leave for El Camp, Cal., and on Saturday two trains will leave with 835 draftees for Fort Lewis, Washington.

Bandit Gang of 4 Commits 6 Holdups on South Side

Four bandits held up six citizens in separate holdups on the south side last night, robbing them of cash, clothing, and jewelry. The fifth annual institute of human relations of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews, to be addressed by Father Flanagan, of Boys' Town, Omaha, Neb., will be held on March 27 instead of Feb. 27, as announced in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The publicity release stated Feb. 27.

A picture printed in Wednesday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE was mistakenly stated to be a picture of Leighton McCarthy, new Canadian minister to Washington, D. C. It was a picture of Dalton Lally McCarthy, president of the Canadian Bar association.

In a story in Monday's TRIBUNE the retiring exalted ruler of Chicago lodge No. 4, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was mistakenly referred to as Sharl B. Ross. His name is Sharl B. Bass. THE TRIBUNE regrets the error.

Most of U. S. Fleet Leaves Hawaii for Training at Sea

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 26 (AP).—A major portion of the United States fleet, under command of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, steamed out of Pearl harbor today to resume training operations after a week in port.

WARN 18 OWNERS TO REPAIR FLATS OR PAY BIG FINES

Owners of 18 allegedly "rat infested, dilapidated old apartment buildings not fit for human habitation" were warned yesterday by Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland that they face heavy fines unless they make repairs and comply with sanitary requirements of the board of health.

David Lefkovits, assistant city prosecutor, said charges of violating city health ordinances were brought against the 18 in a health board drive to improve living conditions in blighted areas. One of those in court was Charles J. Scholz, owner of record of the building at 4047 State street, where three persons died as the result of a fire Jan. 24. Scholz said he had sold the building on the instalment plan to Felix Washington, colored.

Health board officials said most of the buildings are in the area lying between the 1800 and the 4000 blocks on the south side, east of the Chicago river. Others are on the near west and near north sides.

FIRE ROUTS FLAT TENANTS.

Fire yesterday did an estimated damage of $350 to a two story flat building at 4615 South Homan avenue and drove half a dozen persons from their homes.

THE PLAIN PEOPLE SPEAK THEIR MINDS ON WAR.

June C. Smith, who was elected to the Illinois Supreme court Tuesday in the special election in the 2d judicial district, was the first Republican ever to be sent to the court from that district. The district's Democratic traditions run back to the days of Stephen A. Douglas.

Mr. Smith's victory cannot be laid to any accident of personalities. His opponent, Judge Dove, was as strong a candidate as the Democratic party could find in the district and like Mr. Smith is a man of integrity and judicial ability, well qualified to sit in the state's highest court. Considering the good qualifications of both candidates and the normal predilections of the voters in the area, Judge Dove's election was generally expected.

Yet in his postelection statement Judge Dove recognized a trend which, as he said, ran clear across the district. He carried but one of the 21 counties in the district, and got only 42 per cent of the total vote. Last November Democratic national and state candidates carried this group of counties. President Roosevelt carried them. Mr. Hershey, whose home is within the district, got 55 per cent of the votes cast in his contest with Gov. Green. Mr. Slattery, running against Senator Brooks, got 52 per cent of the votes in the district. Both Mr. Slattery and Mr. Hershey carried seven of the 21 counties, and those the most populous in the district.

From this it seems obvious that the people who went to the polls down in south central Illinois on Tuesday had something more on their minds than the choice of a Supreme court justice. That other factor is one which has arisen since the district voted Democratic last November. Judge Dove was a victim of his party's attempt to push the country into a war and a dictatorship.

The people of this country do not always write to their senators and representatives, altho a great many of them are writing now. But they do go to the polls, and those who went on Tuesday carried with them a revulsion against any one bearing the Democratic label.

It is to be hoped that Senator Scott Lucas, who will cast a vote within a few days that may very well end his political career, will give close attention to these returns from a district close to his own home. Senator Lucas must face these same voters in 1944. He and his Democratic colleagues, if they continue their present course, face the same sort of personal political disaster that their party's candidates met in 1918. Even a victorious war, they should recall, failed to save the party that had violated its pledge of peace.

The Illinois victory will strengthen those men who are fighting valiantly in the senate to save a republican form of government in this country. It was a great victory for Republicanism and quite pointedly not for the sellout Republicanism of Wendell Willkie. The Republicanism that won was that of Senators Brooks, Taft, and Vandenberg and—may we add?—that of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

MILITARY TRAINING AT ST. CHARLES.

The mismanaged St. Charles School for Boys is in the headlines again, under somewhat different circumstances from those that cause its usual notoriety. Instead of its escaped inmates preying on the public, one of those inmates is dead as the result, it is alleged, of an assault by an employé at the school.

The law will deal with the employé. In passing, it may be noted that his act cannot fairly be charged to Gov. Green or the governor's new director of public welfare, Mr. Brandon. The employé was a holdover, sponsored in the expiring days of the Stelle régime by a Democratic county chairman, and had a record that should have barred him from any public job. Gov. Green is going to need more than six weeks to clean up the Augean stables that he inherited at his inauguration.

Without extenuating this employé's apparent brutality, it should be recognized that there is and always will be, so long as the courts of Cook county follow their present commitment policy, a most difficult disciplinary problem at St. Charles. Most of the inmates are hard cases. The majority of them, if they are not confirmed criminals, are on the road to becoming such. They need to be ruled with a firm hand, both for their own good and for the protection of the community.

Director Brandon is working on a plan to install senior students in sociology as house fathers in the cottages at the school. Presumably they would hold these positions for periods of a few months or a year at most, since the salary scale in state institutions can hardly attract college trained personnel to permanent service of this rank.

This would certainly be a good thing for the budding sociologists. They may learn that there are many things in the world that they never dreamed of in their cloistered studies. Whether it will be a good thing for the inmates and the institution will only be shown if it is tried.

If there were not more pressing demands for their services at present, Mr. Brandon might well consider the substitution of retired sergeants and petty officers from the army and navy for his young sociologists. He should certainly give close study to the possibility of instituting military training at the school, either in conjunction with his house father proposal or as a substitute for it.

The most satisfactory method of instilling discipline in a group of problem characters is to make the members of that group, under careful supervision, responsible for maintaining it themselves. Military organization is ideally suited to this end.

The boys who are sent to St. Charles are going to be in this world a long time. Those of them who can be taught self-control and trained to earn a living have a chance to spend that time as useful citizens instead of public charges behind the walls of some prison.

THE FARMERS NEED PEACE.

Most of the speakers at the National Farm institute in Des Moines marched straight toward a conclusion, but at the last moment timidity or something else overcame them and they refused to state it.

They were agreed that the war has greatly aggravated the farm problem. Thanks to the New Deal we had accumulated immense stores of agricultural products before the war began, and now, to make matters much worse, the war has cut off many of our most important export markets in Europe. There can be no quarrel with that diagnosis. Everybody who has studied the problem accepts it, and accepts also the fact that the longer the war lasts the more perilous becomes the position of agriculture in this country and this hemisphere.

What the speakers for the most part refused to do was to draw the only useful conclusion that can be drawn from the facts. That conclusion is that the greatest service which our government can perform for the farmers is to do all in its power to restore peace. With peace the surpluses would get no larger and they might, in time, be reduced to manageable proportions.

Mr. Roosevelt takes the position that peace is out of the question. Despite the futility of our intervention in 1917 he is once again embarked upon an effort to keep Europe fighting to a knockout. A President who was genuinely concerned for the welfare of the American farmers would see the British victory in Africa as a counterbalance to the German victory on the continent and would find this a favorable moment for trying to bring the belligerents together.

Before his mind was obsessed by the passion of war President Wilson pleaded for a peace without victory, i. e., a negotiated as against a dictated peace. He put his idea forward when the first world war was taking on the appearance of a stalemate. Today the situation is different in outward aspects, but is psychologically similar. Each side has a great victory to its credit. Each side can negotiate now without loss of prestige.

The reply is made that Hitler's word is worthless and that a peace made now would therefore have no permanence. That judgment would carry more weight if the terms of the peace were known and there were some basis for assaying the probabilities. At any rate the alternative is a prolonged and frightfully destructive war—a war in which our farmers will face ruin and their sons may be slaughtered by the tens of thousands. To say today that peace is out of the question, without exploring the matter at all, is to surrender all claim to statesmanship.

In his first inaugural message Lincoln said: "When, after much loss on both sides and no gain on either, you cease fighting, the identical old questions as to terms of intercourse are again upon you." That was the voice of statesmanship, and if it had been heeded would have saved a million lives.

BOTTLE DIPLOMACY.

Representative Robert Rich, Pennsylvania Republican, thinks that Pennsylvania's problem child, former Gov. George H. Earle, now minister to Bulgaria, should be recalled for misconduct at his post of duty. White House comment is that there is no thought of asking Mr. Earle to come home. Mr. Rich, as a Pennsylvanian, should know that Mr. Earle was shipped away to the Balkans because he was too hot for the New Deal and was about to burn a hole in the vestments of virtue. It was thought that in the Balkans he would be just another localized disturbance.

Mr. Earle apparently finds his post of duty in the most popular taverns and his diplomatic duties in the night life. Single-handed he met the Nazi advance into Bulgaria by bouncing a bottle off the skull of a German identified at the time as a major in civilian attire. The German, according to report, objected to Mr. Earle's liking of "Tipperary" and shied a bottle at him, inflicting superficial cuts on the arm. Mr. Earle's aim was better and the Nazi was carried off unconscious, presumably to a hospital, altho later reports indicated that it might have been to a morgue.

If Berlin cannot handle Mr. Earle it need expect no help from Washington. Washington doesn't know how to handle Mr. Earle. That's why he is in the Balkans.

FOOTPATHS WOULD HELP CHECK PEDESTRIAN DEATHS.

[Baltimore Sun.]

The appalling increase in the number of pedestrians killed on Maryland highways last month—29, as against 14 killed in January, 1940—is enough to shock the roads commission, the state police, the Baltimore police, and the legislature into more thought on this problem. An increase of 123 per cent is far too great to be dismissed with a shrug.

The slaughter increased both on city streets and on county roads, but not equally. Fourteen pedestrians were killed in the city against nine in January, 1940—an increase of 55 per cent. Fifteen were killed in the counties, against four in January, 1940—an increase of 275 per cent. The danger of the highways seems to be greater than the danger of the streets.

Here is a powerful argument supporting the policy of providing adequate footpaths paralleling first-class roads and, as far as possible, other roads in the state as well. Footpaths would hardly stop the slaughter entirely, but they would certainly tend to reduce it; and in connection with other well tested and perfectly feasible safety measures they might bring it down to the irreducible minimum.

SEEING HARRY POWERS.

Old friends should not be permitted to depart without words of farewell, and so we will speak of Harry Powers, who made the inevitable passage from old age into eternity a few days ago. He was the dean of Chicago's theatrical tradition until the withering hand of the depression fell upon it, and when the managers' association assembled to adjust jealousies and smoke the pipe of peace he always sat at the head of the table.

"See Harry Powers" was a standard instruction to reporters with assignments that involved news of the theater, and Mr. Powers was never seen in vain. He did not give out information copiously, for he was not a publicity seeker, but he could always be counted on for enlightenment on knotty points such as the tricks of ticket scalping and the mysterious policies of "the syndicate." He was a quiet, friendly, approachable gentleman and he never indulged in the manager's sport of barring a drama critic pour encourager les autres.

We remember as if it were yesterday the gray afternoon of Dec. 30, 1903, when we left the Record-Herald office on a "See Harry Powers" errand. We found him, not at his own theater but at the Iroquois, watching a matinée performance of "Mr. Bluebeard." An usher carried word to him and he left his box to be interviewed in the lobby. Then we rambled away, to learn 15 minutes later that there was an alarm of fire at the Iroquois. . . . In the hue and cry that went up against Mr. Powers and his partner, Will J. Davis, after the Iroquois disaster, it was not generally known that he and his family narrowly escaped inclusion in that appalling death list.

The last time we chatted with him was in the blackest year of the depression, when his theater holdings had vanished. Walter Hampden in "Cyrano de Bergerac" had stirred up a flickering of the old dramatic fire, and when the curtain fell Mr. Powers came out beaming.

"It will come back," he said happily as we rubbed elbows in the crowd. "Not in my time, maybe, but it will come back."

FOR MANDOLIN AND HARMONICA.

O, she was a wealthy photographers' model
And he was a broadcast announcer de luxe;
In satin lined swaddle
She'd learned how to toddle;
He played penny-ante with double sawbucks.

'Twas love at first sight on the beach at Miami,
He swam like Leander, a Tarzan in bronze;
With trunklets of lamé
His modeling mammy
Made Henie look shammy . . . and possibly Pons.

But, alas, their vacation to duty surrenders . . .
And each sees the other in "workaday" clothes:
O'er his bifurcate splendors
Both belt and suspenders,
On hers, fuzzy sox over sheer silken hose.

Envoi.

O, love that can conquer the slings and the arrows,
O, love that survives all misfortune and woes,
At the items aforesaid takes wing with the sparrows
Or shudders one shudder . . . and turns up its toes.

A Quip in Two Languages.

To speak again of the proper way to translate the motto of the Line o' Type column, "Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may":

I submitted the problem to a learned gentleman of Bogotá, Colombia, who immediately asked, "What is a quip?"

I investigated and reported to him as follows:

"A quip is a word, remark, story, statement, verse, song, sentence, argument or analysis, spoken or written, having the quality of suggesting a joke, a jest, a repartee, a flight of fancy, a witty or meaty quotation or a play on words which might, perhaps, at times be a little satiric, critical, scornful, sarcastic, clever, caustic, keen or penetrating; might even be the opposite of the literal sense of the actual wording or figure of speech and might also be sparkling with pleasantry or pathos, but always, however, something to promote good will, good humor, good feeling, enlightenment and happiness without wounding the feelings of its object."

The gifted Colombian then answered:

"I gather, then, that a quip, in Spanish, might be any of the following words:

(A Brookfield ballad.)

It may seem odd, but still it's true,
There's no hyena in our zoo.
We've apes, our primogenitors,
And (save for extinct dinosaurs)
A specimen of every kind
Of bird and beast that we can find
Because he fills our minds with doubt.
We know, altho we won't confess,
We've made of life an awful mess;
And so we'd rather not discuss
The beast who dares to laugh at us.

A Philosopher Looks Ahead.

One thing is sure: when we've spent our billions and there's nothing left to do but pay the bill, life will be different for all of us. Peace or war, the tax collector will see that our carefree days are over. Without money for gasoline, movies, and taverns, our week-ends will be quieter and saner, and maybe we'll all be better off spending our time on a peaceful walk, an old book, and a cup of tea with a friend or two. SINUS DISEASE IN CHILDHOOD.

INDIVIDUALS who are perfectly well do not have sinus disease. In fact, the mucous membrane lining these cavities within the skull will not harbor bacteria of any type if it is healthy. Should germs flourish, infection is present, altho disturbing symptoms may not appear for a long time.

Most of our sinus troubles begin in childhood. While some tots may outgrow the malady, others will be beset with what are considered to be constantly recurring colds. In consequence, their energies are used up in fighting the invaders. This comes at a time when every atom of strength should be devoted to the normal development of the body, especially the nervous system and the vital organs.

As a rule, the sufferer observes periodically a discharge of yellowish puslike material and, occasionally, pain or a dull ache over the eyes or in the region of the cheekbones. If the outlets into the nose become plugged, absorption may occur, attended with chilly sensations, a slight fever, and malaise—the typical signs of influenza.

Assuming that the condition has existed for months or years, the question arises—what can be done? Naturally, we must provide free escape for "corruption." This may mean enlargement of the exits into the nasal passages. These gateways must be kept open always. The tendency to closure may be combated by flushing the airways gently—using but little pressure. If the "room" itself needs to be washed out, the procedure must be left to a skilled operator. Surgery can usually be avoided and the surfaces left clean and ready to heal.

Next in importance is the use of a vaccine made from the patient's own microbes. Starting with a relatively small amount, the quantity may be increased gradually. More often than not, by the time a dozen doses have been administered [together with the washing process], many a chronic victim will experience complete relief. Now and then a second round of injections will be required.

Of course, an allergy may be responsible for sinus symptoms. In other words, the first invitation to microörganisms to make themselves at home is extended by the swollen, irritated mucous surfaces. This situation may arise because the patient has been exposed to dust or some other irritant.

It is always wise, therefore, to check carefully to make certain that the ailment is on a strictly infectious basis, or that it is due to sensitivity—as the case may be. Allergic children will sneeze early in the morning and acquire the habit of rubbing the nose routinely during waking hours.

An interesting history is presented by a 7 year old girl, with most of the spaces within the skull [ethmoids, sphenoids, etc.] affected. It was felt that clearing up one area would have a marked influence upon the balance. This is exactly what happened. Five weekly irrigations of the maxillary chamber, plus the vaccine, were arranged for. At the end of two months, the patient was symptom-free. No pus was found in the nasal exudate and bacteria had disappeared entirely from the wash water.

In some instances, comfort has followed the use of vaccines without the employment of the "fireman's hose." But recalling the thin character of the internal covering, we may be taking an unnecessary risk when we fail to resort to lavage.

While this management may be looked upon as rather drastic for youngsters, the chances are that vigorous treatment instituted promptly may save the little patient lifelong discomfort.

STREAKED THROAT.

C. H. writes: What causes white stripes on the throat, back of the tonsils?

REPLY.

Streaks of mucus may give this appearance. Try gargling. If the scenery refuses to budge—old scars [the result of inflammation] may be present. A membrane [such as diphtheria] will be accompanied by symptoms—nausea, fever, sore throat, and some prostration.

VITAMIN LEAFLET.

R. K. writes: What is the total number of vitamins now known?

REPLY.

A categorical answer cannot be given, as new discoveries are being made right along. We have a new leaflet on the present status of vitamins. This can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

KEEP COOL.

M. B. writes: Is slapping a child's face a good remedy for disobedience?

REPLY.

Altho "circumstances alter cases" the rule is that any exhibition of anger on the part of parents is an admission of weakness. There are other and better means of discipline.

SOBERING UP.

S. J. writes: Will a glass of warm salt water sober an intoxicated person?

REPLY.

It will help only if it brings on vomiting. Too simple a formula for a difficult situation. Sleep and good food will produce the best results.

CERVICAL RIBS.

R. W. writes: I have two cervical ribs. Could these cause trouble in my throat?

REPLY.

Yes, and in the neck, shoulders, and arms. Something depends upon their length and the structures pressed upon.

ROOMMATES.

M. S. writes: My son lets his dog sleep in the same bed with him. Is this all right?

REPLY.

Comforting, but unhygienic.

DEMOCRACY IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—We hear a lot about the underrepresented minorities abroad and quite a bit about the constitution and the principles of justice and democracy over here.

Is it asking too much to have these principles put into practice right here in Illinois?

Reapportionment of the representatives in congress is the sole reason given in the federal constitution for the taking of a census every 10 years. Nevertheless, there has been no reapportionment since 1901. The Nor'wes'ton congress has adopted a resolution requesting the state legislature to reapportion the congressional districts so that equal representation will be accorded to all citizens of the state. The aid of the lovers of justice and fairness is needed to assist in bringing back representative government to Illinois.

ROBERT P. WEIL,
Chairman Reapportionment committee.

TENANTS AND TAXES.

Elmhurst, Ill., Feb. 20.—The Voice of the People bout of renter vs. landlord is as bad as it is old, since it always ends without either winning, but leaves them farther apart with a great loss to both as well as the community.

Without understanding each other's problems these two militant groups comprising our total population are now in a terror-stricken rush to make laws for the control of each other, until their program has resulted in a thing like the recently proposed rent-freezing law. This without control of local real estate taxes would end private ownership of property. And since tenants are a voting majority and they know nothing of real estate's biggest burden, that of property taxes, what have owners a right to expect of them? Should I as a tenant go hammering on my landlord's door to find out how much taxes I am paying on my rented home or apartment, so that I might intelligently vote to control local expenses in my town, thereby keeping my rent down?

Believing tenants have a perfect right to know how much property taxes they are paying each month so that they get the most out of their tax dollar, I designed a rent receipt with a dial on it for the purpose of showing at a glance not only the annual tax but how much is contained in the current month. This would not only encourage small owners to put aside tax money to pay taxes and greatly aid the delinquent tax problem, but would help to bring about the kind of coöperation and understanding we should have between tenant, landlord, and their local government.

NAMES FOR CAMPS.

Brookfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—Why all the controversy about naming our new army cantonments? Why not name them after our deceased and retired generals from the last war? By so doing the country will give them honor they rightfully deserve. Aside from Gen. Pershing, there are Generals C. P. Summerall, James G. Harbord, Lee Bullard, Liggett, Parker, Bundy, Dickman, Menoher, MacArthur, Henry J. Reilly, and others. I served under several of these generals in France in 1917-'19, and I think the war department files will bear me out when I state that the above named generals possess excellent front line records, proved fine leadership under all conditions, and at no time sent their men ruthlessly into action, and always had the welfare of the soldiers uppermost in their minds.

FRANK CHLMUSKY.

CORRECTION.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 19.—The sense of my directions for a window bird feeding tray was lost, I believe, in your substituting the words "flower pot" for "flower flat" in my reply to Bird Lover. What I wished to imply was a shallow box with a rim about an inch to two inches high, such as florists use for seedlings. Small branches can be nailed along the top of the rim as perches and will give your feeder a rustic appearance, which the birds seem to like.

MRS. J. EDWARD SMITH.

PRUDENCE.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 21.—I just received a letter from my sister and she has a good idea. She suggests that when we get back the stuff we lend the British that President Roosevelt wrap it up carefully and have it ready to give to them 20 years from now. For, of course, says she, Roosevelt will still be President and the British will be at war. M. N.

UNION NOW.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—In spite of the discouraging headline over your article yesterday about Union Now, you wrote in a fashion less biased than I had thought possible. However, as an old supporter of Mr. Streit [my husband and I were Chicago's only members in June of 1939] I should like to call your attention to a few errors.

1. Union Now has always been and still is a plan for securing and maintaining peace. On the question of how and when that peace shall be secured our membership differs. You forget that as well as these members "pushing for American participation in the European war," we have many Quakers and other extreme pacifists.

2. You say that no federal union supporter has said anything about guaranteeing every state under our constitution a republican form of government. I call your attention to the fact that Mr. Streit's book and every piece of F. U. literature I have ever seen have pointed out that every state would have to have a democratic government before it could be admitted. This has been stressed over and over as the basic fact upon which union could be contemplated.

3. Your objections as to the title of nobility are a little absurd, aren't they? Surely when one is contemplating a world government it is a little beneath them to worry as to whether it could exist with titled nobility.

4. Please do not forget that there is no suggestion made by us officially that Great Britain should become a 49th state of the United States, or that we should become a part of the British empire, but only that the English speaking countries join together in a voluntary political, economic, and military "Union of the Free" so that men may have peace.

MRS. T. W. SHERMAN.

SOME QUESTIONS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 19.—Why make such a bitter attack on Mr. Willkie? Surely he said in his campaign that he had made no commitments to any person or party, and now he only wants to get at the truth of conditions in England. Does not the world's greatest newspaper want the people to know the exact conditions, that he can see with his own eyes?

I remember in one of your editions that THE TRIBUNE said in so many words that it would never let up. Is that a spirit to be proud of?

I have read your paper all my life practically, but many things you say make me very sad.

MRS. JOHN G. CAMPBELL.

THE UNFAIR SEX.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Why all the beef about tips for waiters and waitresses? Try the work for a week. You will find out in less time than that. It's no bed of roses.

Our pay is a dollar a day, which takes care of the people that have to eat in restaurants and can't afford to tip. We have our troubles. Woman can be so low as to pick up the waitress' tip after the man leaves it. Don't she realize that maybe we worked an hour or more for it?

PARTNERSHIP INTEREST.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a brother who went into the milk business wholesaling with two other men four years ago. One of these partners managed and ran the business, collected a salary and expenses and issued annual reports for the first two years.

1. The partner that managed the business eventually bought out the other partners at half his original investment and made the same offer to my brother, who refused to sell.

A few months later to his dismay my brother heard and confirmed the report that [2] the remaining partner with two-thirds control had sold the business to a competitor and was working under the latter. My brother received no warning of this action and has received nothing.

3. What recourse has he?

4. Can he sue for his original investment?

5. Can he sue the company who bought out his partner?

6. Was the man with 66 per cent of the stock within the law in doing what he did? S. R.

1. The other partners can block such a sale. In general partnership interests are not a proper subject of sale in the manner of which stock certificates can be sold. The purchaser of a partner's interest does not become a partner, but acquires only a right to insist on a winding up of the business and a distribution of the proceeds.

2. He would have no legal power to do this.

3. He should employ an attorney at once.

4. No. But he should bring the proper proceedings for winding up the partnership.

5. The nature of this transaction is not clear to us.

6. No. As you describe it.

NOTICE IS FILED OF C. I. O. STRIKE AT FORD PLANTS

95,000 Men Involved in Detroit Action.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special].—The C. I. O. United Automobile Workers union today announced it had filed 30 day notice of intention to call a strike at the Ford Motor company's plants in the Detroit area—the Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln factories which employ about 95,000 men.

A month's notice of intent to call a walkout is required in Michigan in disputes with companies filling national armament orders. The Ford company has many million dollars' worth of military contracts.

Leaders of the drive to unionize Ford workers accused the company of discouraging its employés from joining the union. A Ford spokesman said the company's workers "are satisfied, always have been satisfied and would continue to be if they were left alone."

The C. I. O. never has made known the extent of its membership among Ford workers beyond statements from time to time that satisfactory progress was being made in the enrollment of plant employès.

Other developments on the strike front were:

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Settlement of a C. I. O. strike of crane operators which closed the electric-weld plant of Republic Steel corporation was announced. The plant, engaged in making pipe for military purposes, shut down last night, 36 hours after a walkout by the cranemen who demanded higher wages. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

Motor Wheel Strike Ends.

LANSING, Mich.—About 2,500 employés of the Motor Wheel corporation returned to work after settling a two weeks' strike of A. F. of L.—U. A. W. members. The strike also had thrown out of work 7,500 employés of the Packard company at Detroit due to lack of wheels. Strikers were granted a new one year contract providing for some pay increases and exclusive bargaining rights for the union but not a union shop, the principal issue in the dispute.

AVIS, Pa.—Efforts were made to end a walkout of 87 employés at the Jersey Shore Steel company which yesterday halted work on subcontracts for the marine corps. The strikers seek a wage increase.

WORCESTER, Mass. — Two-thirds of the 300 employés of the Pressed Steel company were on the second day of a walkout over a wage dispute. The company, which makes parts for warplanes and machineguns, has a million dollars worth of military orders.

TROY, N. Y.—C. I. O. strikes at plants of Cluett, Peabody & Co. here, in Leominster, Mass., and in Atlanta, Ga., kept about 3000 employés idle and continued to prevent the company from filling orders for army shirts.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Shipments of partly completed machinery necessary to the country's aluminum manufacturing program were moved out of the strikebound Allis Chalmers plant under an agreement between the management and striking C. I. O. workers. The strike has held up production of military material for 36 days.

Gang of Five Seized; 90 Crimes Confessed

Five young men, who police say have confessed 90 crimes, were held by Desplaines street police last night. They were rounded up by Detectives Patrick J. Kennedy and James Hoy. The prisoners are Patrick Gabaldos, 18 years old, and his brother, Max, 16, both of 19 South Sangamon street; Manuel Castanedo, 18, of 1351 South Peoria street; Peter Chavarria, 18, of 741 Arthington street, all Mexicans, and Dan Modas, 15, of 1642 Monroe street.

Bank Teller and Aid in Fake Holdup Begin Prison Terms

Harold Broberg, 27 years old, and Harold Cherne, 33, surrendered yesterday to serve prison terms of 1 to 5 years for the fake holdup Oct. 18 of the South Chicago Trust and Savings bank. Broberg, a teller, first said a robber made him surrender $7,500 by threatening to blow up the bank with a bottle of "nitroglycerin." Later he confessed he embezzled the money at the request of Cherne and George Phillips, 27 years old. Phillips already is in prison.

Gulls Find Place to Get Free Winter Breakfasts

Joseph C. Costa, owner of an apartment building at 1318 Howard street, just off Lake Michigan, was having breakfast one morning three years ago when he noticed a gull flying over the beach. He threw some bread to it. The gull ate it, and returned next morning for another handout. Every winter morning since then Costa has fed the gull. The gull started bringing his friends along, too, and now the breakfast party number 100 or more.

FIND COOK HANGED IN ROOM.

Mrs. Evelyn Dahlgren, 55 years old, a cook in an apartment at 227 East Delaware place, was found hanged in her room there yesterday.

Open New Air Line

Direct seven hour air service between Chicago and Houston, Tex., will be commenced Saturday morning by Chicago and Southern Airlines, it was announced yesterday by D. D. Walker, vice president. The route, 1,037 miles, will be flown with intermediate stops at St. Louis and Memphis.

Under the Civil Aeronautics Authority ruling, Chicago and Southern can fly the Memphis-Houston leg only by day and when cloud levels are 1,200 feet or more above the ground and when it is possible to see at least two miles. These safety restrictions were ordered because the airway between Memphis and Houston is not yet lighted or fitted with radio navigational aids to assist in instrument flight.

Mrs. Mellin's Appointment to School Board Approved

Mayor Kelly's appointment of Mrs. L. Robert Mellin, club woman and welfare worker, to the board of education was approved unanimously yesterday by the city council. Mrs. Mellin, who lives at 1038 Balmoral avenue, will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. William S. Hefferan, who resigned recently. The term ends May 1.

PICKETS ORDERED TO EXTEND C. I. O. CAMPAIGN TODAY

Congress of Industrial Organizations chiefs ordered their Steel Workers Organizing committee pickets last night to move into Indiana Harbor at 5:30 a. m. today. The pickets were instructed to try to establish a closed shop at the Inland Steel company plant, where about 11,000 men are employed, and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plant, which employs about 7,000.

The pickets, led by Frank Grider, district subdirector for the SWOC, completed their work at the Gary tin and sheet metal mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in Gary last night. Beginning Tuesday night, they halted workers of all three shifts, forcing nonunion workers to join the union or turn back amid boos. The union claimed 85 per cent of the 9,000 employés before the campaign began.

Thirty-five Gary policemen watched during the day as the unionists swarmed about cars and buses in the street leading to the Gary plants to keep nonmembers from going to work.

UNION HARVESTER WORKERS HOLD UP STRIKE CALL

Officials of the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [C. I. O.] announced last night that a threatened strike call at the McCormick works of the International Harvester company, scheduled for today, had been delayed to give John R. Steelman, federal labor conciliator in Washington, D. C., an opportunity to settle the union's differences with the company. They added that this was done at the request of Steelman.

The company has refused to negotiate with the C. I. O. at the McCormick works, on the ground that the union has not been officially made a bargaining agent. The FEWOC is conducting strikes at the harvester company's tractor works here and at its plant at Richmond, Ind., where the union has official standing.

FIRE ROUTS FAMILY OF FIVE.

A family of five was driven to the street early yesterday by a fire in their home at 9964 Charles street. Damage was estimated at $600.

CHAPLIN WANTS TAX REFUND; GOVERNMENT ASKING $65,000 MORE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27 (AP).—Charlie Chaplin, minus his comedy make-up, appeared in federal court today to answer a government contention that he owes an additional $65,000 tax on his 1935 earnings with a claim that he actually is entitled to a $25,000 refund.

The gray-haired funnyman contends he was unjustly taxed on his receipts from United Artists corporation, of which he, Mary Pickford, and others were owners. Those receipts, he claims, were returns on an investment, not income.

Government attorneys maintained that Chaplin did not actually own the stock until after 1935 and that he owes $65,000 in additional taxes for that year.

GRANT NEW TRIAL TO 16 CONVICTED OF VOTE FRAUDS

The Appellate court yesterday reversed the convictions by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of 16 election officials of the 24th ward on vote fraud charges and remanded the four cases involved for trials before a different judge. The defendants are judges and clerks of election in the 54th, 35th, 49th, and 5th precincts of the 24th ward in the April 12, 1938, primary.

In all four cases the Appellate court held the defendants were "entitled to have a judge with no personal interest to hear their cases." Judge Jarecki was a candidate in that primary. The defendants received sentences ranging from three months to three years, and some were fined $500 in Jarecki's court.

Several other cases, involving at least 20 election officials, recently have been remanded by the Appellate court. John Cashen, special prosecutor for the board of election commissioners, said all the Appellate court reversals would be appealed to the Illinois Supreme court.

DOUGLAS BLAMES BAD GOVERNMENT ON PUBLIC LAXITY

Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] said yesterday that Chicago will never have "good and decent government" until citizens forget party lines and work together to solve civic problems. He spoke at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer house.

"Party lines matter in national and state issues," he said. "Each side sets forth its policies of government and the people weigh them and make their choice. But in city government there is seldom an occasion for party lines. Policies matter little. It is only a question of performing the essential services of government at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer."

Democracy is not self-operating, altho most citizens seem to think it is, Douglas asserted. "The people sit back and enjoy life and let the affairs of government take care of themselves. That is why we have bad government. If citizens will take an active interest in city government many of the present abuses will be remedied."

Open Trucks of Private Scavengers Irk Mayor

Mayor Kelly said last night that he is tired of seeing the trucks of private scavengers, who haul rubbish and garbage for apartment buildings and stores, traveling the city's streets uncovered, and that he proposes to do something about it. "City ordinances require that they keep their loads covered so the refuse cannot blow around, but I never see the scavengers doing it," the mayor asserted.

Suspect in Hvid Labor Murder Case Released

Frank Dougherty, an exconvict, who had been held for nearly two weeks in connection with the unsolved goon murder of Marinus Hvid, was released from police custody yesterday on orders of Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's office.

BOOKIES RELATE PAYING OFF TO 'BOSS' SKIDMORE

Politicians Are Linked to Protection Racket.

ably pocketed the money, muttered an "O. K." to their application for permission to open a bookie shop, and jotted a notation on a desk pad to show that they were in good standing.

Probe Political Angles.

Cross-examination by William Scott Stewart, Skidmore's counsel, failed to shake them on the fact that the payments had been made. Stewart, after an initial hesitancy about bringing the names of politicians into the record, examined the witnesses at length about the political ramifications of the bookie business. He refused, however, to indicate last night whether the defense would be predicated on the contention that the payments passed thru Skidmore's hands to higher-ups.

The witness who told about being escorted to Ward Committeeman Kohl's home by his precinct captain when he started to go about opening a book was Arthur F. Hood, 54 years old, of 5211 Berteau avenue.

Kohl, he said, gave him a card to Skidmore which read, "Skid: O. K. Arthur Hood," and upon presentation of these credentials and $250 as a down payment, Skidmore said the customary "O. K." and Hood opened his shop at 1609 North Cicero avenue. He said that he paid Skidmore $250 a month for the first two or three months and $100 a month thereafter until the book closed about 18 months later.

All Roads Lead to Skidmore.

James Hamlin, 32, of 2618 Isabella street, Evanston, who said he is now doing much better in the poultry business than he did as a bookie, was equally specific about the technique necessary to get the password for operating a book outside the city limits.

He said that he wanted to open a book at Crystal pool, a public swimming pool about five miles south of La Grange. He first went to see Lieut. Mulhausen at the county highway police station, he testified, and the lieutenant directed him to go to Skidmore.

"I asked him if I could open a book," he said of his interview at the junk yard office. "He said, 'O. K.' I laid down $50. About three days later I went back again, after getting word, and asked Skidmore what he wanted me there for. He said I'd have to pay $25 more—that he had to take care of another party."

Tells of Paying Police.

For about three months, Hamlin stated, he also paid $25 additional each month directly to Lieut. Mulhausen. He said he would call at the highway police station and hand over the money there.

After Mulhausen was transferred, he continued, Lieut. La Grue, who had succeeded Mulhausen, said that he would have to have $25 a month, too. Hamlin testified that he paid La Grue each month, but that in the eighth and last month he was operating, La Grue raised his price to $25 a week.

"Finally the lieutenant closed the book," Hamlin said, "and I went down to ask Skidmore why. He said, 'they have no business closing you.' But La Grue told me that I couldn't run, even after that. I said, 'I can run.'"

But Hamlin lost the argument, and in September, 1938, his book was closed down. La Grue since then has left the highway police and now holds a job in the county building.

Does Better Selling Eggs.

On cross-examination Stewart asked whether Hamlin had ever made any income tax reports.

"Not until last year, when I made $10,000 or $11,000 in the poultry business," Hamlin replied. "I never had enough to report before that. In the handbook business I was lucky to make $20 or $25 a week."

"Isn't there a sheriff in the county where you had your book?" Stewart inquired.

"It's in Cook county," Hamlin said. "There were two lieutenants acting for the sheriff in that territory. Mulhausen is the one who told me to go down and see Skidmore—or else."

"You knew you were breaking the law running a book, didn't you?" Stewart demanded.

"I don't know whether I was or not," the witness responded. "They do it all over Chicago."

"So you think you're in a nice, clean business—going around paying off public officials?" said Stewart.

Calls Politicians Criminals.

"I'm not a criminal for paying it; they're criminals for taking it," retorted Hamlin.

On Skidmore Jury

Alfred MacGregor. John R. Fanning. Henry J. Tesch. Henry W. Easterwood.

Concerning the payments Hamlin said he made to La Grue, Stewart asked, "You gave him this money as a bribe?"

"I gave him $25," said Hamlin. "If you call it a bribe, it's a bribe."

"Before you were called before the grand jury," Stewart demanded, "hadn't you complained to anybody about paying this protection money?"

"Who was there to complain to?" countered Hamlin. "When they closed me I complained to Skidmore."

"Why did you give the money to Skidmore?"

"To run the book," Hamlin replied.

Another Bookie Testifies.

Another bookie, Edward Voss, 50, who now runs a milk stand on Narragansett avenue, said that he had $1,000 to put into a handbook in April, 1938, and that a friend, Joe Palma, had the necessary knowledge of how to run a book.

He testified that Palma took him to the junk yard and introduced him to Skidmore. Voss said he asked permission to open a book at 4735 North avenue, and that Skidmore responded, "O. K."

"I laid down $100 on his desk," Voss said. "He took it. That's the last I saw of it."

This simple recitation drew a guffaw from the spectators' benches, which had a large representation of the sporting gentry.

"I saw Skidmore every month," Voss related. "I just walked in, gave him the address of the place, and laid down $100. This was always around the first of the month, on the 1st, 2d, or 3d. I operated for 18 months and paid Skidmore $1,800 in that time."

An Occasional Pinch.

Attorney Stewart inquired, "Did the police ever raid your place?"

"Well, they didn't raid us," Voss responded. "They'd come around once in a while and give us a pinch. We were told in advance. We'd let a couple of the boys working in the book take the pinch and go down to the station. I never paid any fines for them."

Stewart questioned Voss about his previous association with gambling, and the witness said that before he went into the bookie business himself, he used to play the horses.

Brings In Weber's Name.

"Where did you bet?" asked Stewart.

"Oh, at the Wagon Wheel on Narragansett," replied the witness, "and over at Charlie Weber's place on Southport."

Voss said he lost money operating his book, a misfortune he shared with Hood. Hood testified that before he became a bookie, he went broke betting the horses, and that he borrowed money on his home to meet living expenses. He got together $800 or $900, he said, to open the book on Cicero avenue but just about broke even in its operation.

"A gambler is a sucker," he commented, "but the fellow who has the book is the big sucker."

Palma, who was a partner of Hood in the Cicero avenue book before he teamed up with Voss in the North avenue establishment, admitted going to Skidmore's junk yard at the time he and his partners opened both of these places.

Tells of Same Procedure.

Daniel O'Dougherty, 7757 Barnett avenue, a bartender, testified as to much the same procedure as Hood and Voss. He said that he wanted to open a handbook in April, 1937, and that he went to Skidmore, paid $100, and continued the payments thru 21 months until he closed down in 1939.

Samuel N. Drell, 908 Main street, Evanston, a cherubic figure with a bald head, said that he had less good fortune in his dealings than other witnesses. He went to Skidmore in November, 1934, he related, and told him he owned the Churchill Downs, a tavern at 3500 Church street, Skokie, and wanted to conduct a book there.

He accompanied Skidmore into the scale shed at the junk yards, he stated, and there handed over $150. Two and a half days later, he said sadly, his book was raided.

"I went and told Skidmore," he continued, "and he told me there must be some mistake, but that he would take care of it. He asked me who had made the raid, and I told him the Morton Grove county highway police. He said I should go back and open up again. I did, but the same afternoon I was raided again."

Once more, he related, he returned to Skidmore to outline his troubles. Skidmore, he said, told him that the powers that be were in Hot Springs or Florida but that as soon as they got back he would fix everything up so that Drell could reopen.

"But I never did get to reopen," the witness said mournfully.

Never Showed up.

He said that he went to Skidmore a dozen times, and that on one of these visits the junk yards boss told him to be in the office of Chief Burns of the county highway police in the county building at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

"I was there on time," Drell said, "and I waited until 6, but I never saw either Skidmore or Burns."

Stewart inquired whether these experiences did not make the witness ill disposed toward the defendant.

"You paid $150 protection," said the lawyer, "and your place was raided. You must have been left with bad feelings."

"No," Drell replied. "After all, I was open for three days. I figure I broke even."

The witnesses were questioned by Paul Plunkett and Earle C. Hurley, assistant United States attorneys, with J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, sitting at the counsel table.

STATE TO PROBE CHARGE OF GRAFT IN COUNTY POLICE

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said last night that the state's attorney's office will investigate an exbookmaker's testimony of paying protection money to Lieut. Fred Mulhausen and former Lieut. George La Grue of the county highway police. The former bookmaker, James Hamlin, testified regarding the payments yesterday at William R. Skidmore's income tax evasion trial.

"We will ask the United States attorney at the conclusion of Skidmore's trial," Crowley said, "for any evidence he has of state law violations that fall within the statute of limitations. If this evidence comes within the statute, we will present it to the grand jury."

Lieut. Mulhausen said he had no comment on the bookmaker's testimony. La Grue, who resigned several months ago, could not be reached.

DETECTIVE CHIEF FAVORS NEW LAW TO CURB PAROLES

Sullivan Says Judges Can Fix Sentences Best.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, who has had more than 25 years of police service, hailed the Ward-Rennick parole reform bill yesterday as a safeguard against the release of hardened criminals.

Chief Sullivan, who constantly is harassed by the criminal activities of parolees, was Commissioner Allman's representative on the committee which helped to formulate the original Ward-Schnackenberg bill, the predecessor of the Ward Rennick bill.

The present bill, which is pending in the legislature, would curb the powers of the parole board by empowering judges of the Criminal court to fix minimum and maximum terms for convicted felons.

Repeaters Learn Parole Tricks.

"Parole is meant only for first offenders, yet second and third offenders have been paroled when they knew the trick," Chief Sullivan said.

"The smart convict goes before the parole board, says he is in on a bum rap [serving time for a crime he didn't commit] and promises he will never get into trouble again. The parole board thinks he may turn out all right. They figure he probably won't commit a new crime, and that even if he does the police can catch him again. It happens, all too often, that the parolee is responsible for making somebody's children orphans before he is caught again."

Chief Sullivan said the parole board freed 1,460 convicts in 1940, and that out of 187 felons released during November, 14 were crime repeaters, one of them—Thomas King—being a four time convict.

Persistent as a Robber.

King, who first went to Joliet prison Nov. 7, 1907, was paroled in 1910. He returned to prison on a robbery charge on Jan. 9, 1915, and was again released, altho the records do not disclose just how. He went back to prison on a new robbery charge March 25, 1920, and was paroled April 5, 1932. He was sentenced on another robbery charge Oct. 17, 1934, and paroled in 1940.

Chief Sullivan said many killers of policemen had received paroles. One was Andrew Bogacki, a graduate of St. Charles School for Boys, who slew Policeman Jerome McCauley in 1937 while escaping after a robbery. In 1928, after his release from St. Charles, Bogacki was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for robbery and was paroled June 21, 1934.

Frank [Bones] Korczykowski, another parolee, also participated in the McCauley murder. He was sentenced for robbery in 1929 and paroled in 1935.

Raps Indeterminate Sentences.

Chief Sullivan said these are only a few of the numerous cases of parole abuses in police files. If Criminal court judges were allowed to impose stiff penalties on callous criminals like Bogacki and Korczykowski, instead of being limited to assessing the present indeterminate sentence of one year to life, McCauley and many other policemen might still be alive, he declared.

"The proposed new law works both ways," said Sullivan. "It helps out the poor defendant without influence or money, and it works against the hardened potential killer of policemen who knows all the tricks and can get himself out of the penitentiary in some manner by parole."

LUCKY BET ON HORSES GAVE SKIDMORE HIS START TOWARD RICHES

William R. Skidmore, on trial on income tax evasion figures, has been a familiar figure in political background scenes for more than half his 60 odd years. He was born on the west side, and except for rare visits out of town, has spent his life in Chicago or in McHenry county where he owns seven farms.

Skidmore began life as a poor boy. While in his teens he sold programs at the old Harlem and Washington Park race tracks. At 19 he won a sizable bet and opened a handbook with his winnings. Later he opened a saloon at Lake street and Damen avenue. There he first met influential politicians and gamblers.

In 1907 he entered politics, joining the Democratic organization. He served as purchasing agent for the Democratic national committee, and as sergeant at arms of the national convention in 1912. He continued his political relationships even when Republicans took over city offices. Skidmore dropped open political activity in 1917 after his acquittal with the then chief of police, Charles C. Healey, and Police Lieutenant Steve Barry, on charges of graft. After that he established his junkyard business. For years he has been considered a millionaire.

Sentence of Konkowski and Aid in Fraud Upheld

The 3d division of the appellate court yesterday upheld the conviction in July, 1939, of Frank E. Konkowski, former 26th ward alderman, and Stephen Idzikowski, his one time political aid, on a charge of conspiring to sell police jobs. Each was sentenced to one to five years in prison, and Konkowski was fined $1,500. They are now at liberty on bond.

House Planning for a Mud Room Is Latest Thing

There is a new technique in the planning of home laundering facilities which avoids the extremes of an absolute minimum of space and laying out a separate, exclusive, fully equipped room. In between is a method that strikes many homemakers as the best. That is to arrange a combination room in your house.

You use your washer and ironer just a short time each week, but there is no reason to let a laundering room stand idle and unused all the rest of the time. How else can you use and enjoy such space?

You might try a mud room. Never heard of one? Well, it is space close to the front entry of a home where galoshes, wet overcoats, hockey sticks, and all the other litter and clutter of outdoor life can be left behind. But a mud room just as easily can be arranged as a rear entry to a house, and the washer and the laundry tubs installed in it. Everything else goes on shelves and hangers behind cabinet doors.

For another kind of combination room consider the extreme of the mud room. Plan a combination laundry and garden or flower room, almost a conservatory, give it broad, high expanses of glass to let in lots of light and sunshine. Across such windows run shelves to hold your plants.

Hide your set-tubs behind an attractive dummy cabinet enclosure which you can roll away when the washing begins or when it is time for the plants to get one of their baths.

Since it is not necessary to boil clothes, washing is not a steamy operation any more and if there is any likelihood of the scent of soap invading an adjoining room, a small exhaust fan in one garden room wall or at the top of a window will handle that.

You can make such space a cheerful morning room, as well. Until some one goes into action at the washer you can have a chair or two and a table in the room. You can embroider, or read, or mend hosiery there with no hint that the washer is stowed away in a closet behind a nearby door.

If there is a gardener in the family the combination room can be a tool room with a work bench for potting and transplanting and ample space for the lawn mower, the grass shears, and all other outdoor paraphernalia.

Your dual-purpose room can be a hobby room, too, with the place where the laundering is done serving equally well as the spot where train models are made and where tools and equipment are kept for whatever sideline interests the boys and the men of the household have. Use the room for games or for sewing. Keep a radio in it. But whatever you do, don't let it stand idle most of every week.

New Cretonnes Make Festive Window Drapes

BY CLAIRE WINSLOW.

With spring days just around the corner it's high time to think of house refurbishings. One easy method of bringing a fresh and interesting look to your rooms is to hang new draperies at the windows.

If you're anxious to keep the budget down, there's a sure way you can do it this season. It's the cretonne way. This fabric has changed remarkably in the last few months. You won't recognize it as the same old material you've been seeing for years.

It has been completely restyled. Cretonne, this spring of 1941, is just as good looking as linens and chintzes, tho costing a good deal less. It is appearing in a beautiful color range and in patterns that give it true distinction. It has the excellent features of low shrinkage and of being practically fade proof.

One attractive display is called cretonne carnival. Yards and yards of the new designs are draped amusingly over merry-go-round animals: horses, giraffes, etc., which have been given coats of pastel paint. And a series of windows has been hung in the cretonnes.

Do you like stripes? You'll find a delightful variety of them. Ones we think especially good looking are in tones of light, clear yellow and white, rose and white, and gray and white. Then there are floral stripes and stripes of conventionalized laurel. This last is seen in beige on a rose ground with a hairline edge of green.

Florals never have been gayer than they are in these new cretonnes. You'll see large, splashy roses sprawling over a white ground, a design perfect for the Victorian bedroom or dining room. You'll see other large flowers in contrasting tones on deep red, medium blue, rose pink, and gray.

Besides the stripes and florals in cretonne there's a new sateen in checks and plaids which can be combined beautifully with them. This sateen is a lovely new version of the old fabric, too, being lighter in weight and having a silky sheen. It works up in draperies and bedspreads with handsome results, yet it is inexpensive. And it launders with ease.

It takes to quilting like a fish to water. And it is available in the same light, spring-like tones as the cretonnes.

Reveal Artistry in Exhibition of Sea Shells

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

"She sells sea shells" might well be the slogan of a most intriguing display of antique and contemporary decorative accessories for the home recently put on view here for the public.

From England, Hungary, prewar Germany and Italy, from Tahiti, Hawaii, and California come delightful piece of porcelain, soft paste, majolica, pottery, alabaster, wood, glass, and a few old prints, all having shells as a theme. Many of the items have been brought on from an exhibition at Cooper Union in New York. Others were shown there by James Pendleton, the designer.

Against draperies of fish net all these shells and shell decorated objects have a nautical flair. Between two huge glass cases thus decorated there is a fireplace. On the mantel is a curious reminder of Victorian days, two pages from an open book, glass framed, showing elaborate patterns all worked in shells. Hundreds of them have been used to fashion the intricate design.

Besides this fireplace are Victorian chairs, their graceful backs carved in a shell motif. And near by hangs a quaintly amusing item, an old colored print called "The Conchologist," a picture of a lady whose entire figure is made of a variety of shells!

There is a set of rare old Flight and Bar dessert plates, ornamented with paintings of shells; there are antique Wedgwood dishes with shell motif; there is an 18th century example of soft paste [one of the earliest chinas], and there are pieces of royal Meissen, of Bow, and of Rockingham.

Graceful, shallow shells of exquisite Italian alabaster can be used for fruit arrangements for the table, as can stunning large yellow porcelain ones of Royal Herend, Hungarian ware. One of the most irresistible items is a green conch shell of Italian majolica. What a grand container for flowers or an arrangement of grapes and little orange kumquats!

Endless patience and great skill went into the making of a number of shell encrusted objects: little boxes with hundreds of tiny shells set into the tops, a round white frame frosty with similar minute shells, and a large number of other Victorian objets d'art.

From California come coral gardens, decorative centerpieces fashioned of delicately tinted branches of coral and shells arranged in flat pottery containers. A craftsman in Chicago has carved some handsome shells of light woods. These, too, when filled with fruit make charming centerpieces.

And collectors of American pressed glass will delight in a number of lovely little shell shaped dishes and saucers. Until we saw this display we had not realized how shell minded people have been, right down from the 1700s to 1941.

Wax That New Linoleum; It's Better than Varnish!

Use wax, not varnish on new linoleum. Most linoleums are already finished and varnish will simply coat, not penetrate the linoleum. It will start peeling quickly and look generally messy. Wax it occasionally until the finish wears off, and then varnish may be applied.

How to Pick Wallpaper.

When there is a small or indefinite pattern on the walls, you may select a rug with large design. If the wall pattern is large, a small rug pattern is more frequently desirable.

Why not treat all materials that are used for exterior wall surfacings of our homes with a glazed finish which won't absorb dirt, and can be washed like a china dish? Mrs. T. H., Elgin, Ill.

When patching wall paper, I tear off what I need from roll instead of cutting it. This feathery edge doesn't show up as much as a straight one. Then, too, I always keep on hand a small box of water color paints, and after I've taken out some spot on wall paper I touch it up with water color to match. Elinor D., Chicago.

Why won't scientists devise some method of "canning flowers" for us in summer so we can enjoy them in winter? I read somewhere that a professor of botany in Australia did just that! E. M., Evanston, Ill.

My husband, who is quite a "tinker-er" around our house, installed a grand little help for me on the back of my pantry door. He attached to door two strips of spring steel, soldered together by a narrow rod between them. They make a handy container for paper bags—which one can always use and can't always find! L. May, Chicago.

We use door stops around our house and my oldest boy attached canvas loops to these wooden wedges. This makes it possible for me to slip my toe into loop and remove wedge when needed. Saves on my back bending.

When I get a tube of some material which is hard to squeeze out I slip end thru a regular clothespin and this turns the trick. Gives you a better grip on tube and a stronger one. Rachel G., Chicago.

As a help this coming hot weather why won't someone design women's purse bags with a small rotary fan attached to tiny motor and operated by electric battery in bag? G. A., Chicago.

Why not start small shops in all sizable cities where patrons could shave themselves, shine their own shoes, brush their clothes, and so on, for a small sum? Miss Eileen L., Racine, Wis.

I always save all the wax paper wrappers that come with my bread and my husband uses these for jobs around house and car He slips these over his wrist and clamps in place with elastic band. I even take some along on trips with us when he has to do something for car. Saves on cuffs! Mrs. E. M., Chicago.

Bold Patterns Favored for Dining Room Paper

Victorian furniture again has become fashionable for the dining room, but it does not follow that somber Victorian wall papers will return to favor. Rather, the new wall papers for dining rooms are styled to stimulate and brighten the appearance of this room. Bold patterns and striking colors in hundreds of combinations are popular. These are entirely suitable because of the brief periods during which the dining room is used and because of the definite lift cheerful surroundings are known to give at mealtimes.

For Pianissimo, Rug Under Piano Is Fine—but Not for Profundo!

Where greater volume is desired from a piano, there should be no carpet under the instrument. This is especially true of a grand, which gives off sound from the underside of its case. Conversely, in a small room a carpet under the piano will soften its tone and keep it from being too loud. A piano is first of all a musical instrument, so serious musicians frown upon placing any ornaments upon it. For those who take music more casually a vase or lamp is permissible. It is never good taste, however, to smother a piano with a miscellaneous assortment of bric-a-brac.

On the House

Glass accessories for small homes are appearing now in packaged form. . . . For example in these packages are various glass items such as plate glass mirrors, colored structural glass panels for use around bathtub, decorative glass panels for kitchen door and kitchen cabinets. . . . Of equal interest, too—the fact that glass accessories available today are surprisingly reasonable in price.

Beauty of Adult Teeth Is Result of Childhood Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Remember how proud you were, parents, of your offspring's first tooth? If it appeared any earlier than the sixth or the eighth month you were doubly proud, weren't you, and felt that your darling was pretty smart? Be just as smart yourselves. Give as much care and attention to every tooth that appears. Your child's appearance depends upon it.

Lower jaw teeth usually appear before upper jaw teeth, altho nature has no set rule about that. Some babies are fretful at the time of teething, while others take it all with a bill and a coo. However they take it, don't forget to have your doctor check up on the tooth situation, just as you have been having him look over the physical development.

While the teeth are coming thru give them help by having your little hopeful chew on a hard bread crust or sterilized teething ring. When your child is two, or two and a half years old all the first teeth should be in place. Start then to make the first of many periodical visits to the dentist.

The continued habit of thumb sucking, tongue biting, mouth breathing call for correction, otherwise teeth and jaw irregularities may result. When the child is old enough to brush his or her own teeth, make it easy to reach the bathroom washbowl by having substantial stool or platform of some kind to stand on. Encouragement in the eating of apples, fresh fruits, and vegetables [natural teeth cleansers and gum strengthening foods] is advisable.

Two Girls in His Life Keep Bill Whirling

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941 · By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

You have to be pretty smooth, young men, to keep two girls charmed at the same time. Take Bill's word for it. He is 23 and cannot make up his mind which of the two girls he likes best. Each has her strong points of appeal. Each is good looking. Each girl is smart and good company and, unfortunately for Bill, each girl refuses to accept other dates, awaiting the call from Bill.

He ran into a situation one evening recently in which each girl expected him to escort her to the same party. The result was that Bill had to originate an alibi to the effect that a much-loved aunt begged his company that evening. A similar situation looms ahead. Each girl has hinted her desire for his company for a certain community celebration.

But which girl, if either, is Bill's worry. He'll lose one this time for sure, he knows, the one he doesn't "date." To complicate matters further for Bill, each girl has in her wake another man ready and willing to hop in when Bill fails.

As it isn't likely the problem could be settled by inviting both girls to the affair, one girl's name will have to be taken out of the hat. Or, perhaps, it wouldn't be a bad idea to have a third girl's company for the evening, by way of encouraging the two to let other young men have their good company. It's got to happen some time, Bill. You can't keep them stringing along much longer. So why not give the girls a break by releasing them both from all hope concerning you?

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 26.—There's been much talk that Clark Gable's next, after "The Uniform," will be a technicolor remake of "Cimarron"—and it may well be. But Gable himself is hot for a story about a confidence man of the 1870s, titled "Honky-Tonk." Margaret Roberts is the author. Either rôle would be a natural for Gable. . . . Two of the recent flood disasters involved William S. Hart and Harpo Marx. The storeroom in which Hart keeps his films at his ranch was flooded, and for a while the star feared that his collection—which he intends to give to the museum of modern art in New York—was ruined. However, a cutter was brought from Hollywood to survey and repair the damage, and the only loss is one unimportant picture. Marx played a benefit on a recent stormy night—or tried to—and took his harp with him. Rain soaked into the case, loosening the strings, and there was no concert. . . . Tyrone Power's next, after "Blood and Sand," will be "A Yank in the R. A. F." The British air ministry has approved the script—which the studio says is plain adventure and not propaganda—and has assigned an R. A. F. captain as technical adviser. Incidentally, the Warners want Power for a picture and are offering to lend Jim Cagney to Fox in return.

Anna Lee, English actress who's playing opposite Ronald Colman in "My Life with Caroline," has been given a seven-year contract by Paramount. She's the wife of Director Robert Stevenson, who staged "Back Street." . . . Walter Huston and Thomas Mitchell are definitely set to play the Devil and Daniel Webster in Stephen Vincent Benet's long poem—but the studio has changed the title to "A Certain Mr. Scratch." Why? Well, the title business is one of the great Hollywood mysteries. "The Devil and Daniel Webster" has had some years of national fame—as a magazine piece, as a book, as an opera. You'd think that a title like that would have large cash value in a business which frequently spends large sums for titles alone—but you'd be wrong. I understand the studio's reasoning in settling on a new title was something like this: In the first place, there's a Jean Arthur film coming up called "The Devil and Miss Jones" and it would never do to confuse the public mind. In the second place, the name of Daniel Webster suggests a dictionary [even tho it was Noah Webster who wrote it] and it would never do to make the public think it was going to see something dull and educational.

For a bit in "Lady Be Good" Metro engaged a dancing dog. The animal was to appear for a flash with Eleanor Powell. But a lad in the property department took the dog in hand and taught it a long routine which is so good it will be filmed entirely. And the property lad has been promoted to the grade of technical assistant. Incidentally, the pooch doesn't like his dancing partner, Miss Powell. He yaps at her . . . and, on another Metro stage, they've got a parrot for a bit of gab in the Myrna Loy-William Powell "Love Crazy." Everybody talks to the parrot and everybody naturally says, "Polly want a cracker?" Powell came by and put the usual query. "No!" snapped the parrot. . . . Sammy Baugh, the pro footballer, gets the lead in Republic's "King of the Texas Rangers." There'll be nobody but Texans in the film, some of the shots may be made at the famous Kenedy-King ranch [one "n" in Kenedy is right]—and the première may be staged before congress in Washington under the auspices of Texan Jesse Jones.

Beauteous Hedy Finally Proves She Isn't Dumb

"COME LIVE WITH ME."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The beautiful Hedy, whose uninspired acting has bred a surmise that she might also be dumb, achieves a promising degree of animation in this comedy romance.

There lives not a woman—I would say—who could remain indifferent to the charms and, even, synthetic adoration of two such fascinating [in diversified ways!] males as Ian Hunter and James Stewart. . . . One, the complete sophisticate—whose attentions flatter. . . . The other—just Mother's LAMB—with a definite appeal to the maternal in Everywoman. . . . Certain it is that Hedy gets a kick from their performances—and shows it in her own.

She portrays a pretty Austrian who has overstayed her leave in the United States and finds herself hard put to do something about it. She can't marry the delightful publisher, Barton Kendrick, who is nuts about her, on account of his being married. True, he and his wife have a pleasant understanding which enables them to cavort in alien pastures, returning comfortably to their own when desiring, confident that there will be no barbed wire entanglements. But the tie that binds is still there. . . . So—as how the picture shall show you, Johnny Jones, weds the struggling young author, Bill Smith, who—to make a could-be-long review short, shows her that all which glitters isn't gold, and makes a nice, comfy—and, of course, glamorous, farm loving wife out of her.

There are a number of amusing and "different" sequences. . . . You'll like the one in the park in which Donald Meek, as Joe Darsie, a bum, asks Bill for money for a cup of coffee, and, finding there ain't no such animal as a dime in Bill's pocket, pulls out a roll and proffers a dollar. . . . Then Verree Teasdale is rich—and pretty appealing—in a couple of scenes with her husband, whom, you feel sure, she really deeply loves. . . . There's a swell pow wow between Johnny's two admirers in Kendrick's office, too. And note the lady who plays Grandma! ALSO—who's the handsome doorman!

The piece is smartly caparisoned and was directed with zip.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Beautiful shoulders, back and arms are surprisingly rare, as you'll discover if you look rather closely at any group of women in evening dress.

Backs, to be a real beauty asset, should be white, smooth skinned and neither too well nor too meagerly padded. The same is true of arms. The smart woman, who knows that the contour of her arms is imperfect and that the line and the skin of her back are far from flawless, can always wear gowns that are in the "cover-up" tradition—very good, and very flattering, too. Or she can go in for some intensive beauty care that will remedy the situation once and for all.

We feel that specialized reducing, to change the measurements of certain areas, is better accomplished with professional help. Home efforts are hard and tedious, and it's probably because they are that most women give up on them after a few days. Regular appointments at a salon, to say nothing of the scientific treatments obtained there, are the best solution.

But the skin of back and arms is easily improved at home. If it's dingy and flaky it needs toning up. A mild soap, a stiff back brush, and regular spraying with alternately hot and cold water combine to step up the circulation. Regular creaming will smooth the skin. Even pimples and blackheads will probably disappear if you give the skin of the back the kind of care that includes stimulation and exquisite cleansing.

Beauty doesn't stop at the chin line. If you are going to display your shoulders and back be sure that they're beautiful, too. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Blames Modern Industry for Home Breakup

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 26 (AP).—A complaint that modern industry disrupted American home life was made before the American Association of School Administrators today by President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt of Mills college [California].

"Our country's ingenuity of mind," she said, "has developed capacity to produce things faster than the ability of the average family to find money to pay for them.

"The factory, when it took all fundamental tasks from the home, left there idle hands, restless minds, and illogical passions for ownership.

"The family has suffered in its adjustment to the factory. Our villages and towns have lost significance, as manufacturing is considered more important than breeding fine citizens.

"The movement from countryside to cities has become wave on wave migration. The emptying of houses to small apartments is a continental phenomenon. Gardens have shrunk to window boxes, and nurseries are to be found only in certain kinds of schools."

"Cable, telephone, and radio threaten the individual's right to privacy and his capacity and opportunity to think. Unless the citizen becomes master and not victim of modern communication, another human right may have to be written into the constitution, along with those of free speech and free press. I speak of the right to be silent, on the one hand, and the right to refuse to listen, on the other."

Hat-Handbag Duet Is Newest Spring Conceit

BY REA SEEGER.

Spring fashions have taken over the town! Supercollections of straw hats, small, wide, large, or high, flowered confections that look like florist's displays, and prize assortments of hat and companion handbag are daily taking the money from susceptible shoppers. These hat and bag duets are sensational finds at this time, because of the lilting new pastels, dazzling striped materials, and the bold color contrasts.

Taffeta is a most successful material. There's a stunning black and white pattern used for a huge wide brimmed hat and a large bag that is perfect for a slim black suit or with a dark dress topped with a short fur jacket.

Roguish shallow-brimmed sailors also come covered with taffeta in dots, stripes, and plaids. Smart, slim envelope bags to match pair for the best costume accents known to the shopping crowd. Taffeta is an in-between season material unequaled for practical wearing qualities in all sorts of weather.

Dark straw hats have printed silk accents, a band swathed high over the forehead or a skull wrapper arrangement with short ends at the side. Side tassels of color is another way of gaining a color contrast that is repeated in a band trim of the bag, or straps or lining.

Gay floral prints, using strong clash of color, are eye-catching finds for spiking up a dull wardrobe and these are used for hats as well as bags, while some of the sultriest color combines ever imagined come in variegated striped materials used diagonally, horizontally or in double crossed formations in large bag and hat.

If you've craved a hat and bag duet this is the time to own one for extremely interesting and modest prices.

Lent Day by Day cannot overlook Mark Love's contribution to Chicago's Lenten devotions in his presentation of Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah," beginning Saturday night at the Auditorium theater. Religious leaders of all faiths who saw the preview were enthusiastic about the religious values of the production which makes use of Chicago's artistic talent.

Bishop Bernard J. Shell has written to Catholic priests of the city as follows:

"I would very much appreciate your bringing to the attention of your people and your friends the presentation of 'Elijah' from March 1 to March 9 at the Auditorium theater. Its success over a long period in many other cities assures its merit and its value especially from the standpoint of religion. You will especially observe and appreciate the very moderate admission charge."

From Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago:

"I believe the dramatic production of 'Elijah' will be a very great service to thousands of people. I believe that there is no question but that the church people generally will be happy over this."

From the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, president of the Chicago Church federation:

"The great Old Testament scene of 'Elijah' in its setting of inspirational music presented with soul quickening action lays a much needed background of moral teaching and spiritual heroism for our day."

From Rabbi Jacob Singer, president of the Chicago Rabbinical association:

"With that notable oratorio, 'Elijah,' presented in a dignified and dramatic manner, we are able to realize the Psalmist's words who sang, 'Worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.' I can assure you that the members of this association will lend every moral support."

Mr. Love, W-G-N artist, has associated with him in the production some of Chicago's best known artists, including Harry P. Carlson, Naomi Cook, Raymund Koch, Edgar Nelson, Frank Bennett, and J. Wesley Jones.

Parents Reveal Engagement of Theodosia Burr

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANTIC news of interest to Chicagoans which presages another military wedding in the near future comes from Fort Bliss, Tex. Col. and Mrs. Charles Cutler Dawes of Barrington announced yesterday the engagement of Mrs. Dawes' daughter, Miss Theodosia Burr, to Lieut. James H. Pittman of Atco, N. J. Col. Dawes is commander of the 202d coast artillery regiment of the Illinois National Guard and is stationed at Fort Bliss. Mrs. Dawes and Miss Burr joined him shortly after the first of the year.

Miss Burr attended Bennington college. Lieut. Pittman was graduated from West Point last June. As an officer in the 7th cavalry he also is stationed at Fort Bliss.

Our Roving Correspondent Reports from Miami Beach.

Our special roving correspondent in Florida, who is now in Miami Beach, sends word that she would not have missed being at Hialeah Park last Saturday for anything, but that neither for anything would she soon again get into another such mob. Twenty-nine thousand five hundred forty-one persons crowded into a grand stand and clubhouse that comfortably would accommodate about 20 thousand, she reports.

The only ones who were at all comfortable were the few who had box seats, and perhaps the Eugene B. Clarks and the Weymouth Kirklands, a quartet of Chicagoans who sat at a table on the Hialeah club terrace. They were around at the side and back where they couldn't see the track but where they weren't trampled upon and pushed and jostled. It was difficult to reach a mutuel window, our correspondent adds, and several times she was unsuccessful, which was just as well, perhaps.

Chicagoans Are Winners of the Daily Double.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, Mrs. Edward Kelly and Mayor Kelly, who were luncheon guests of the John S. Knights of Miami and Akron, were feeling more than pleased as they had won the daily double.

In an adjoining box sat two other Chicagoans, Mrs. Charles McCulloch and Mrs. Eugene McDonald Jr. Mrs. McCulloch was in an all white costume and Mrs. McDonald was lovely in a dark blue silk suit, polka dotted in white, and a huge pale pink off-the-face hat. As the sun grew warm, she removed her coat to reveal a dainty lingerie blouse. Mrs. McDonald gave a dinner Tuesday at her home in North Bay road for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bauer.

The Chicago horse owners have their boxes in the Hialeah club together, and the John D. Hertzes sit next to the McCullochs. Not far away sits another Chicagoan, Mrs. Herbert W. Young, who has a beautiful house in Miami. The Hertzes, the McCullochs, the Wrights, and the McDonalds all live in Miami Beach.

Members of the Bath club will be turning out tonight to fête Fred A. Poor of Chicago. Mr. Poor is retiring as president after 14 years of service. Mrs. David J. Molloy is among the members of the committee that planned tonight's dinner-dance for Mr. Poor.

English Speaking Union Having Two Special Guests.

Two special guests will be entertained by the English Speaking union at tea at the Arts club this afternoon. Besides Dr. Winifred Clara Cullis, who will discuss "This War of Nerves," Mrs. Pat Beauchamp Washington will attend the tea. Mrs. Washington was to have been the speaker at a meeting of the union recently, but illness prevented her filling the engagement.

Dr. Cullis, who has an honorary title in the commander order of the British empire for her service in English education work, will be the guest of Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister during her stay in Chicago.

Among those who will assist at the tea tables this afternoon are Mrs. Frank Hixon, Dr. Mary Lee, Mrs. George S. Spaulding, Miss Eloise

Rolling along toward Florida . . . four people in a Plymouth, first night . . . Terre Haute where a baby cried next door and Dot and I rolled like two logs in a concrete mixer . . . waffles for breakfast . . . indigestion for lunch. Second afternoon, called on friends in old Kentucky . . . high ceilings, long windows, hour glass furniture, wood burning fireplaces, southern accents, tradition . . . they might as well have seceded, it's another land. That night in Murfreesboro, Tenn. . . . the town square, quaint street lights, pretty gals with lovely limbs, a variety store. Marchin' thru Georgia . . . red clay, beautiful red clay, rivers that look like blood, pines, tapped groves. Macon . . . the dark city . . . fried chicken served by pretty chickens, and how those Yankee men love those soft southern answers, be they yes or no. Valdosta, Ga. . . . an auto court . . . do we like 'em . . . neat, clean, inexpensive, just like a nice hotel, only you drive right up and walk in [no bellboys to tip].

Finally Florida . . . flat land, tall broom-bush pines, scrubby palms, good roads . . . Daytona Beach where we drive like mad along the hard white sand, pretending we were Sir Malcolm. Palm Beach and a good fish dinner, and finally Miami at night . . . Early one morning, we weep as we leave this paradise and we set out on the Tamiami trail—a treacherous 75 mile road with a deep canal on either side . . . at intervals we pass Seminole Indian villages . . . turkey-buzzards fly about, air plants nest on trees, white egrets with long needle-like necks stalk or swoop about the swamp . . . on up the west coast, Georgia and red mud, a dandy little auto court at Hopkinsville, Ga., on my mind, then Alabama . . . Montgomery, the capital, reeking with beautiful old southern homes and a million Scarlett O'Haras . . . cotton, red clay, little pickininnies on the steps of unpainted shanties.

Six hundred miles on Saturday . . . we played games to keep awake . . . we named pigs . . . Duroc Jersey, Poland Chinas, Hampshires . . . and cows, too . . . Herefords and all.

And finally we come to Crown Point [only no one can stand up, so we don't get married].

What do we smell . . . orange blossoms? No . . . Whiting, Ind. What do we see? Banyan trees? No . . . steel mills . . . smoke . . . snow . . . ice . . . any one who lives here is crazy, we argue . . . the Lord didn't make us to live among buildings in cold dirt . . . we were meant to live out of doors and to live by what we make with our hands.

"Still very young, aren't you, Ellie? That's all right. I'm patient. I can wait. And you'll wake up, some day."

In panic, she started to open the door, but he reached across her and pulled her hand away.

"Don't be silly, dear child! I'm not going to hurt you." He was bland. "I'm very fond of you—and you're going to like me, too, some day."

"I hate you!" She hurled the words at him. "And I hate my father too!"

"You'll change your mind," he prophesied. "We're going to make you a rich woman, you know."

"I don't want to be rich. I don't want anything that you can give me."

"I can give you love, my pretty—and some day you will want that and be grateful for it."

"I won't. I won't! Not from you—never."

"We needn't quarrel about it, need we? Here's the hotel. Have a nice lunch," while I'm having a fight to save what you have from Gertrude." He helped her out, making a gallant show, and followed her into the little lobby. "Miss Dane—to see Mrs. Abney," he told the man behind the desk.

"She was expecting Miss Greenlee."

"Slight error in names. Miss Dane is the person she was expecting."

"Mrs. Abney said for Miss Greenlee to come up to her room. It's 211. She's up there now. Right up those stairs and to the right."

"I'll be waiting here for you at half past two," Steele Dunlap said as Storm turned away.

She did not answer. Anger was tight and hot in her throat, her tongue tasted like copper, she held her lip in her teeth, as she went up the flight of oilcloth covered steps, and around a stuffy corridor to knock at a brown painted door.

The door opened, and she stood for an instant, staring in confusion.

"O," she gasped.

"Come in, Storm," said Dan McCullough.

There was no one else in the room. McCullough closed the door.

"I have something that belongs to you," McCullough said, "Beatrice Abney invented this ruse to get you away, so that I could give it to you."

In his hands he held out to her a rusty, black-painted tin box.

"Harp left this to you—in his will," McCullough went on. "It came into my possession by accident and I think it's important. You'll have to break the lock. There is no key."

. . . .

Beatrice Abney rode thru the hills in a heavy old black sedan, driven by a talkative Texan in a wide hat.

She had stolen down the back stairs of the hotel and out a service door, rather enjoying her rôle as conspirator, pleased with her success at having gotten Storm away from these men who guarded her so carefully. McCullough had come quickly, when she telephoned, and she had left him in her room, cautioning him not to show himself in the hotel till after his meeting with Storm.

"This is probably very shocking, Mac, leaving you unchaperoned like this, but it's your only chance. And after you've opened the box you'll undoubtedly know what to do, from then on. I'm going back to see Francis alone. If he turns me out again——"

"Don't give up, Mrs. Abney, give him time. And I suppose you know how I appreciate all this——"

"Yes, I know. I'm stealing out thru the rear. I don't want to see Steele Dunlap—or the Chase woman. By the way, your message about her went to New York this morning. The girl in the telegraph office stared at me when I sent it. I think she believes I'm a female detective in disguise."

Now, with the wild, rough empty land on either side, she bounced along a gravel road, held her breath when the car swooped into a deep depression to ford the rolling shallow river, listening absently to the amiable conversation of her driver.

Hump Dane, so this long person retailed, in his engaging drawl, had a scheme to build a big canal out here on the river, and run water all over the valley.

"Figuring to make him some money out of it—get the government into it and sell bonds, I heard. He's got it all worked out so he gets the big end, or Hump wouldn't be doing it. Hump Dane never done anything in his life unless it paid him plenty."

"He's not popular here in the county, then?" Beatrice inquired.

"No'm—Dane ain't never been popular. Folks don't trust him much. But old Greenlee—people liked him till he went off to New York and got to fooling with women and putting on too much dog, for a cattle and sheep man. The two of 'em, they owned most of this county—fightin' each other all the time."

"Them there's Greenlee's stock," the driver said, "They tell in town that Dane's got everything Greenlee owned now. Stole it one way or another, I'll bet."

"Harp Greenlee willed it to Dane's daughter," Beatrice said.

"Yeah—I heard that. Nobody knew Dane had a daughter. He sure kept her hid, a long time. Till she inherited a lot of property." The car turned from the gravel road into a little, narrow, difficult track. "Don't know can I make it all the way to Abney's place. Nobody uses this road but him—and it ain't worked any. You might have to walk a piece. Funny thing, Abney living up here all these years in that herder's house. Smart feller too, they say, when he lets liquor alone. Sociable some times. Then again he rides alone and don't notice nobody."

The little jacal, with its adobe walls, its low chimney and roof of thatch and sticks, looked mean and forlorn and lonely, in the straight white light of the sun. The yard was bare, a muddy space trampled and rutted. Thin smoke waved from the chimney.

"Somebody home," remarked the driver. "You want me to wait for you?"

"Yes—perhaps you'd better wait," Beatrice said a trifle dubiously.

There was no sign of life in the adobe house, and the door was not locked. Beatrice opened it quietly, stood without speaking. In the middle of the low room Abney, in the faded old bathrobe, stood before a tall canvas.

Beatrice closed the door. Her face was pale, too, above her soft fur collar, beneath the small, smart hat.

"I came back, Francis," she said, gently, "I could not go away. I had to come back."

She saw his throat quiver a little, but he did not speak. Paint was fresh on his knuckles, his eyes had a hollow and desolate look, as tho he had not slept for a long time. She took a step further into the room, looked at the picture on the easel, her heart giving a queer, tortured jerk, raw pain running like fire thru her veins.

For there, on the long canvas, was the beginning of a portrait. An angular, young body meagrely sketched in. Only one hand complete—and the face. The face of a youth, eager, half-adolescent, half mature, with the dreams and the impatience of youth lighting it, the intolerances of youth and youth's uncertainty pointing the features—features that were an odd, amazing mingling of faces that she knew. Her own cool, proud brow, and under it the quick, insolent brilliance, of Francis Abney's eyes. His imperious nose and her mouth, strong and calm above a serene chin. Dark hair, a little long in front of the ears, to mirror Francis' slightly Latin look.

In "More Than a Secretary" we believe we have found one of our gayest comedy revivals. For it has been briskly acted, and unravels its clever story with more dash than many a "colossal" film. Besides, you'll find Jean Arthur and George Brent most attractive as the leads.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Feb. 27, 1941.

Universal day—A progressive day for those who are well balanced and who go after things confidently.

March—The universal number for this coming month is nine, so general events will fall under this influence and since we are all restricted or limited by the universal vibrations, we must not forget what the general picture is when we read our own monthly prospects. If the general atmosphere will be emotional and explosive, then we know that no matter what our own number for the month, we must keep in mind the dangers of temperament running riot. We may be quite calm ourselves, but we may find other people rather difficult, and if the general feeling in the air is one of climax, disintegration, and a breaking up of relationships, we may find the cementing of friendship, forming partnerships, etc., less successful than at other times.

Cupcakes which may be mixed and baked in a short time are a convenient kind of dessert, and one pleasing to the family. There's something a bit flattering about an individual dessert such as a cupcake. It's as tho it had been baked separately and especially for the person to whom it is served.

Sour cream cupcakes are an old-fashioned dessert, which used to appear on the family table every time there was an accumulation of thick, rich cream which had soured before it could be used. Don't try to make these cakes with any but home soured cream. The culture soured cream has an adverse effect upon the texture of cakes.

Sour Cream Cupcakes.
[One Dozen.]
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs, beaten
1½ cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt

Beat eggs and cream together. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt several times and add to cream mixture. Beat batter smooth. Fill greased cupcake pans two-thirds full and bake at 375 degrees until done, about 25 minutes. Serve the cakes warm or cold, frosted with a simple icing, or with a fruit or chocolate sauce.

Plain Cupcakes.
[One and One-half Dozen Small Ones.]
1⅔ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon lemon extract.

Sift flour with baking powder. Cream butter and sugar until light. Add eggs and mix well. Add flour alternately with milk, beating batter smooth after each addition. Add flavoring. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

Spiced Banana Cupcakes.
[One Dozen.]
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cloves
⅜ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup butter, margarine or other shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup mashed bananas

Sift flour with baking powder, soda, salt, and spices. Cream shortening and sugar until light. Add egg and beat until fluffy. Add vanilla. Alternately add flour mixture and bananas, beating batter smooth after each addition. Bake in greased pans at 375 degrees about 25 minutes. Mix 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup brown sugar, and ½ cup finely chopped nuts. When cakes are done, sprinkle with this mixture and return to the oven for two minutes.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

This week's column has been devoted to the subject of responding to an opening suit bid of one. I already have told what to do when, as the responder, you hold from no honor trick up to one and one-half honor tricks. Now let us take up stronger hands.

Suppose your partner opens the bidding with one in a suit and you hold two honor tricks or slightly better. You should choose from the following orthodox responses: Take out to one in a biddable suit. Example: Partner has bid one diamond and you hold

Your correct response is one spade, not one no trump. If you have a five card or longer suit it is all right to name it, even at the two level. Example: Partner bids one spade and you hold

♠73 ♥A10852 ♦A63 ♣J54

Your proper response is two hearts. If, however, your deuce of hearts were the deuce of spades, leaving you with only a four card heart suit, your proper response would be one no trump.

With two honor tricks and adequate trump support your best response may well be a single raise. Example: Partner bids one heart and you hold

♠52 ♥K653 ♦A742 ♣K85

Your best response is two hearts.

Finally, when no suit response or raise is available you should respond with one no trump. Example: Partner has bid one spade and you hold

♠543 ♥AJ6 ♦K632 ♣Q54

Tomorrow I will tell you what you should do as responder when you hold better than two honor tricks.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding was beyond criticism. South properly refused to be shut out with such powerful playing strength in the higher ranking major suit, and East naturally felt that his ace-king of spades would be more valuable against a spade contract than in support of hearts.

The king of hearts was the opening lead. Dummy won and promptly led a trump. East went up with the king and, deciding that his best defense was to try for a diamond ruff, returned his singleton diamond. From that time declarer was playing a lost cause. He won with the diamond ace and led another spade, but East won with the ace and now shifted to the queen of clubs. West smothered the king and returned a diamond for East's ruff and setting trick.

The declarer should have seen that the one chance of losing the contract lay in the possibility of a diamond ruff. It could cost him nothing to guard against such a ruff by knocking out what might well be a vital entry in one of the defenders' hands. Thus his first play, after winning with the heart ace, should have been a club to his singleton king. Had he done this there would have been no defense. East never could have reached his partner's hand after getting rid of his singleton diamond.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

When Sarah Bernhardt dined at Rector's, what did she enthuse over? Not the beruffled dishes for which our imported chefs were imported. But griddle cakes and sausages—"so teepical Americaine"! Because of the sweet, juicy pork used and the special herb seasoning, Rector's sausages were the aristocrats of the pork world. Today a visiting celebrity could get as big a taste thrill from Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. For these sausages are made of choice pork, expertly seasoned.

George Rector
Food Consultant, Wilson & Co.

FIRESIDE MEAL

The idea is to desert your regular dining place for the most comfortable spot in your house. It may be beside the fireplace or in a sunny alcove. Spread table or tables informally there and serve:

Hot Spiced Fruit Cup*
†Spinach Ring with Hominy and Fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages
Water-cress and Grapefruit Salad with Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise
‡Whipped Cream Angel Food Cake

*To make fruit cup, simmer 1 dozen cloves, 2 sticks cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg in 1 qt. canned fruit juice for five minutes. Strain and serve piping hot.

†SPINACH RING

To 4 cups finely chopped spinach add ½ cup Clear Brook Butter, and ¾ teaspoon salt. Press into buttered ring mold. Keep hot. Unmold onto hot platter. Fill center of this Spinach Ring with hot seasoned hominy. On top of the hominy arrange 1 dozen fried Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links.

‡WHIPPED CREAM ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Into 1 cup of cream, stiffly whipped, fold carefully the beaten whites of 3 Clear Brook Eggs. Add ½ cup water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Then add 2 cups of flour which have been sifted three times with 1½ cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Bake in layers at 350° F. for about 30 minutes. Use lemon filling and icing.

BIG MOMENTS WITH LITTLE SAUSAGES

Fry Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links. Slice into half-inch rounds. Add to cream soups!

HAM HIT OF THE WEEK

Tucked warmly away in the memory of lots of us is the rich smoke flavor that a ham had when it was home-cured in the old smokehouse. Believe it or not, the flavor of Wilson's Certified Tender Extra Mild Smoked Ham is even more delicious and the ham is more tender, juicier and milder. Fry several slices for dinner tonight.

Don't Be Fat!

No Strict Diet Lists; No Strenuous Exercises; No Distasteful Drugs

IN every section of the country today, women have marveled at the wonders of a safe, easy reducing method—which requires no strict diet lists; no strenuous exercises; no drugs. Increases energy as weight goes down. It's the identical method Dr. Damrau of New York used in tests among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, and was responsible for an average loss in weight of 7 pounds per month.

Unbelievably Easy to Follow

All you do is mix ¾ glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—which means you avoid overeating; thus reducing caloric intake considerably. Then this happens: First, this delicious drink satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to overeat fattening foods—but you never suffer a hungry moment. Second, the natural dextrose in Welch's is quickly consumed, and by this process not only aids nature in consuming excess fat but also increases your energy.

That is why weight is lost naturally; why you not only look better but actually feel better; have more energy. And this proved method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men, as it is for overweight women.

Do This One Important Thing!

There is only one thing to watch—eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating, and be sure to use only genuine Welch's Grape Juice, selected by Dr. Damrau in his convincing test. Welch's is always full strength. It contains full measure of natural dextrose which is so important. And because Welch's is always full strength, it is delicious when diluted—very economical to use. Start this proved reducing method today and watch your energy go up as your weight goes down.

SENSATIONAL FACTS ABOUT AMAZING WELCH WAY TO REDUCE

Dr. Frederic Damrau of New York made a revealing test on a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed his instructions implicitly. By following this simple, pleasant Welch Way to reduce, these people lost an average of 7 pounds per month. Chart at right shows actual weight loss registered. Sworn statement below verifies all claims made for this reducing method.

"I hereby certify that I have interviewed Dr. Frederic Damrau of 247 Park Avenue, New York, with reference to the Welch reducing test conducted under his supervision. I have also reviewed his scientific records and case reports. To the best of my knowledge and belief, based on the accuracy of Dr. Damrau's records and statements, the facts concerning this reducing test and the chart of average weight reductions are substantially correct."

FIVE ANNENBERG ASSOCIATES WIN TRIAL REVERSAL

Appeals Court Sends Back Income Tax Case.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a verdict in the federal District court under which five former associates of Moses L. Annenberg were found guilty of evading corporate income taxes of the Consensus Publishing company, of which they were officers. The case was remanded to the District court for further action.

District Attorney J. Albert Woll announced he would ask the appeals court for a rehearing. He would not comment further on the case, which was tried before he was in office.

Defendants and Sentences.

The defendants and the sentences imposed on them were: William Molasky, a year and a day in prison and a $10,000 fine; James M. Ragen, a year and a day and a $10,000 fine; James M. Ragen Jr., a $1,000 fine; Arnold W. Kruse, 18 months and a $10,000 fine, and his son, Lester A. Kruse, a $1,000 fine.

Molasky was president of the company, which published rundown sheets used by bookmakers to post probable track odds. Ragen was head of the Nationwide News service, from which Annenberg derived huge profits for serving books with information. Annenberg is now serving a prison term for personal income tax evasion and the service has been dissolved.

Judge Kerner Dissents.

Judges J. Earl Major and Charles W. Briggle concurred in the decision yesterday. Judge Otto Kerner dissented. Judge Major's majority opinion held that the government's theory in the trial—that the defendants had rendered no managerial services of value and took their profits from the business in the form of dividends—was "incredible." To strengthen this point, he recalled that the defendants took over a company that was losing money and made it a financial success.

He objected to the instructions given the jury by Judge Walter C. Lindley as inconsistent with the indictment. He said it "clothed the jury with the right to determine what part of the funds received by the defendants were a distribution of profits and what profits were to be deemed reasonable compensation for services."

Middle Aged Holdup Man Nervously Robs a Bank

Mineola, N. Y., Feb. 26 [Special].—Thomas M. Gallagher, 31 years old, was charged with first degree manslaughter tonight after he admitted shooting John Gormley to death last night in the home of Mrs. Mary Gerken at Russell Gardens, Long Island.

Mrs. Mary Gerken. [A. P. wirephoto.]

Gallagher is the son of a prosperous New York contractor. Gormley, who was 34, was the owner of riding academies in Great Neck and Flushing. He was head of the mounted police at the New York world's fair.

Police said there had been an allday party at the home of Mrs. Gerken, whose husband was in Hot Springs, Ark. Mrs. Gerken asked Gallagher to send Gormley and another man home. Gallagher spoke to the other guests and then followed Mrs. Gerken up to her bedroom, according to the police. Gormley insisted on telling his hostess good night. Gallagher said he locked the door and fired when Gormley kicked it in. Mrs. Gerken was held on a $5,000 bond as a witness.

DONNELL TAKES MISSOURI HELM SIX WEEKS LATE

Republican Takes Oath as 40th Governor.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—Forrest C. Donnell was inaugurated Missouri's 40th governor at 12:04 p. m. today—the first Republican to crack the capitol's Democratic ranks since the Roosevelt landslide in 1932.

The St. Louis attorney took office more than six weeks after the regular Jan. 13 date because a Democratic dominated legislature refused to certify his election, charging fraud.

Contest Is Planned.

Donnell, victor by 3,613 votes over Lawrence McDaniel by the official count, petitioned the Supreme court for the office and the court of seven Democrats ruled that he must be seated. McDaniel plans a contest.

Boos mingled with cheers when Attorney General Roy McKittrick was introduced to the joint session of the assembly. He handled the legislature's Supreme court fight, which sought to keep Donnell from office.

Two Bibles Used.

The new governor took the oath on two family Bibles. Both were opened at the 14th verse of the 19th Psalm which reads:

"Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in Thy sight, Oh Lord, my strength and my redeemer."

The actual oath of office was the high point of a day packed with traditional functions. There were official and military receptions for the state's new first family later in the day and the capital city's four year fête day was concluded tonight with the inaugural ball in the rotunda.

HE KICKS WIFE; SHE CONKS HIM, AND SHE IS GRANTED DIVORCE

When Gottfried Schindler kicked his wife, Rose, that was cruelty, her attorney argued yesterday. But when she conked him over the head with a beer bottle, gashing his scalp, that, the lawyer contended, was a trifling incident unworthy of Judge Rudolph Desort's notice.

To support his point the attorney, Victor Frohlich, cited an old Illinois Supreme court decision which termed "insignificant" and "trifling" the actions of a wife who tossed chairs, an iron stove cover, a stone ornament, and several cuspidors at her husband, seriously injuring him.

Mrs. Schindler, who is 46 years old and lives at 6753 South Wood street, said she hit her husband, a railroad switchman, with the beer bottle after she saw another woman in a tavern throwing drinks at him. Judge Desort granted her a divorce on the ground of cruelty, approving a settlement of $500 cash and $12 a week.

JUSTICE SMILES AGAIN FOR MAN IT PUSHED ABOUT

Jasper Trapiani yesterday won the freedom for which he has been fighting since Feb. 4. Mrs. Virginia Angeletti, owner of a beauty shop at 204 South California avenue, identified him in Felony court as one of two men who robbed her on Jan. 13, but Judge Charles Dougherty released Trapiani from jail when three policemen said she had not been certain of the identification earlier.

Trapiani, who lives at 555 Blackhawk street and has served two Bridewell sentences for gun toting, surrendered to Rogers Park police Feb. 4 when he heard they were hunting him. Five of six women held up in a beauty shop at 1409 Howard street on Jan. 11 said he was the robber, but the sixth said he was not.

He was freed in this case Tuesday when another man admitted the robbery. Then he was arrested on Mrs. Angeletti's complaint, which Judge Dougherty dismissed yesterday.

City Council Gets Proposal for an Airport Fire Station

The city council received a recommendation yesterday that a fire station be maintained at Chicago airport. Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], who made the recommendation, recalled that a milk wagon driver was killed recently in a collision with a fire truck responding to an alarm at the airport. Two firemen were injured. "Possibly the air line companies should maintain a fire department," commented Mayor Kelly.

SIX CHICAGOANS REACH GOLDEN GLOVES FINALS

HACK, RUSSELL SIGN AS CUBS OPEN TRAINING

Six Miss the Boat to Catalina.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 26.—The Cubs' list of unsigned players was reduced to six today, but not until after the squad—minus six men—had disembarked from the steamer Avalon and held its first practice.

Stan Hack, given passage even tho he lacked a signed contract, and Rip Russell, a member of the welcoming committee at the Avalon dock, attached their names to contracts during the afternoon—too late for the practice.

Missing from General Manager James Gallagher's party aboard the Avalon, however, were the following:

Bill Lee, not so long ago a great pitcher and two years ago the team's highest salaried player, who didn't come to California.

Root Conspicuously Absent.

Charley Root, veteran of 15 Catalina sailings without ever missing the boat, but who missed it today.

Claude Passeau, 20 game winner last season, signed but strangely missing. Probably lost some place between Mississippi and California.

Those are the gents who were left on the mainland. But there was another unsigned fellow waiting here when the boat landed. It was Vern Olsen, sophomore lefty, who is reticent with the fountain pen, but beat the Cub passport rule by coming over here last Sunday.

General Manager Gallagher held brief and altogether futile conferences with the two Los Angeles Lous, Novikoff and Stringer, between the time he arrived in Los Angeles at 8:45 o'clock this morning and sailing time at Wilmington at 10:10 o'clock.

Won't Play "for Peanuts."

Novikoff broke up his end of the conference with the announcement that he "was not going to break his heart for peanuts."

Stringer, who was supposed to have indicated he was ready to sign at boatside, did no such thing. Los Angeles friends have said he wants a juicy contract based on the contingency that he plays 100 games at second base. The Cubs have said they have offered no fancy or tricky documents this year.

But so much for absentees now officially rated as holdouts.

Most conspicuous of those present was Dizzy Dean. Diz never has looked in such fine shape as at present, pre or midseason.

At one time last National league season Diz weighed 217. Today he scaled at 194.

French in Shape.

For two years observers have contended that lack of playing condition generally was as much his trouble as a specific arm ailment. Today Dean himself subscribed to this theory for the first time. We'll watch what he's going to do about it.

Larry French was another who appeared in exceptional shape. In fact, there wasn't a real fatty in the party.

Manager Jimmy Wilson was at the dock to greet his stalwarts. Previously he had sent word to the mainland that there would be a workout this afternoon. There was, but mostly for photographic purposes. Coach Dick Spalding's glasses were the first casualty. They were shattered five minutes after practice started.

One Afternoon.

You walked out of my life one afternoon
When all the trees were redolent with bloom,
Leaving the sunny fields of happy June
Robed in habiliments of deepest gloom;
Since then the song bird has a plaintive call,
The rose's breath is like an anodyne,
And life has all the bitterness of gall
Which on a time was sweet as purple wine.

Would that some one had told me long ago
That my poor world was circumscribed by you,
That sun and moon and stars were but the glow
Reflected from your eyes of azure blue;
I should have crouched a beggar at your door,

THERE'S A RUMOR THAT DYKES MAY FINALLY 'RETIRE'

At 44 He Thinks Maybe It's About Time.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 26.—James Dykes, the White Sox manager, finally is beginning to suspect it may be necessary to fire James Dykes, the ball player. It simply is a case of there being so many infielders good enough to retain that there may not be any room on the roster for Dykes, the player, who, after all, has been only an ornament for the last couple of seasons.

The big retirement from the active list, if it comes at all, may not take place until May 15, the deadline for reducing the squad, but the manager, while watching his squad train today, admitted the thought already was running thru his mind.

Ol' Rockin' Chair's Got Him.

And the manager's camp conduct indicates the thought is serious. He just sits around, either in his clubhouse rocking chair or on a wooden bench on the field. Thus far he hasn't even appeared in full baseball attire. So at the age of 44, Dykes really must be getting old.

Dykes had his last fling at heavy work three seasons ago. Injuries exhausted the supply of Sox infielders, leaving the manager the sole available extra. There was a string of double headers coming up and somebody had to play second base. Dykes played 15 games in eight days. For a while every drive bounced nicely for the aged gentleman and he was quite proud of himself.

Soon, however, the bad hops started. Dykes fought 'em to the best of his ability. Then at Philadelphia he managed to snare a wicked grounder. As he turned to make the throw, he fell flat on the seat of his pants. That's what started him to thinking his number was up. It was, but he's been a long time doing anything about it.

Kolloway Is Question.

By removing himself from the active ranks, Dykes would be able to carry three spare infielders without being forced to limit his outfield, pitching, and catching corps. Thus he would have Dario Lodigiani backing up Bob Kennedy at third if necessary, Jim Webb for Luke Appling at short and Don Kolloway for Bill Knickerbocker at second. Kolloway, of course, isn't completely out of the running for the second base job, but there seems to be some fear that he won't hit enough and that a weak throwing arm might handicap his fielding. More will be known about his arm after a few exhibition games.

The drill today wasn't exactly what it might have been had the field been solid under foot. But it was good enough to suit the boss, who was lenient about everything except the running exercises. That's the one bit of training most ball players detest.

Some Batting Today.

The daily running won't seem so bad to the boys tomorrow, and thereafter, because it will be flavored with batting practice. Some of the kid pitchers who were in good trim when they reported will do the serving.

Because the exhibition schedule is so well filled, Dykes has made his pupils happy with an announcement that there will be no work next Sunday This also is a break for the regulars who, being due Saturday, will cut in on a vacation after one workout. Dykes doesn't want his athletes all fagged out before the season starts. From March 14 until April 15, when the big league season opens, they'll have only two open days unless rain intervenes.

Bruins Win 3d in Row; Defeat Ciesars, 27-18

Chicago's Bruins last night scored their third consecutive National Basketball league victory and remained in the running for a playoffs berth when they defeated the Hammond Ciesars, 27 to 18, in the 132d Regiment armory. It was the Chicagoans' 11th triumph against 12 losses and Hammond's 18th defeat.

Bill Hapac, former Illinois star, led both teams in scoring with 11 points. The total score was the lowest registered in the National league this season.

The Bruins leave tomorrow morning for Akron, where they wind up the regular season tomorrow night against the Firestones.

In the Windy City league games that opened the program, the Kayes Sports defeated the Graham Shirons, 22 to 20, and the Palmer House Panthers beat the Burton Dixies, 17 to 76.

CORONA-LEWIS BATTLE STIRS STADIUM CROWD

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Not since the spirited days of the battles that brought together such courageous fighters as Max Marek and Otis Thomas, and just to go back a trifle farther, that classic duel between Don Gonzales and Tony Muscarello, has the Golden Gloves seen such a bout as last night's argument between Morris Corona and Osborne Lewis in the center ring in the Chicago Stadium.

For six minutes the Italian battler who won the Barney Ross sportsmanship trophy last year as a member of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram team and the colored boy from the WHO squad of Des Moines threw punches that bounced into the arenas on either side of them. The clever Corona withstood a spirited onslaught of lefts and rights in the second round and then came back in the third to barter more of the same with the persistent Lewis. Before the second round was over the crowd had forgotten the fighters in the other two rings and were standing up and rooting in equal voice for Corona and Lewis. Corona also won his second fight last night and advanced to the semi-finals.

Grandmothers always have been American boys' favorite relations, but Richard [Bud] Ryan, Chicago welterweight who went into last night's third session of battling in the Tourney of Champions in the Chicago Stadium, can thank his grandma for his appearance in the big show.

Bud competed in the Illinois Athletic club tournament late in January and after winning his first two fights had to withdraw because of illness. His mother suggested that he try to restore his health with a visit to his grandmother's farm near Virden, Ill., 25 miles south of Springfield.

A few days in Virden did so much for the 19 year old Ryan that he decided to enter the Springfield State Register tournament. He qualified easily and then won his first two bouts on Tuesday's program in the Stadium. Ryan formerly fought in the C. Y. O. tourneys, winning the 1938 novice title at 147 pounds. He won his first bout last night, stopping Joe Koenig of Sioux City, Ia., in the second round, but lost to Morris Corona in the quarter-finals.

Ragon Kinney, who at 22 is the youngest high school instructor in the whole state of Arkansas, but is a rip-snorting fighter regardless, advanced to the quarter-final round when Ernie Nordman, Omaha World-Herald heavyweight, was rejected by the doctors yesterday because of a sore throat.

32 TO BATTLE ON MARCH 7 FOR EIGHT TITLES

Menchaca and Dade Continue March.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Tournament of Champions ended in thunderous action last night as big fellows and little fellows of all weight classes stormed thru the third consecutive evening of fighting in three Chicago Stadium rings.

Thirty-two boys, still unconquered, now stand within striking distance of amateur boxing's most highly cherished prizes—Golden Gloves championships. A crowd of 12,675 cheered in tribute to the skill and courage of these youngsters as they pounded thru third round and quarter-final battles.

The List of Winners.

These 32—four in each weight class—will be back again on Friday of next week for the biggest test of all—the semi-finals and finals—in which the Chicagoland Golden Glove titles of 1941 will be at stake. The list of survivors follows:

112 POUND CLASS—Tommy Nate, South Bend, Ind.; Paul Carbetta, Cleveland, O.; Jesse Gonzales, Fort Worth, Tex.; Harold Dade, Chicago.

135 POUND CLASS—Emmett Grier, Detroit, Mich.; Tommy Campbell, Moline, Ill.; Louis Smith, Kenosha, Wis.; Richard Sholl, Peoria, Ill.

147 POUND CLASS—George Horne Jr., Cleveland, O.; Bob Burns, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Morris Corona, Fort Worth, Tex.; William Johnson, Streator, Ill.

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS—Al Jordan, Kansas City, Mo.; Clayton Worlds, Chicago; Tom Procter, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Allen Aubrey, Cleveland, O.

The Chicago team lived up to the traditions of victory established in Golden Gloves tournaments of the past by sending six of its eight boxers charging into the select 32. The only Chicago casualties were Robert Satterfield, who was stopped by a cut over his eye on Tuesday, and Robert Earl, who lost a very close decision to Tommy Campbell of Moline last night.

In all, 17 of the original 44 centers still have representatives left in the struggle for Golden Gloves which started weeks ago with a field of 23,000 fighters from 23 states joining in the battle. In the 43 out of town centers, newspapers and one radio station coöperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of eliminations.

Cleveland Qualifies 4.

Next to Chicago Cleveland showed the greatest strength in the Tournament of Champions, four of its representatives being among the survivors. Kansas City and Fort Worth have three. Detroit, Des Moines, Moline, and Oklahoma City each have two. Eight others have one each—Gary, Grand Rapids, Kenosha, Peoria, St. Louis, South Bend, Fort Wayne, and Streator.

Chicago's Harold Dade and Fort Worth's Richard Menchaca, defending champions in the flyweight and bantamweight divisions, came thru impressively with two victories each.

But everything wasn't easy for the favorites. In one of the upsets, Ragon Kinney, a former member of the international team, was beaten by Oklahoma City's big heavyweight, Tom Procter.

Brown Scores Two Knockouts.

Ray Brown, Chicago's bantamweight, gave one of the most brilliant exhibitions of the evening. In his first engagement he scored a one round knockout over Steve Parks of Alexandria, La. It seemed for a few moments that Ray had drawn a tough one in his second encounter, in which he was matched with Edward Bradley of Dayton. Swinging powerfully, Bradley rushed Brown into a corner and when

A PUZZLE: WHY DID BOSTON BEES SIGN AVERILL?

Move May Be Prelude to Sale of Max West.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP).—When Manager Casey Stengel refused to give any definite reason for signing the 38 year old Earl Averill for his Boston Bees' today, the baseball writers encamped with the club jumped to the conclusion he was setting the stage for the early sale of Outfielder Maxie West.

Several other National league clubs have put in bids for West, whose hitting would be much more effective in a smaller park than the Beehive. Averill recently was released by Detroit.

For the fourth consecutive day, cold weather hampered the Bees' workout, most of whch consisted of fungo chasing, and almost every player on the squad felt stiff and sore after the drill.

ROWE AND TROUT REPORT.

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Pitcher Schoolboy Rowe arrived at the Detroit Tigers' training camp here today, four days early, and announced he was feeling fit after a winter of hunting and tramping thru the Arkansas hills.

Other arrivals among the first contingent of Tigers who are to start spring training Sunday were Pitcher Paul [Dizzy] Trout and Coach Bing Miller.

The only Tiger who worked out today was Walter A. [Hoot] Evers, recruit outfielder from the University of Illinois.

GALEHOUSE'S LEG INFECTED.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP).—Pitcher Denny Galehouse, obtained from the Boston Red Sox, reported today at the St. Louis Browns' training camp, but was unable to put on a uniform because of a leg infection. Catcher Joe Grace still is confined to his room with a fever resulting from a throat infection.

RICK FERRELL SIGNS.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, announced today that Catcher Rick Ferrell had signed his contract. Ferrell's signing leaves Shortstop Cecil Travis as the last holdout, but Travis is expected to come to terms shortly. Manager Bucky Harris ordered the first batting practice today.

SPLIT CARDS INTO SQUADS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—When the St. Louis Cardinals' full team reports Friday, Manager Billy Southworth will put into effect an unusual two-squad training schedule.

The players will be divided into two sections, each to get two workouts a day. Squad A will start at 9:30 a. m., quit at 11 and then come back at 1 p. m. for two more hours of practice. Squad B will work from 10:15 a. m. to noon, and from 2 to 4 p. m.

McQUINN? NOT FOR YANKS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—William O. Dewitt, general manager of the Browns, said today he had not heard from the New York Yankees but it would do them no good to bid for George McQuinn, the Browns' first baseman.

DICKEY ACCEPTS TERMS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—The New York Yankees' list of holdouts was reduced by one when the New York office phoned Manager Joe McCarthy that Catcher Bill Dickey had accepted terms. Dickey, recuperating from the flu in Little Rock, Ark., will be late in reporting.

TAMULIS SIGNS WITH PHILS.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Phils will go to their Miami Beach training camp on Friday with the squad intact. The front office announced today that Pitcher Vito Tamulis had agreed to terms. Tamulis was acquired from Brooklyn in the deal which sent Kirby Higbe, Phil's ace hurler to the Dodgers for $100,000 and three players.

OWEN, MacPHAIL TO CONFER.

Havana, Feb. 26 (AP).—The salary differences between Brooklyn Dodger President Larry MacPhail and Brooklyn Dodger Catcher Arnold [Mickey] Owen may be threshed out on Cuban soil, perhaps this week end. Owen cabled MacPhail he was on his way to Havana.

GIANTS LEAVE FOR HAVANA.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Manager Bill Terry took 25 players aboard the steamship Florida this evening, bound for Havana and their first exhibition game series of the spring, with the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants will work out in Havana tomorrow afternoon, and the three day series will open Friday.

HUGH MULCAHY.

Newton, Mass., Feb. 26 (AP).—Hugh Noyes Mulcahy, Philadelphia National league pitcher, received word today that he would be inducted into the army for a year's service on March 8, after his plea for occupational deferment failed. The 190 pound hurler, who stands 6 feet 2, is 27 years old and unmarried, had appealed to the district appeal board for deferment of service because he was employed in a necessary occupation. He also claimed the call would work a hardship on his parents.

Lake Forest Trounces North Central, 55 to 48

Lake Forest college won its 12th game last night when North Central was beaten, 55 to 48, in a conference game in Lake Forest. Lake Forest led at the half, 26 to 21. Bill Bell led the scorers with 23 points.

Box Scores that tell Baseball's History

[This is the 16th of a series of baseball's most famous box scores. All are milestones in the history of the national pastime.]

The White Sox clinched their fourth American league pennant on Sept. 21, 1917, when they won from the Boston Red Sox in Boston, 2 to 1, in 10 innings, behind the five hit pitching of Red Faber. The South Siders then captured the world championship from the New York Giants, four games to two. In the 10th inning a star Boston pitcher, Babe Ruth, was sent in as a pinch hitter for Everett Scott, shortstop, but failed to solve Faber's spitters.

In capturing the 1917 pennant the White Sox won 100 games and lost 54 for a percentage of .654, while the Red Sox, who finished second, won 90 and lost 62 for a percentage of .592. Sox-Boston box score:

Umpire Calls Roller Derby to Order Tonight

The Coliseum madness, otherwise known as the roller Derby, will start on its dizzy way tonight in the south side arena. From a marathon angle, it leaves such productions as the six day bike race or the three cushion billiard tournament far in the background.

With ten to a side, five boys and five girls, two teams have been paired off as Chicago and New York. They will battle for the athletic honor of these two metropolitan centers from 8 to 11 p. m. nightly until March 23, or 25 evenings. The rivals thus will spend 78 hours or thereabouts dashing around the Coliseum track.

Brick to Come Prepared.

A separate game is played nightly, consisting of two halves of four 15 minute periods and 5 minute open house sessions at the end of each half. It is reported the contestants, in these special periods, do everything but take off their skates and throw them at each other.

Brick Owens, the old American league umpire, will officiate in the nightly mêlées.

Substitutions, Too.

The boys of the rival teams race against each other in four of the eight periods, and the girls likewise compete against each other in four sessions. However, a mishap or broken skate strap can bring the partner onto the banked oval to race against the opposite sex. During the open house scramble substitutions of the partners can be made at will.

The New Yorkers are led by Jack Cummings, whose partner is Dolores Hansen; Bob Brink, with Marge Clifford, and Joe Barth, who is paired off with Ella Kelva. Paul Milane and Gerry Murray are another strong New York pair as are Bill Hickens and Rena Hackett.

777 FIVES OPEN INDIANA MEET IN 64 SECTIONS

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Play for the 1941 Indiana high school basketball championship will begin in 64 sectional tournament centers tomorrow night with a field of 777 teams. The championship will be decided on March 22, when the finals of the annual event come to a close in the Butler university fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

Anderson enters the first round as the favorite to supplant Hammond Technical as state champion. South Bend Central, with its greatest quintet since 1923, when it reached quarter-final play in the state meet, is next in ranking among early favorites.

Hammond Is Snubbed.

Hammond, with a record of 18 victories in 20 games, has been snubbed in pretournament predictions, chiefly because of the tough competition in the 16 team Gary sectional.

North Side of Fort Wayne, Washington, Burris of Muncie, and Madison have scattered support thruout the state.

This is the first time in many years that play in each sectional tournament will extend over three nights. Heretofore some tournaments, numbering fewer entrants, did not open sectional play until Friday.

The Task: Nine Straight!

The team which stands alone on the night of March 22 will have won either nine or ten games to achieve the title. If the 1941 championship team emerges from a sectional center of 12 teams, only nine triumphs will be necessary. If the winner hails from a sectional of more than 12 teams, 10 consecutive victories will be necessary.

27 TEAMS ENTER TRIBUNE CASTING TOURNEY SUNDAY

Compete in International Amphitheater.

BY BOB BECKER.

Casters from Chicago, downstate, Indiana, and Wisconsin will gather at the Chicago Tribune casting pool in the International amphitheater Sunday afternoon for one of the largest five-man team events ever held in the sport.

Twenty-seven teams have been entered in this event, and the two clubs which score highest will receive handsome plaques from THE TRIBUNE.

All Chicago Clubs Compete.

Every Chicago casting club will be represented by at least one team. Out of town clubs which will take part include Gary, Ind. [four teams]; the Creek Club Casting club of Garrett, Ind. [two teams]; the Bloomington, Ill., Casting club; Fort Wayne, Ind., Casting association; Waukesha, Wis., Casting club [two teams]; Elkhart, Ind., Casting club [two teams], and the Studebaker Rod and Gun club of South Bend, Ind. [three teams].

Team casting is a comparatively new addition to the schedules of rod and reel tournaments. Last year 16 teams competed in the Tribune tournament. The casting pool in the south wing of the amphitheater, second floor, has been reserved for the team event, with competition scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock. The event will last at least two hours or thereabouts.

Illinois Day at Show.

The state of Illinois will be honored today at the sixth day of the Sportsmen's show in the amphitheater. Livingston E. Osborne, director of the conservation department, will participate in the program, addressing a dinner-meeting of the Izaak Walton league tonight in the Saddle and Sirloin club.

The state conservation department's exhibit occupies 4,000 feet of space at the sports show. It reveals natural habitat studies of wild life and fish native to the state and tells the department's work in reforestry and soil erosion control.

Gov. Dwight H. Green was expected to attend the show today, but other duties made it necessary for him to postpone his visit until tomorrow. He will address the sport show visitors Friday night in the main arena, discussing his ideas on conservation work for the state.

Mrs. Florence Manasin, 2650 Hollywood avenue, won the women's casting competition last night in the amphitheater with 96. She is a member of the Lincoln Park Casting club and has been competing in Tribune tournaments for three years. Mrs. Frances Tomisek was second with 95, and Mrs. Ruth Wilson third with 94.

OH, REALLY? WELL, AFTER YOU GET ANOTHER HUSBAND YOU'LL APPRECIATE ME—I'M TRYING TO EASE IT FOR SOME OTHER BIRD—GO FIND A FELLOW WHOSE NAME STARTS WITH A "G"—YOU WON'T EVEN HAVE TO CHANGE THE INITIALS ON THE SILVERWARE!

SIX CHICAGOANS REACH FINALS IN GOLDEN GLOVES

the Chicago boy sidestepped, he swarmed over him again.

But pretty soon Ray had enough of that. His left jab lashed out and dropped Bradley to the canvas. Bradley got up and Brown knocked him down again, this time jarring him so severely that he was unable to continue.

A Former Champion Loses.

Charley Hayes, Cleveland's sturdy middleweight, beat Milton Jones of St. Louis, who won the welterweight Golden Gloves championship in 1939. Hayes went on to beat Floyd Sandberg of Rockford in his quarter-final match.

In addition to Menchaca, Fort Worth has another powerful contender, Morris Corona. He was beaten by Savior Canadeo in the welterweight final last year. Corona ran into a tough opponent in his first bout against Osborn Lewis of Des Moines. For two rounds Corona hit Lewis with everything he had. He shot left jabs to the chin, rights to the head, and scored with strong body blows. But Lewis shook off every jolt and kept coming back for more.

Corona Is Hard Pressed.

In the third round Corona began to tire and he had even greater difficulty in jarring his opponent. As the Fort Worth boy's blows lost some of their sting, Lewis began to ignore them and waded in to slug it out punch for punch. They were going at it for all they were worth when the bell rang. Despite Lewis' comeback, Corona had piled up so many points in the earlier stages that he won the decision by a comfortable margin.

Corona drew another rugged foe in his quarter-final—Richard Ryan of Springfield, and had to keep hustling all the way to get the decision.

The winners will now return to their homes for a brief layoff of a day or two. Then they will begin pointing for their biggest task of the campaign—the semi-finals and finals.

Other opportunities for earning distinction in the ranks of amateur boxers lie further ahead in the annual Intercity Golden Gloves matches with New York. These will be held in the Stadium on March 26.

MONARCHS AND PABSTS WIN TWO; REMAIN IN TIE

The standings in the Wednesday division of the Classic Bowling league remained the same after the series at Faetz Recreation last night. The Monarch Beers and Pabst Blue Ribbons, tied for the lead, won two games each from the Ambrosia Beers and Blatz Beers, respectively. The Ruppert Knickerbockers took two from the Michelobs and the Koenigs held their third place berth by taking two from the Schlitz Beers. Scores:

ASK HOUSE TO PROBE DEATH OF ARNE ANDERSON

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26 (AP).—The state athletic commission was criticized today in a resolution introduced in the Illinois house today proposing an investigation of the death of Arne Anderson in a professional fight in Chicago Monday.

The resolution, sponsored by Representatives William S. Finucane and Peter C. Granata of Chicago, said Anderson's death resulted from a weakened heart and added that "it seems apparent that said commission has failed" to provide proper physical examinations for fighters.

Corona-Lewis Battle Hailed as a Thriller

the fourth round without fighting. Worlds, who is a protége of Jim Blanding, south side sportsman, came to this city two years ago from Little Rock, Ark. Clayton, who is 6 feet 5½ inches tall, has never been defeated during a two year campaign. In that span he has scored 26 consecutive victories.

Dick Menchaca and Jesse Gonzales, two of last year's winning representatives on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's team, are both students at Allen academy, located near Texas A. & M. college at Bryan, Tex. Menchaca won the 1940 Golden Gloves bantamweight title, and was still very much in the running as last night's fighting started. The home folks thing Richard would do well as a professional, but his only reply is: "When I can't go in there for fun any more I'll just sit in the crowd and watch."

The Most Rev. William Gilmore, bishop of Helena, Mont., was the guest of the Rev. Harold Kenney of the Catholic Youth organization at the bouts.

The fans were treated to an unusual sight last night—a bout between two of the tallest amateur middleweight boxers in the world. The principals were Clint Conway, 6 foot 4 inch youngster representing the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Leroy Jeffries, 6 foot 2 inch colorbearer of the Kansas City Star. Conway, who is only 18 and was graduated from Cleveland's East Tech High last year, is on a furlough from his army regiment, the 102d infantry of the Ohio National Guard. Jeffries, 25, is employed in the WPA recreation department in Kansas City.

CRIPPLED HAWKS TO BATTLE RED WINGS TONIGHT

Detroit Team Makes Final Stadium Appearance.

The third place Detroit Red Wings, boasting a blend of veterans and youngsters in their lineup, will make their final regulation appearance here this evening, when they meet the battered Blackhawks on the Chicago Stadium ice. The Wings are well remembered for their 1940-'41 visits to these parts, for on New Year's night, Giacomo Orlando executed his now historic knockout of a Hawk spectator. In their following meeting on the Stadium rink, the two teams drew a crowd of 19,386 customers, an all-time high for hockey attendance.

Fans Watch Mowers.

Of especial interest this evening will be the work of young Johnny Mowers, the Wing goalie who is very much in the running for two of hockey's biggest prizes—the Vezina trophy for goal tending and the Calder trophy for the recruit most valuable to his team.

Mowers' principal rival for the latter award is John Quilty of the Montreal Canadiens. In the battle for the Vezina trophy, he trails the veteran Turk Broda of Toronto by only two goals. Broda races rival sharpshooters in only seven more games, while Mowers works nine.

Hawks Badly Crippled.

The Hawk list of injuries mounted to such an extent on the recent road tour that Manager Paul Thompson held his only workout since the team's Monday return from New York on a 60 minute basis in the Chicago Arena yesterday afternoon. Much as he doesn't want to employ them, Paul is going to have to work Earl Seibert and Doug Bentley, both of whom were hurt on the road trip.

Both men have done more than their share of work this season, and Thompson stated that he will use Seibert as sparingly as possible, leaving the brunt of the defense work to Art Wiebe, Dave MacKay, and Joe Cooper. Mush March may be shifted to alternate for Bentley as well as holding down his own place.

CIVIC AND GARDEN CLUB HEADS ASK BILLBOARD BAN

Want Park Drives Kept Safe and Beautiful.

Leaders in civic organizations and garden clubs joined yesterday in a demand for legislation to ban billboards from park boulevards. Attention was directed to the problem by the recent action of the exclusive Saddle and Cycle club in erecting a commercial billboard, 100 feet long and 10 feet high, facing Sheridan road north of Foster avenue.

Mrs. T. J. Knudson, central regional chairman of the Garden club of Illinois, said legislation is necessary both from an esthetic standpoint and to lessen traffic hazards. She said the need for park board and state legislation against billboards would be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Garden club March 10 in the Palmer House.

Housing Council Raps "Evil."

Mrs. Hilda Gitlin, assistant to the executive director of the Metropolitan Housing council, said that organization has been working toward necessary legislation for several years.

"Such legislation is a necessity in any sensible plan to beautify the city and to protect automobile drivers," she said. "We are coöperating with Mrs. John Sharpless Fox, president of the Woman's City club, in an effort to do away with the billboard evil."

Mrs. Fox said possible action by the park board and the need of legislation to ban billboards from park boulevards would be discussed tomorrow morning at a meeting of the city planning study class of the Woman's City club in club headquarters.

"It would be nice if the fashionable Saddle and Cycle club would join the civic move, to beautify the city rather than add to its ugliness," Mrs. Fox said.

Hope to Obtain Action.

"Certainly no one would say that the Saddle and Cycle club sign adds anything to the city's beauty," said Mrs. Allan C. Williams, chairman of the housing committee of the Woman's City club. "I think every one except those who make money out of the billboards agrees that such signs should be removed from park boulevards. Our organization hopes to do something about the matter."

Mrs. Beatrice Harms, garden chairman of the 6th district of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, also demanded action by the park board.

"These billboard eyesores certainly have no place on park boulevards," said Mrs. Harms. "They detract from the city's beauty, and if there is any legal way of stamping out the evil it should be taken by the park board."

TELLS SHORT CUT IN VOTE COUNTING AT FRAUD TRIAL

A short cut in ballot counting was described yesterday in Judge Julius H. Miner's Criminal court by Mrs. Frances Hack, 819 Wrightwood avenue, Republican judge in the 41st precinct of the 14th ward, in the 1939 mayoral election.

Mrs. Hack, testifying for the state in the trial of Joseph Hylard, Democratic precinct captain, and Michael Nolan, Republican captain, said that when the polls closed Hylard said that since Nolan was interested only in having Dwight Green get the 12 votes he polled in the primary, the ballot counting should halt and Green be given 12 votes and Mayor Kelly 456.

Hylard and Nolan are charged with conspiracy to induce the precinct election board to make a false return. The state closed its case after other members of the board said there had been no conspiracy, while admitting that they didn't count the ballots.

2 SENT TO PRISON IN FATAL BEATING OF 5 YEAR OLD BOY

Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 26 [Special].—Mrs. Violet Harris, 21, and Art Levering, 40, today pleaded guilty to charges of second degree murder in the beating to death of the young woman's son, Gordon Harris, 5. Mrs. Harris was sentenced to serve a prison term of 25 years and Levering was sent to prison for life.

Mrs. Harris, a relief client, lived in the same house with Levering, who is the father of eight children. They were arrested yesterday when it was discovered that the boy, who died Monday, suffered a brain hemorrhage and was severely bruised.

The woman said Levering beat her son with a club Friday after the boy "sassed him and refused to eat." Levering admitted the beating. The charge against Mrs. Harris was based on her failure to intercede in behalf of her son.

FREES FRENCH VICE CONSUL IN TRAFFIC COURT

Francois Alabrone, 1433 North State parkway, French vice consul in Chicago, was freed by a jury in Judge Gibson E. Gorman's Traffic court yesterday of a charge of disregarding a policeman's signal at Division and State streets Feb. 11. The policeman did not appear, the vice consul said he didn't hear the whistle, and Judge Gorman commented, "Diplomats can disregard traffic signals if necessary, anyway."

[Consular officials, experts in the civics department of the Chicago public library said later, are not granted the same powers and privileges as diplomats, but are subject to the civil and criminal laws of the state in which they reside unless given special privileges by treaty arrangements.]

COURT ALLOWS REPUDIATION OF JOSLYN AWARD

Judge John C. Lewe yesterday permitted Mrs. Charlotte C. Joslyn and her attorney, Thomas Hart Fisher, to repudiate the $500 monthly divorce settlement Mrs. Joslyn received last Oct. 1 in her suit against George R. Joslyn, wealthy son of an electrical supplies manufacturer. He allowed them to enter into court records affidavits that Mrs. Joslyn did not agree to the settlement. Fisher is appealing the award as insufficient.

Last Thursday Judge Lewe denied a request to have the affidavits admitted, stating he "distinctly recalled her acceptance of the terms." At that time he permitted Alvin Hubbard, counsel for Joslyn, to enter records of proceedings in chambers where, Hubbard contended, the settlement was made.

Fisher also is trying to convince Master in Chancery John J. Kelly that Joslyn should pay him $24,000 for legal services to Mrs. Joslyn. Joslyn is opposing the claim on the ground that Fisher and Mrs. Joslyn exceeded the lawyer-client relationship.

Yesterday Nobler died in County hospital, half an hour after he was found after having taken poison in Mrs. Robbe's home.

CONSENT DECREE SIGNED SETTLING ACTION ON ASCAP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The justice department announced today it had closed a 6 year old action against the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers [ASCAP] with the signing of a decree at New York which it said "paves the way for an immediate settlement of the difficulties between ASCAP and the broadcasters."

The actual agreement on terms of a consent decree were announced in New York about a week ago and today's action was merely the formal conclusion of the proceeding. The agreement was filed in federal district court in New York, closing a suit begun under the Sherman antitrust law in 1935.

Noting that a disagreement between ASCAP and the radio industry had resulted in the elimination of ASCAP music from the major radio chains since Jan. 1, the department said the only matter remaining for adjustment is one of price between ASCAP and the broadcasters.

ARMS FACTORY ORDERS PLACED AT 15 BILLIONS

'Go Ahead' Given for 6 Billions More.

Contracts already placed for arms construction in this country total about $15,000,000,000, an Associated Press survey indicated yesterday. This figure represents formal awards both by the British government and United States agencies.

Nearly $6,000,000,000 of authorized United States orders have yet to be placed under contract, altho the government has given manufacturers an informal but binding "go ahead" on much of this business.

The United States' own military program and contract awards, as of Feb. 1, have been compiled officially as follows [in millions of dollars]:

Purpose.	Program.	Awards.
Naval vessels	$6,070	$4,370
Airplanes	3,210	2,240
Ammunition and expl.	1,780	1,000
Industrial facilities	1,630	1,130
Artillery and sm. arms	1,440	580
Posts, depots, fortific.	1,270	860
Cloth., equip., subsist.	660	440
Tanks, combat vehic.	360	300
Transportation equip.	290	210
Misc. army and navy	430	300
Stock pile	480	290
Emerg. merch. fleet	350	...
Milit. workers' homes.	320	120
Totals	$18,290	$11,840

Fleet Orders Awarded.

Since Feb. 1, $33,374,500 of the merchant fleet orders have been placed. Prior to the time when President Roosevelt proposed this $350,000,000 "emergency" program to build 200 ships, the government was already well along on a program begun in 1938 to bolster the merchant marine with 196 other vessels. Of these, officials said, 66 had actually been delivered.

Additional contracts also have been awarded since Feb. 1 in virtually all categories of equipment.

The extent of British orders in this country is not known exactly. However, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has told congress that the British paid $1,380,000,000 on government orders in the United States last year. Furthermore, he said last month, Britain owed American manufacturers an additional $1,400,000,000 on orders already placed.

1,026 Planes Delivered.

Plane deliveries during January totaled 1,026, exceeding the figure predicted officially a month before. Light tanks are being produced at the rate of four a day and medium sized tanks will be rolling from a number of plants by mid-summer, according to official information.

Officials said naval construction had reached the point where a new ship was joining the fleet ever 12 days. They reported that the 35,000 ton battleship Washington would be commissioned May 15, 6½ months ahead of schedule.

War department officials reported that production of the Garand semiautomatic rifle had reached 3,000 a week. They gave no details, however, regarding the current output of most types of arms.

Charles F. L'Hommedieu and Sons company was the only Chicago enterprise to receive an award yesterday from the navy. It amounted to $10,741 and was for motor generator sets.

Contracts totaling $22,254,580 for three new arms plants and expansion of existing aircraft manufacturing facilities were announced by the war department.

Munitions Plant in Kenosha.

The new arms plants were listed as one at Beaver, Pa., to turn out airplane propellers; one at Kenosha, Wis., for the manufacture of ammunition brass cups and ammunition, and one in or near Indianapolis, Ind., to produce cartridge cases.

The contracts, cleared by the Office of Production Management, included:

Bridgeport Brass company, Bridgepcrt, Conn., $11,5000,000 for construction and equipping the Indianapolis plant.

Curtiss propeller division, Curtiss Wright corporation, $5,321,100 for the Beaver plants, the third such new factory for the company.

American Brass company, Waterbury, Conn., $4,750,000 for the Kenosha plant.

The Public Buildings administration awarded a contract to Monahan-McCann corporation for construction of 300 housing units at Aberdeen, Md., for army personnel. Cost of the development was estimated at $1,007,000.

Other contracts awarded by the war department included:

W. A. SHAW TO GET SURFACE LINES' OPERATING POST

Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to the federal court, will be designated operating head of the Chicago Surface Lines temporarily, pending selection of a permanent operating manager. The decision was made yesterday at the first meeting of the lines' new management and supervision board named Feb. 6 in a shakeup ordered by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Shaw is chairman of the new board.

As an aftermath of the shakeup, Guy A. Richardson, operating head of the lines since 1923, announced he would quit the company March 1.

Five members were named to the board but Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank, decined to serve and resigned as surface lines' receiver, a post he has held since 1934. Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday deferred acceptance of Brown's resignation. The court said that entry of an order relieving Brown of his duties must await the return from vacation of Judge Igoe.

Santa Fe Lets Orders for 3 More Diesels

The Santa Fe railway announced yesterday that it has placed orders with the Electro-Motive corporation for two 5,400 horse power Diesel electric freight locomotives and one 2,000 horse power Diesel electric passenger locomotive. The railway has one other 5,400 horse power Diesel electric freight locomotive on order with the company, which has its plant at La Grange, and recently took delivery on another.

The freight locomotives are similar to the one which recently was placed in service between Chicago and Los Angeles by the Santa Fe.

Will Have 71 Diesels.

When these locomotives are delivered the Santa Fe will have Diesel-electrics aggregating 105,600 horse power, giving it the largest fleet of any railroad in the world. It will have 24 passenger locomotives of this type, 43 switch locomotives, and four mainline freight engines.

Streamlined train service to towns in Wisconsin and the upper peninsula which never before have had such trains was announced yesterday by R. L. Williams, chief executive officer of the Chicago and North Western railway, coincidentally with the award of contracts for four steamliners.

To Be Similar to "400."

All the trains will be patterned after the North Western's "400." They will include de luxe coaches, extra large diners, tap-room lounges and parlor cars. Each coach will seat 56 persons and the parlor cars 22.

Contracts for 25 streamlined passenger cars which will make up the trains have been let to the Pullman-Standard Car Maufacturing company for a total cost of $1,720,000. Contracts for the construction of five Diesel-electric locomotives to pull the trains will be let shortly. The cost of the locomotives will be about $175,000 apiece.

The trains are to go into service upon their completion which is contingent upon the demands of the nation's arms program. However, it is expected they will be completed in August or September.

MARITIME BOARD MOVES TO SLASH HIGH SHIP RATES

Because of "continuing increases," the commission directed all steamship conferences [groups of lines serving the same ports of call] to advise it immediately of all agreed advances This advice must be furnished in advance of the effective date and include a statement "fully justifying the contemplated increases."

Asserting that "unreasonably high" rates were "clearly detrimental to the commerce of the United States," the commission said it would require a reduction to a "proper level" of any rate it regarded unjustified.

Raise Rates to China.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The far east conference today announced increases in freight rates ranging from 5 to 33 per cent on cargoes from the United States to ports in China and the Philippines, effective April 1.

BROKERS AVERAGE 18 CENTS PROFIT ON EACH TRADE, SURVEY SHOWS

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—An analysis of brokerage house business issued today by the New York Stock exchange showed these firms make an average profit of 18 cents on a transaction. The analysis sums up a survey of 18 commission firms, three bond houses, and four specialist firms in the first six months of 1940. The 25 houses covered stock, bond, and commodity fields.

The survey found the gross income on the average transaction was $7.36 with total operating expenses per transaction of $9.81, leaving a loss of $2.45. However, interest profit on margin accounts amounted to $2.63, leaving a net profit of 18 cents.

The survey showed that some of the brokerage houses had adjusted their operations to a continuing trading level as low as 400,000 shares a day, but added that "higher expectations seem to average approximately 800,000 shares daily." A similar survey, conducted in 1938, found that firms were predicating their operations on the expectation of 1,000,000-share days.

EVANSTON SELLS TAX WARRANTS AT RECORD LOW

Evanston yesterday sold at par to the American National Bank and Trust company approximately $350,000 of tax anticipation warrants issued against the 1941 tax levy. They bear interest at 0.75 per cent, believed to be the lowest for any Illinois municipality.

Mayor Henry D. Penfield, former city treasurer, said such a low rate was possible because Evanston maintains a continuous auditing system and lives within its budget. It is an additional indication that the city's credit is A-1, he said.

The city's bonded indebtedness has decreased within the last four years from $980,000 to $669,000. The legal limit is $1,250,000.

Total commitments to Reynolds Metals, Jones said, now stand at about $33,000,000.

AUTO INDUSTRY SWINGING INTO MAKING OF ARMS

All Companies Have Part in Program.

The automobile industry by the end of the year will be employing at least 150,000 men in military production and between 100,000 and 200,000 more will be at work by the time the bomber parts program is in full operation, the Automobile Manufacturers association stated yesterday.

Alvan Macauley.

Alvan Macauley, president of the association, summarizing the industry's progress to date on the arms program, said that every company in the industry is now represented in the production of one or more items.

His summary disclosed the following:

The industry has been producing airplane engines since July, 1940. Such engines are now being turned out at the rate of 350 a month and many times that number soon will be built.

Engine Plants Nearly Ready.

Two new airplane engine plants are nearing completion and will be in production this summer. Two more will be in operation by the end of the year—Buick's big plant in Melrose Park to employ 10,000 men and Studebaker's Chicago precision parts works to employ 4,000.

Six companies are at work producing or preparing to produce airplane body, wing and tail parts. Shipments of subassembly units already have been made. From 100,000 to 200,000 men will be required for this work alone. The major operations in this field will include parts for bombers to be assembled in new army plants in the middle west.

Numerous subcontracts have been let within the industry for the purpose of expediting production of precision parts for aircraft engines and other arms products.

Tank production is expected to begin well ahead of schedule, with a start already made on parts production.

Ammunition components of many types, such as shells, shell casings, fuses, bomb, and torpedo parts are being produced in several automobile plants. Other plants are establishing assembly lines for these products which can be expanded quickly. Several plants will be ready shortly for the production of machine guns.

Produce Special Types.

Beside carrying on normal automobile production, the industry is turning out 13,000 special cars and trucks for the army each week and expects to increase this to 20,000. By the latter part of the year it is expected that about 250,000 such vehicles will be in service.

The industry is producing an increasing number of power units for the navy, including such items as highspeed motors for "mosquito boats" and Diesel engines for submarines. The number of submarine engines is a closely guarded secret.

Profits Tax Bill Promises Aid to Firms with Rising Income

Tax analysts explained yesterday how growing companies whose earnings gained sharply in recent years will be benefited by the amendments to the excess profits law passed this week by the house of representatives.

Using the Coca-Cola company as an illustration, it was estimated that the company would save about 2¼ million dollars for 1940 if it is permitted to employ the more liberal method for computing its "normal" profit basis as provided in the bill.

The amendments, sent to the senate for action, were designed to alleviate hardships which fell unduly upon some corporations under the law as originally passed last year. The amendments would be retroactive upon 1940 incomes.

Income Rises Each Year.

Net income of Coca-Cola was $20,398,079 in 1936, $24,681,616 in 1937, $25,570,877 in 1938, and $29,030,375 in 1939.

If the original method of computing average earnings were used the average net income or "normal profit" for the four year base period would be $24,920,237. Under the alternative method provided in the amendments the average net income would be $29,681,015. The excess profits law allows 95 per cent of this average net income as a tax credit plus a flat exemption of $5,000.

Coca-Cola's estimated excess profit credit would be $23,674,225 under the original method and $28,196,964 under the alternative method. Adding the $5,000 exemption the total credit would be $23,679,225 and $28,201,964, respectively.

Coca-Cola would have to pay an excess profits tax, as the law now stands, on all net income [after normal income taxes] above $23,679,225.

Average earnings under the existing law are determined by totaling the net income of the four years and dividing by four. Under the amendment a corporation may compute the average net income in the base period as follows:

Take the sum of the earnings in the first two years and subtract that from the total earnings in the last two years; then take one-fourth of this difference and add it to one-half of the total earnings for the last two years. The resulting figure is average annual net income for the base period.

The invested capital basis, provided for in the original law, is not advantageous to Coca-Cola because its income return on its investment is far above the 8 per cent considered normal under the law. The exemption credit under the invested capital method would be cut to $5,600,000.

50 Per Cent Above $500,000.

Profits exceeding the exemption credit are subject to excess profits tax rates ranging from 25 to 45 per cent on the first $500,000. The rate is 50 per cent on all excess profits above $500,000.

The case of Coca-Cola is considered typical of those companies which have had increasingly prosperous years and which receive relatively high returns on their invested capital. The present excess profits tax would be especially severe on such companies, tax experts asserted.

The calculations in the Coca-Cola illustration were made from the reported net income of the company. In its income tax returns this and other companies employ earnings statements adjusted for tax purposes which may vary from their published reports.

PICK SUCCESSOR TO SCHALLER IN BANK POST TODAY

Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago will meet today to elect a successor to George J. Schaller, president of the bank, who will retire March 1. Schaller has served as head of the bank since 1934.

The man selected by the Chicago officials will be subject to the approval of the board of governors of the federal reserve system.

Directors of the bank said last night that no final agreement had been reached on the selection of a new president. The two ranking vice presidents of the bank, Howard P. Preston and C. S. Young, have both been mentioned as possibilities. The names of several outsiders have also figured in the speculation.

RCA, CONTAINER CORP., REPORT LARGER PROFITS

Butler Brothers Net for Year Declines.

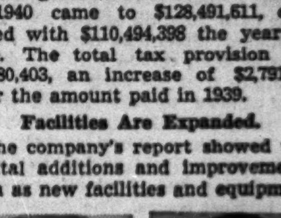
The Radio Corporation of America and the Container Corporation of America yesterday reported substantial gains in net income during 1940, while the report of Butler Brothers showed a slight decline from the net income reported in the preceding year.

Net income of RCA for the year amounted to $9,113,156, or 43 cents a share, the company's largest net income since 1929. In 1939 net income amounted to $8,082,811, or 35 cents a share.

Total gross income from all sources in 1940 came to $128,491,611, compared with $110,494,398 the year before. The total tax provision was $7,580,403, an increase of $2,791,154 over the amount paid in 1939.

Facilities Are Expanded.

The company's report showed that capital additions and improvements, such as new facilities and equipment, totaled $4,723,390 for the year, of which $1,000,000 represented manufacturing plant expansion in connection with government orders.



James G. Harbord (left) of RCA, and Walter P. Paepcke of Container corporation, report profit gains.

James G. Harbord, chairman, and David Sarnoff, president, said that the company is "coöperating actively with the army and navy and other governmental departments" in the armament program. With executive offices in New York City, the company's activities extend into all phases of the radio industry.

Butler Brothers, Chicago wholesale distributor of dry goods and general merchandise, realized 1940 net income of $1,065,073, or 59 cents a share, against $1,347,749, or 83 cents a share,

STOCKS OF SHIP CONCERNS RISE; OTHERS UNEVEN

Rally in Steel and Plane Issues Flattens Out.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Shipping shares spurted in the stock market today as the preceding recovery flattened out in most groups.

Strength in shipping and scattered industrial shares illustrated the selectivity of the buying. Steels, aircrafts, rails, motors, and other leaders of the week's advance wavered on selling by traders who assumed the rally had gone far enough.

Advances in ocean shipping rates, the huge backlogs of unfilled orders at ship yards and the move to modify the federal excess profits levy appeared to attract buying to the water carrier issues.

Bethlehem Cuts Early Loss.

American Shipbuilding, New York Shipbuilding, Bath Iron works, International Mercantile Marine, and American Hawaiian Steamship ended fractions to more than a point higher. On the curb Todd Shipyards rose 1¼.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's leading shipbuilder, rallied with the shipping group from an early selloff but was shadowed by the threat of a strike tieup of its Lackawanna, N. Y., plant. Bethlehem closed at 79¾, off ⅜, after having sold as low as 78¾.

Minor gains just about offset small losses in most issues. The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks finished unchanged at 41.4. It had risen from 39.9 since mid-February.

Transactions amounted to 382,970 shares against 357,230 the preceding session. Sale of a seat on the exchange was arranged at $26,000, equal to the 43 year low reached recently.

CHICAGO STOCKS ADVANCE.

Stocks continued their moderate climb on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Transfers totaled 19,000 shares and 750 rights. Fifty issues advanced, 14 declined, and 24 were unchanged.

Only two dually listed stocks traded from 2 to 3 o'clock recorded changes from the New York close. They were Commonwealth Edison, down ⅛ at 28⅝, and Diamond T Motor Car, up ⅛ at 7⅝. Edison was the volume leader, turnover totaling 1,350 shares.

COMMODITY LIST MIXED; COFFEE AND SILK CLIMB

Tin, Lead and Rubber Futures Lower.

Commodities for future delivery moved erratically and failed to find a trend yesterday. Silk turned about and rose briskly, while copper, Santos coffee, cocoa, and cottonseed oil showed modest gains. Tin dropped again, lead and rubber were lower and, wool tops and domestic sugar were mixed.

Silk futures jumped 5 to 6 cents a pound to $2.65 bid in the May delivery and the cash price added 6 cents at $2.67. Tin broke 0.95 to 1.1 cents a pound at 50.80 cents bid in May and the cash market sagged 1¼ cents to 51½ cents. Rubber futures were 0.03 to 0.13 cent down at 20.45 cents a pound for May.

Sugar Regains Losses.

With cash raw and refined prices at high levels, domestic sugar was supported after profit taking had induced early weakness. Closing prices were 0.01 cent higher to 0.01 cent lower at 2.19 cents a pound bid in the May futures.

Liquidation pulled wool tops away from early gains and left final quotations 0.3 cent higher to 0.8 cent lower. The March delivery was carried by short covering to a high of $1.29½ a pound, peak price for any futures contract in the 10 year history of the New York Wool Top exchange. May finished at $1.24, and the cash market remained at a nominal $1.28½.

Copper Rises; Lead Eases.

In a steady market, copper was unchanged to 0.03 cent a pound ahead at 11.70 cents in May and lead eased 0.01 to 0.04 cent to 5.64 cents bid in that position. Zinc futures were unchanged.

It was announced in Washington yesterday that the army again had raised its estimated needs for cartridge brass, which, traders said, further complicates the already "tight" zinc market.

FLAY INSURANCE 'MONOPOLY' HELD BY 'BIG BUSINESS'

Demand Funds to Finance New Enterprises.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special]. —Funds of life insurance companies "are available only for big business," a 447 page report to the Temporary National Economic [monopoly] committee said today. The report, containing much criticism of insurance practices, hinted that some sort of compulsion may be provided unless the huge sums at the disposal of the companies are made available "for the stimulation of new enterprises."

The report was prepared by Gerhard A. Gesell and Ernest J. Howe, staff members of the Securities and Exchange commission, and was made public by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the monopoly committee.

O'Mahoney and Sumner T. Pike, SEC member of the committee, said the report represented the views of the authors only and was not to be considered an expression of either the committee or the SEC.

Submit Recommendation Friday.

Pike said recommendations dealing with insurance would be submitted to the committee Friday on behalf of himself and Gesell.

O'Mahoney told reporters he did not "think this is the time" for any kind of regulation of life insurance companies by the federal government. Company spokesmen have charged a New Deal "plot" to seize control of insurance and take regulation away from the state governments.

"Unless the life insurance companies can find methods by which the funds flowing under their control will become available as equity for the stimulation of new enterprises and accessible to the small and medium-size businessmen," the authors of the report said, "consideration will have to be given to the extent to which the companies may longer monopolize the flow of savings of the people."

Because of interlocking directorships, the report asserted, "it may be said that a single group of directors has a substantial voice in determining the policies of the two most powerful financial enterprises in this country—insurance and banking."

Companies Answer Charges.

Insurance company spokesmen contended that unwarranted generalizations were made from "the most meager amount of trifling testimony."

A statement by 151 insurance companies offered to the committee last August made these points on some of the criticisms raised in the report:

"Directors must conduct the affairs of their companies in accordance with state insurance laws and the rulings of the insurance commissioners.

"Continuity of management has not resulted in irresponsibility, neglect or wrongdoing, but has been so efficient as to bring about a steadily increasing public confidence. It is erroneous to deprecate this policy of continuity in management by terming it 'self-perpeuation.'

"The record of the hearing contains no proof and no suggestion that any laws have been violated by any life insurance director or that any tendency toward monopoly has resulted when a director has served on more than one board."

BREWSTER AERO LETS ORDER TO HAYES FOR 5 MILLIONS IN PARTS

Rensselaer W. Clark.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Brewster Aeronautical corporation has awarded to Hayes Manufacturing company, Grand Rapids, Mich., an order for manufacture of outer wings and parts costing $5,000,000. The wings will be used on Brewster's model 340 bomber.

Conclusion of the contract was announced today coincidental with completion of financing arrangements by Hayes involving the sale of 200,000 shares of common stock and the election of Rensselaer W. Clark as president and director.

Brewster made a first payment of $1,338,480 on account, and the Hayes company received $450,000 for the stock.

WHEAT FUTURES RALLY AFTER AN EARLY DECLINE

Buying attributed to mills absorbed offerings of wheat futures in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade and when shorts attempted to cover later on strength in securities they found little for sale. Prices advanced 1¼ cents a bushel from the early low to about the highest level reached in Monday's upturn, but profit taking trimmed closing gains to ⅜ to ⅞ cent.

Corn closed ¼ to ⅜ cent lower as the result of hedging pressure. Farmers sold 212,000 bushels of cash corn for deferred shipment to Chicago, the largest single day's business since early in January. Oats finished ¼ to ⅝ cent lower. Soy beans rallied 2 cents from the early low and closed ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel higher.

Record low prices for corn were reported in Argentina. Broomhall, an English authority, said that the Argentine government was offering corn for domestic consumption as low as three cents a bushel in an effort to dispose of part of its holdings estimated to be in excess of 200,000,000 bushels. The grain cost the government about 36 cents a bushel.

TERM DOMESTIC DEPOSITS OF TIN UNIMPORTANT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The bureau of mines said today that domestic deposits of tin would be only "an inconsequential factor in supplying the essential requirements" of this country.

Reporting the results of an extensive sampling of two of the larger known deposits, the bureau said that only the discovery of new domestic supplies and the development of substitutes "can obviate the need for the stockpiling program" by which this country is endeavoring to amass huge tin reserves.

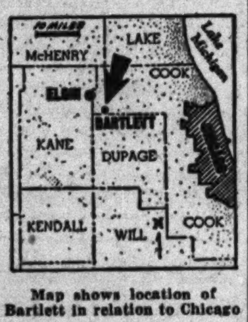
BARTLETT TURNS FROM FARMING TO OIL DREAMS

Awaits "Million to One" Chance of Riches.



Map shows location of Bartlett in relation to Chicago

The villagers of Bartlett didn't give their usual attention to business and farming yesterday. Many gathered on street corners and talked excitedly of dreams of riches. Cooler heads warned tho, that the odds are against such fulfilment.

Oil is the magic word which has stirred the consciousness of the 700 population in the small village, 7 miles southeast of Elgin. A syndicate has been formed, has leased 5,000 acres, and plans to begin drilling about March 15.

"They've taken an option on 120 acres of mine," said Alfred W. Sodman, mayor of Bartlett. "Maybe I'll be rich. Anyway I've got nothing to lose."

Chances Called Small.

An official of a Chicago oil company said the possibility of finding oil was "one chance in a million." He said the geological formation in the area is unlike that in other parts of Illinois where oil has been discovered.

Edward Mitchell of 39 South La Salle street, an oil man, said that the first indication there might be oil in the Bartlett area came in 1936 when a water well was dug at St. Charles, 8 miles northeast. There were traces of oil at a 935 foot depth, he said.

"Rainbows" in creeks and waterholes nearby may also be caused by oil and another indication is seen in seepages of gas which have killed vegetation in some places, Mitchell said.

Village Land Leased.

The village has leased to the syndicate 5 acres of its own property south of the business section, and it is there the drilling will begin.

Members of the syndicate, besides Mitchell, are John A. Iten and Walter A. Roung, St. Charles oil men; Stephen F. Clark, oil contractor of Zion, and A. D. Lloyd, Texas geologist. The syndicate, known as the I. C. R. [after the last name initials of three of its members], has headquarters at 1042 North 5th avenue, St. Charles.

LIBERALIZE ARMY RULES IN MAKING MEAT PURCHASES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, defense purchases director, said today that the army had agreed with leaders in the livestock industry on an extension of weight ranges and a liberalization of the grades of meat which can be bought for soldiers' rations.

Lambs up to 60 pounds may be purchased until April 30. The previous limit was 45 pounds. Beef weights have been lowered to 450 pounds and consideration will be given a cut to 400 pounds.

Nelson said that the army will buy spiced ham in 12 ounce cans. Heifer meat will be included in boneless frozen beef which will be used in large quantities in maneuvers. The army will buy large quantities of reserve rations in cans, each of which includes about 6 ounces of domestic meat.

Investors' Guide

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—11.

When you have determined what your net income was in 1940, you are ready to start the actual computation of your income tax. Net income has been defined in preceding articles as income remaining after making deductions permitted by law. Gross income includes all income from any source, except that specifically exempt from tax.

The internal revenue code allows you to subtract certain credits from your net income before computing your income tax. These credits are:

1. An allowance for personal exemption.
2. Credit for any dependents.
3. Earned income credit and other miscellaneous credits.

Personal Exemption.

Personal exemption credit is allowed as follows:

$800 if during the entire year 1940 you were single, or, if married, not living with your wife [or husband].

$2,000 for a married couple, or for the head of a family. You are the head of a family if you actually provided guidance and chief support in one household to one or more persons, related to you thru blood or marriage, to whom you have a moral or legal obligation.

If the husband and wife file separate returns, each may take one-half, or make some other division, of the $2,000 exemption.

Married couples may elect to file a joint return or separate returns. To decide whether to combine or separate returns, figure the tax by both methods and follow the one which results in the lower total tax.

If your status changed during the year, your personal exemption and credit for dependents are prorated according to the number of months in which the different credits were applicable.

Dependents.

You are allowed to deduct from net income $400 for each dependent [other than husband or wife] who actually received in 1940 more than one-half of his support from you, whether or not he lived with you or is related to you. A dependent is a child under 18 years of age, or any person who cannot support himself because of infirmity, poor health, or mental defects.

In computing your normal income tax you are allowed a credit of 10 per cent of your "earned net income" but this credit must not exceed an amount equal to 10 per cent of your entire net income. Your earned net income is defined as income derived from personal efforts rather than from investments. For income tax purposes, all net income up to $3,000 is considered earned. The maximum amount which may be considered earned income is $14,000.

All income [such as that received from United States bonds or from share accounts in federal savings and loan associations] which is subject only to surtax but not to normal tax should be deducted under item 25 of your individual income tax return before you compute your normal tax.

RCA, CONTAINER CORP. REPORT LARGER PROFITS

in 1939, Frank S. Cunningham, chairman, announced.

Net sales rose to $80,887,181, a gain of 2.6 per cent over the 1939 volume of $78,832,199. Cunningham reported that both wholesale and retail divisions showed increased volume over 1939, with the retail gains being substantially the larger.

"During the first half of 1940 the general level of merchandise prices was down slightly as compared with the same period of the previous year," he said. "Since July 1 the tendency has been moderately upward, and in our judgment will continue to move in this direction for some time."

Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container corporation, with main offices in Chicago, reported that net income and sales during 1940 were the largest in the company's history. Consolidated net income for the year was $2,227,682, or $2.85 a share of capital stock, compared with $1,448,900, or $1.85 a share, in the preceding year.

Taxes Four Times '39 Total.

Net sales of this producer of paper and paperboard products amounted to $30,464,677, an increase in dollar value of 26 per cent over the 1939 volume of $24,114,815. The gain in unit volume was 9 per cent, the company's annual report showed.

The company's federal tax bill, the report showed, was four times the 1939 total. Its 1940 provision for federal income and excess profits totaled $1,187,000. Of this amount, $414,000 was set aside for excess profits taxes. Federal income taxes in 1939 amounted to $293,043, while the 1938 bill was only $34,200.

Paepcke announced that stockholders at their annual meeting will be asked to vote on the authorization of a five million dollar preferred stock issue, the proceeds of which will go for retiring the $3,950,000 balance of a $5,000,000 bank loan obtained last March and for additional working capital. Stockholders also will vote on the adoption of a retirement annuity plan for all employés.

Regulator's Profit Larger.

The Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company, maker of temperature control equipment and heating systems, realized 1940 net income of $2,528,602, or $3.87 a share, excluding European subsidiaries, compared with $2,158,582, or $3.27 a share, including foreign subsidiaries, in the preceding year.

The Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company, with general offices in East Chicago, Ind., reported 1940 net income of $812,454, or $1.79 a share, compared with $301,269, or 29 cents a share in the previous year.

ALL TIME JANUARY HIGH

in both city and suburban and total net paid daily circulation

Last month was the eighth consecutive January to record gains in Chicago Tribune net paid total daily circulation and in net paid city and suburban daily circulation.

The newspaper that grows does so because readers place confidence in it and in its ability to print the facts in which they are vitally interested. Increasingly, year after year, new readers turn to the Tribune for the news. When they read the Tribune they know they get the facts—forthright accounts gathered by trained reporters who write from the American viewpoint.

Because of the fundamental right of its public to get the truth, news is the Tribune's most important commodity. Neither expense nor effort are spared to get it in order to fulfill the responsibility to readers. And regardless of the pressures of those who would suppress or change the facts the Tribune prints them.

To get the news—accurate, complete, timely—read the Chicago Tribune.

STEELMAKERS TO BE SOLD OUT THRU YEAR SOON

Iron Age Says Many Take Fourth Quarter Orders.

Steel mills may have their entire 1941 output sold before May 1 if orders continue to be placed at current rates, Iron Age said yesterday.

The trade publication reported that the necessity of making quick deliveries for military projects has had "the inevitable result" of broken delivery promises to regular customers.

"On most products books are almost completely filled for the second quarter and there have been large bookings for the third and some for the fourth quarter," the magazine observed.

Divided as to Priorities.

Iron Age said "some steel people would welcome mandatory priorities as a way out of their difficulties." Others, it said, are equally opposed.

"Steel plants in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, and Buffalo areas are now facing a possible scrap shortage," Iron Age said. "Supplies are not coming out as freely as needed. Some small dealers are said to be more attracted by profit possibilities in nonferrous metal scrap and are neglecting iron and steel scrap."

The publication reported that in Canada the government has taken complete control over scrap. It has fixed a price of $18 a ton at Hamilton, Ont., and at Montreal, for No. 1 heavy melting steel, with differentials for other grades.

STRUCTURAL ORDERS UP.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Fabricated structural steel bookings in January were about 130 per cent higher than the average January bookings of the last 10 years, the American Institute of Steel Construction announced today.

Contracts closed in the first month of 1941 were estimated at 258,499 tons, compared with 81,689 tons in January, 1940. Shipments in the month amounted to 150,375 tons, against 110,919 tons a year ago.

President Gets Report.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—An analysis of the adequacy of the steel industry to meet armament needs was given to President Roosevelt today by Gano Dunn of the office for production management. Dunn said the President would disclose its contents at a press conference Friday.

LONG TERM U.S. LOANS LEAD RISE IN BOND MARKET

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The bond market strengthened today under leadership of United States government and foreign issues.

Most popular in the treasury list were the tax exempt long termers, such as the 2⅞s of '60-'55, the 2¾s of '65-'60, and the taxable new 7 to 9 year 2s which the treasury announced recently would replace the maturing 3⅜s. The distant maturities ended up on both the stock exchange and counter markets an average of ⅜ of a point. The new obligations gained about ¼.

Dealers said many holders of the matured 3⅜s passed up the opportunity of converting their bonds into the 2s, but instead took the cash and immediately put the proceeds into other long term tax exempt issues.

Principal takers of the new taxable 2s, dealers said, came from managers of pension funds, charitable funds, and others who do not have to pay income taxes.

The market for domestic corporate bonds was slightly more active than on Tuesday and the trend was higher in most groups.

COTTON

Trading in cotton early yesterday was [illegible] by heavy buying which brokers attributed to mills, but a small upturn brought [illegible] selling sales and the gain was lost. Closing sales in New York were .03 cent [illegible] to .01 cent a pound higher. New Orleans was .04 to .09 cent higher than Tuesday's finish.

The Brazilian government is reported to have established a basic loan on the 1941 crop equal to 6.6 cents a pound, while Argentina has authorized loans to [illegible] on this year's crop ranging from 4.05 to 10.13 cents a pound. The latter are due Aug. 31, but are subject to [illegible].

Cash cotton closed .06 cent lower to .07 cent higher, with New York, 10.91 cents; New Orleans, 10.46 cents; Houston, 10.18 cents, and Galveston at 10.14 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Cattle prices were depressed yesterday despite receipts of only 7,000 head, the second smallest Wednesday supply since last July. Steers and yearlings sold at the lowest prices in about six months. Heifers were weak to lower. Little change occurred in the trade for beef cows, canners, and cutters. Smaller hog receipts, colder weather, and steadier wholesale pork markets bolstered prices. Both the top and the average were up 5 cents to $8.05 and $7.65.
